A BOY named J. H. Harrison, while riding along the street after dark, was thrown from his horse, the animal running away. Harrison applied at the City Hall to-day for his lost property, but nothing had been heard of it there.

THE charming little initiative, "Flush, little baby don't you cry," which was sung in the Salt Lake Theatre, lately, and which has since grown quite popular in this city, can be found at Daines & Co.'s, in sheet form, price 40 cts.

IN the base ball game yesterday afternoon, between the Bakers and the Park City nine, the former won by a score of 11 to 5. The second game comes off to-day, and the third and last to-morrow afternoon at Washington Square.

A MAN named HAZITT, of Davis County, was lodged in the city jail last evening, for safe keeping for Sheriff Kim. The prisoner is serving out a term of 24 months upon him for disturbing the peace. He says he only played at "tip-tap," on a wild-o, but another account charges him with having attempted to break into the house of an aged lady.

THERE were between six and seven hundred people at the Lake yesterday with the Sixth Ward Silver Band. Everything passed off pleasantly, until 6 p. m., when a sharp thunder storm and a lack of shelter caused some inconvenience. The company sought the train for protection, and the cars were literally jammed. The party returned without accident.

LAST evening a district telegraph message boy brought a horse, saddled and bridled, to the City Hall, having found the animal loose on the street. Some time afterward a man presented himself at the hall door and inquired if a horse had been found, but he was so profane and abusive in his language, as well as being drunk, that the officers took him in charge and locked him in jail for the night. This morning he explained that he was a shepherd, and had been overcome with the exuberance of his delight at being near human dwellings for the first time for several months. He was allowed to proceed to his destination, Pleasant Grove, this morning.

LOCAL NEWS.

THE Bow of Promise.—A grand view was presented in the eastern horizon last evening when the sun, which was almost ready to disappear from view in the west, peered through the clouds, producing two of the most magnificent rainbows ever witnessed.

SERIOUS INJURIES.—Ex-Mayor Ferrar Little arrived from Soda Springs last evening, and was attended by Dr. Anderson. On Monday last, while Mr. Little was out riding near Soda Springs, his horse stepped in a copper hole, and he was thrown to the ground and seriously injured. There is a severe contusion on his shoulder, the ligaments being ruptured, beside other bruises on his body.

BODY FOUND.—Yesterday afternoon the body of Joseph Weatherland, who was drowned in Jordan River on Sunday last, was found near Pettit's. Though very badly putrid, it was recognizable, and was given in charge of the sexton until this morning, when it was taken to the home of the unfortunate man's parents, at Santaquin, Utah County, by the Utah Central train.

WANTS A School.—Brother A. C. Smyth, the well known school teacher and musician, who has been living for some time in Sanpete County, purpose coming back to this city or vicinity to reside. He desires to get a situation as school teacher, in which capacity he has had a lengthy experience and has proved himself very efficient. He can be addressed at Fountain Green, Sanpete County.

NORMAL STUDENTS.—The county board of examiners for normal students to the Deseret University, consisting of Wm. M. Stewart, J. B. Torrence and C. F. Wilcox, held their examination yesterday morning, upon which occasion twenty-five persons made application for admission. Seven of the most proficient of these were accepted, that being the number of normal students which Salt Lake County is allowed. Following are the names of the favored ones: Richard A. Shild, John A. Walker, Jesse B. Higgs, Marjorie Alston, Lucy Van Cott, John Wm. Smith and Alice S. Merrill.

HOME FROM THE SOUTH.

ELDERS WHO WERE IMPRISONED IN TENNESSEE RETURNED.

THEIR EXPERIENCE IN AN IRON CAGE.

Elders Wm. F. Garner, of North Ogden, and C. F. Christensen, of Kaysville, arrived in this city last evening per the D. & R. G. W., from the Southern States Mission, and this morning paid us a visit. It will be remembered that these are the brethren who were lately imprisoned in Tennessee for preaching the Gospel, and there is, as a consequence, more than the usual interest connected with their experience.

Elder Garner left his home on the 4th of September, 1888, and for the first six months after arriving in the South labored with but little success in Burke and McDowell counties, N. C.

After that he joined Elder Christensen in Mitchell Co., and since then they have labored in company.

Elder Christensen left here May 15, 1893, and spent the first year of his stay in the South in McDowell and Mitchell Counties, N. C.—a field that had been pretty thoroughly worked over by previous Elders, and where he apparently made but poor headway.

