

O. S. L. EMPLOYEES GET PENSIONS.

Three Old Timers Placed on the Retired List with a Monthly Stipend.

AT THE MEETING YESTERDAY.

Franklin W. Coolidge, an Engineer With 31½ Years to his Credit, Was One of Them.

There was an interesting meeting held yesterday afternoon in the office of the general manager of the Oregon Short Line, when the pension committee took up the matter of retiring three employees from the service of the company, two on account of the fact that they were 70 years of age and the other because he was physically unfit for duty.

The three men who are retired and will be pensioners of the company for the remainder of their lives were William Taylor, machinist, and Fred Miller, laborer, both of Salt Lake, and Franklin W. Coolidge, an engineer, of the Wood River branch.

Mr. Coolidge, who is now incapacitated from further active work, has been in the employ of the system for 31½ years, while Taylor and Miller have respectively been 25-1½ and 23-1½ years of continuous service.

The pension system which recently went into effect on the Oregon Short Line is proving to be very popular among the men. It works both ways, for the company has made a good investment inasmuch as the pensioned men, with the road and the loyalty to their employers. The men on the other hand have the prospect that providing they do good work they will ultimately be able to keep the road for the rest of their old age when they get too old for active service. Instead of being cut off they can get their time as a younger man is needed for the place they can spend their declining years without the haunting fear of being reduced to dire want.

RIO GRANDE LAYS TRACKS.

Gang of Greeks Worked All Night And Today in Ogden.

The Rio Grande Western was working over 100 Greeks all night and this morning in Ogden putting in tracks along Twenty-third street, following the franchise granted by the city council to build a double line of tracks to the new freight depot site.

From Twenty-third the gang went over to Twenty-second and later to Twenty-first streets where they put in the double tracks leaving the gaps through the blocks in line uncompleted. This property was recently purchased by the railroad company and the residences are to be torn down to make room for the tracks of the company.

This dark-lantern act is believed to have been done with the object in view of stealing a march on the streetcar company which proposes to lay tracks on the streets named within a few days. Now that the Rio Grande is first on the ground it will be the province of the streetcar company to pay for the maintenance of the streets year by year, such being the custom when a new proposition is made to cross the tracks of another corporation.

O. B. Wilson, the local representative of the company, stated this morning that the reason the big gang of men was working all night was that the Rio Grande was anxious to get its tracks down as early as possible so that work could be started at once on the new up-town freight depot which has been passed upon by the executive board.

Rio Grande No. 1 Brought in a Special Carload of Tourists from Waterloo, Iowa, Today.

General Agent Harding of the Colorado Midland returned this afternoon from a trip to Denver.

All trains are delayed on account of the snowstorm, which seems to have been practically universal throughout the west.

Addison T. Lewis, chief clerk of the general passenger department of the Burlington at Omaha, is numbered among the visitors here.

J. L. Moore, district freight and passenger agent of the Salt Lake Route, is recovering from his recent indisposition and is expected to return from Long Beach, Calif., in a few days.

The Union Pacific is to install telephones from one end of the train to the other on all through trains. This move is to facilitate communication between conductors and engineers.

Despite the denials to the "News" by Vice President of the Salt Lake of the Salt Lake Route a few days ago the story is again going the rounds to the effect that there is to be an oriental steamship line run from San Pedro harbor to Japan and the Philippines.

CONSIDERED TO EARTH.

Impressive Funeral Services Over Remains of Miss Bebbie Morris.

Touchingly beautiful and impressive were the last sad rites performed over the mortal remains of Miss Bebbie Morris yesterday afternoon. The services were held in the Righteous ward chapel and were presided over by Bishop Platt of the Thirteenth ward. Religion has there been so large and sincere an outpouring of sympathy at the obsequies of a young person in this city.

The chapel was crowded by relatives and acquaintances of Miss Morris and wife and of the deceased herself who were extended as few of her years are reckoned. The service of consolation and commendation that fell from the lips of the speakers were eloquent tributes to her character and worth, and so were the floral offerings that hid the great white casket in which rested the body of the young girl. The floral tributes were numbers from the city council and various departments of the municipal government and from teachers and friends from far and near as an indication of the love and respect in which she was held.

As the mourners entered the chapel Prof. McClellan played most impressively a funeral march which was continued until the commencement of the services. The opening and closing vocal selections were fittingly rendered by the Pyperettes. The choir sang "Gloria" and Mrs. Emma Ramsey Morris gave an artistic and sympathetic interpretation of "O Love Divine." Mr. McClellan acted as accompanist.

The opening prayer was offered by Bishop Romney of the Twentieth ward and the benediction was pronounced by Elder Henry F. Richards. The speakers were Elder Rulon S. Wells, an old family friend, President R. W. Young of the English stake, Principal Coombs of the Lafayette school of which Miss Morris was a student, and Elder John Henry Smith, who spoke in earnest and eloquent terms of the life and character of her grandfather, Bishop R. V. Morris, whom he designated as a man not very large in stature, but a giant in intellect and one under whom he labored as a young missionary in the old world. His estimate of the character of Bishop Morris was the highest and after expressing it the speaker asked the blessings of the Lord upon the bereaved family and comforted them with the assurance that some day they would again meet and behold the departed one.

After the benediction was pronounced Walter Poulton played with much earnestness a funeral selection as the procession moved out of the house. A long cortege followed the remains to their last resting place in the city cemetery, where the quartet rendered another beautiful service, the body was being lowered into the grave, which was dedicated by Elder James H. Moyle.

AFFIRMATIVES WIN.

Ute Society Debates the Question of Municipal Ownership.

The "Ute" debating society made its first public appearance last evening, in the Forest Lake amusement hall. The question debated was: "Resolved, that municipalities should own and control street railways and light and power." The affirmative was David H. Gustafson, Geo. M. Cannon, Jr., and David H. Beardshall. The negative side was defended by Nathaniel S. Olson, Chas. H. Norberg and Willard Ashton.

Everyone present appreciated the life of the arguments and the spirit manifested by both sides. The judges rendered a decision by a vote of two to one in favor of the affirmative.

The debate was preceded by two musical numbers, a quartet by Messrs. Pratt, Summerhays, Young and Reed, and a piano solo by Miss Marion Cannon.

AN IDEAL THANKSGIVING.

There is a very large area of high barometer covering the west between the Ninety-fifth and one hundred and fifty meridians, but with a low pressure approaching from the northwest, and snow is looked for tonight. The weather today is cloudy and threatening, so that tomorrow promises to be a typically snowy and cold Thanksgiving, such as people read about in the eastern story papers.

AMUSEMENTS.

At the Theater tomorrow afternoon "The College Widow" will form the bill and the expectation is that the house will be sold out in advance.

"On the Bridge at Midnight" opens for a Thanksgiving matinee tomorrow afternoon at the Grand.

An extra Thanksgiving matinee will be given by the Tiger Lilies at the Lyric tomorrow afternoon, in addition to the regular matinee today.

The famous Killies Band, which has already scored so pleasant an impression, opens at the Salt Palace tomorrow afternoon.

Beauty Lecturer Will be Assisted by Beautiful Woman 52 Years Old.

Prof. Christian, of Paris, France, will give two beauty culture and facial biometric lectures at the Salt Lake theater Monday afternoon, Dec. 4, at 2:30 o'clock. It is free, and is open to all. Prof. Christian, who has lectured before the nobility of Europe and has been presented with medals for his skill in the art of beautifying women, is the beauty specialist of Misses Sarah Bernhardt, Patti, La Tour, Calve and Langtry. He is assisted by Mme. L. M. May, fifty-two years old, and said to be marvellously beautiful. This lecture should prove a rare treat to Salt Lake City ladies.

THANKSGIVING DANCE.

Tomorrow night the Pioneer stake hall will be the scene of an enjoyable dancing party, given under the auspices of the stake Sunday schools. ## TRIBUNE CASE BEFORE A JURY.

Alleged Libelous Articles Admitted in Full at Beginning of Hearing.

SOME OF THEIR CONTENTS.

Judge Tanner Reviews the Allegations in Opening Statement to the Jury.

The jury was secured in the libel suit of W. R. Jones, Jr., against the Salt Lake Tribune et al in Judge Ritten's court yesterday afternoon and the taking of testimony was commenced. The entire session was taken up this morning in arguments of counsel in regard to the admissibility in evidence at this time all of the alleged libelous articles published by defendants concerning plaintiff. Yesterday afternoon Judge Frick, one of plaintiff's attorneys, read excerpts from the articles complained of and Judge Powers, for the defense, asked that all of said articles be read and introduced in evidence at that time. Judge Frick contended that it was not proper to introduce all of the articles at this time and today he argued the point extensively and cited numerous authorities in support of his contention. Judge Powers replied and also cited the law in support of defendants' contention. The court sustained Judge Powers' contention and admitted the articles in full.

Following are the jurors who were accepted and sworn in to try the case: James R. Asher, A. Greenwald, F. J. May, H. W. Walker, George S. Smith, Herbert Geddes, Richard W. Ballard and Thomas W. Partridge.

After the jury had been sworn yesterday afternoon Judge Tanner made a brief opening statement to the jury in regard to the allegations of the complaint. He stated that the Tribune had published certain articles concerning plaintiff which were libelous and greatly damaged his character and reputation. Among the articles published were charges that Mr. Jones, while superintendent of the county infirmary, had committed perjury and embezzlement, and had fed the inmates of the infirmary rotten mutton and had unlawfully sold produce from the county farm and failed to account for the same. At the time of these publications, the attorney stated that the Tribune was named as the publisher of the articles and that the Tribune and Frank L. Seft were a reporter and wrote the articles complained of.

Mr. Lippman was the first witness called by the plaintiff. He admitted that he was manager of the Tribune at the time the articles were published. Mr. Jones was then called and testified that he was the person to whom the articles referred.

Judge Frick then read portions of the articles and offered the reading to Judge Powers asked that the articles be read in full and then the point of their admissibility at this time was raised by Judge Frick.

IN HOLIDAY ATTIRE.

Local Markets Put on Pleasing Appearance for Thanksgiving.