After being joined by Elder Garner they branched out into a new part of Mitchell County and also into Carter County, Tenn., where the Elders had not before preached, and where they soon met with considerable encouragement.

Indeed, during their stay in that part they baptized 30 persons, blessed about 25 children, and organized a branch, with one Teacher and one Deacon as officers in it.

It was while engaged in this part, on the 13th of last April, that they were arrested, after having retired for the night, about 11:30 p. m., and taken by the constable and his posse a distance of five miles to Roan Mountain Depot, where they were allowed to remain the balance of the night at the constable's house.

The following day State Senators John W. Simmerly, who had sworn out the complaint upon which they were arrested (charging them with having preached polygamy) and held out inducements for people to migrate from that State to practice it, was telegraphed for and came there from Nashville, Tennessee, accompanied by a magistrate, J. J. Ansell. Mr. Simmerly was bent upon prosecuting the brethren before the magistrate immediately, but inasmuch as the charge was a complete surprise to them, they and the other Elders in the State having never heard of the existence of such a law as that under which the charge was preferred, and as they had been allowed no opportunity to employ counsel or ask legal advice, they protested against being arraigned. Mr. Simmerly then demanded that they be taken forthwith to Elizabethton, the county seat, and there confined in jail, and when the constable demurred and offered to be responsible for the safe keeping of the Elders, declared that they should go there if he had to take them himself.

They were accordingly taken to Elizabethton and there thrust into an iron cage in the county jail, which was only ten feet square and scarcely high enough to admit of their standing erect, and the door was closed upon them for six days and six nights, having for their companion a man who was imprisoned for murder, and who was almost rotten with a foul disease, and another reckless character who had been arrested for carrying a concealed weapon and been unable to procure bondsmen.

The stretch of the place, which was really too disgusting to describe, and the profanity and offensive manners of their fellow prisoners were almost unbearable, but the Elders made the best of the circumstances in which they were placed, and in a short time had so reformed their vile companions that they had thrown away the cards with which they had spoiled their time in gambling, ceased their swearing and were ready to kneel with them in prayer, anxious to have them as a blessing on the food provided for them, and disposed to spend their time in reading the Bible.

While confined in this place the Elders were visited by Mr. Simmerly, their prosecutor, who tried to draw them out in conversation, evidently for the purpose of entrapping them, and also by some of their fellow missionaries, who did all they could to procure bondsmen for them. There were plenty of persons who were willing to furnish security for their appearance, but they were rejected because they did not each separately possess the requisite amount of property, in excess of what the law demanded, to cover the bond.

Finally Col. Thornburg, a wealthy lawyer, was accepted as security for their appearance when wanted and they were released from prison.

The Court convened on the 13th of last month, and the charges against them were considered. Mr. Simmerly and several others appearing as witnesses against them before the grand jury. The charge against Elder Garner was ignored but Elder Christensen, owing it is supposed to the testimony of Mr. Simmerly, was indicted, and is to appear for trial at Elizabethton on the 9th of next November. Col. Green, an influential man of Hawkins Co., Tenn., being his surety.

There is little doubt but the prosecutions against them have been instigated by religious ministers in the region of Roan Mountain, whose jealousy and hatred were aroused by the success of the Elders. The Campbellite ministers of that part were formerly bigoted and intolerant, and one of them followed the Elders around from place to place and denounced and vilified them and their doctrines at their own meetings and challenged them over and over again to debate with him. To satisfy the clamor, the Elders finally met the Campbellites in public discussion twice and silenced all their arguments by scriptural quotations. The Missionary Baptists and Methodists of the vicinity were far more tolerant, and some of them treated the Elders with kindness.

Among the friends whom the Elders made at Roan Mountain was the father of Senator Simmerly, who himself resided eighteen miles distant at Elizabethton, and they were frequently entertained at his home. Their persecutor probably expected to visit his place upon them, gratify the sectarian preachers and at the same time enhance his popularity by the course he took, but the result is not likely to prove to his satisfaction, for his popularity is fast waning and it is doubtful whether his constituents will return him to the Legislature when the time for election comes.

The prosecution has already had the effect of adding to the ranks of the Saints and making friends for the Elders; indeed, most of the baptisms that have occurred since the Elders have taken place since the imprisonment of the Elders, and there is a splendid prospect there now for a good work being done.

Elder Christensen's father died last August, and this, added to the fact that he had already been absent 27 months, rendered it advisable for him to return under full sail, when he will again go to the South to stand his trial on the peculiar charge. He is a fine, intelligent young man—apparently more than a boy when