The local markets have been handsomely decorated and fixed up for Thanksgiving, and the gastronomic attractions are numerous and unique. The usual sucking piglets are arranged in "series columns," with the same old orthodox, monotonous "Good Pleasure" porcine smile; countless turkeys "fat as lard" hang in post mortem expectancy from as many hooks, and are soiled by the same old, unattractive—until late tonight, when "like as not" some "unscrupulous dealer" will start in to "cutting rates," and then the financial goose will not count as much of a figure as they do about Christmas time, but they are made attractive just the same, and good fat steaks make a most water-gate display of fruits, nuts, candies, figs, dates, etc., are well made, with a view to ready and profitable sale, and the dealers are flitting about the markets, ready to make Thanksgiving a very busy place.

WARD ENTERTAINMENTS

FIFTH WARD—Tomorrow night the people of the Fifth ward will gather in the ward assembly rooms and hold a reunion in honor of the twenty-first anniversary of the reorganization of the ward. A splendid program has been arranged after which dancing will be engaged in. All residents of the ward, with those who formerly resided in that locality, are cordially invited to join in the festivities.

CANNON WARD—The Young Ladies Mutual Improvement association of Cannon ward will give a Puritan ball in the ward assembly room on Friday night next. A general invitation is extended and all attending are expected to come in Puritan costume. Dancing begins at 8 o'clock.

KEETHELER CASE ABOUT CONCLUDED

Evidence all in and Matter Will Be Submitted to the Jury This Afternoon.

DOCTOR DESCRIBES WOUNDS.

Another Bullet Found in Room Where Shooting Occurred—Defendant's Testimony.

The principal witness in the Albert Keetheeler murder trial in Judge Armstrong's court today was the wife of the defendant, Mrs. Eliza Keetheeler. She told of the fight between Keetheeler and Duval on the night of Oct. 2, the date of the murder, and said that it was so dark in the room that she could not tell for some time that it was Duval fighting with her husband. She attempted to hold him while they were struggling. The cause of Duval coming into the room was that her husband shoved her back on the bed after she had slapped his face and she screamed. The screams attracted Duval's attention and he came to her assistance. She stated that she had an injured arm and that the slightest touch on it would make her scream.

DESCRIBES THE WOUNDS. Dr. Miles C. Varian was the next witness for the defense and testified to the wounds of Duval. He said that he examined the defendant in the county jail after the shooting and found a bruise on the left forearm, a wound on the right thigh and another on his hip, indicating that he received considerable punishment at the hands of Duval.

The state re-opened its case this morning and called John Burckovich to the stand and he testified that another bullet hole had been found in the room where the shooting occurred. The position of the hole indicated that the shot was fired by a person near the floor.

KEETHELER'S TESTIMONY.

Keetheeler was on the witness stand in his own behalf yesterday afternoon and told of the fight which resulted in Duval's death. He said that he was called by Duval to his room and entered his bed room and asked him by the neck and commenced pounding him in the face. On account of it being dark he did not know for some time that his assailant was Duval. He said that Duval threw him upon the floor and choked him with his right hand and pounded him in the face with his left. As he slipped from the bed he grabbed his revolver which was under the pillow. Duval then commenced shutting off defendant's wind and the latter fired a shot between Duval's legs. Keetheeler then thought he was going to be choked to death and then fired again. Duval then reeled and fell head first into the room. Keetheeler said that he did not know he had killed Duval until after he arrived at the police station and saw the body of Duval there. His story of surrendering to the officer is the same as that of Officer Burton.

EVIDENCE ALL IN.

The evidence was concluded when court adjourned for the noon recess and arguments will be heard this afternoon and the case submitted to the jury.

SENSATIONAL CHARGE IN ALLEGED INSANITY CASE.

It appears from the testimony at the insanity hearing of William S. Driscoll before Judge Armstrong this afternoon that Mrs. Driscoll used every possible effort at her command to have him arrested for petit larceny, drunkenness or some other offense and, finally, on the last day of last year, Driscoll's wife and a companion, who was probably one good result of her action.

It was very apparent to County Registrar and clerk and his assistant, Dr. Ostermann and also to the court, however, that the man had simply been on a drunk so he was discharged from custody and will not have to go to Provo.

After the hearing Driscoll and his wife had quite an argument in the court room during which Mrs. Driscoll said that her husband had told her that if he ever got drunk again she could have him arrested for insanity and send him to Provo and she apparently took him at his word. He did not deny that he had jokingly given his wife that privilege. It was then that Mrs. Driscoll said that she tried to have him arrested for petit larceny or drunkenness and failing in that swore to the complaint charging him with insanity.

Driscoll said that he had been on a drunk and that he had been in that condition so had stayed away. He stated that he was perfectly sober and had started home when arrested. He has fully recovered and said that he was willing to forgive his wife and would go home with her and try to quit drinking. They left the court room together and it is presumed will again dwell in peace and harmony.

BOSTWICK DIVORCE CASE.

Dora R. Bostwick filed suit for divorce in the district court today against Robert L. Bostwick on the grounds of desertion and non-support.
