

right hand; I went out and saw an engine and a passenger car on the main track; the timekeeper told me to go into the car and register; I went in and saw a car nearly full of men standing in a line, going in one door and out of the other; I fell in line with the rest; there was a man dealing out cigars and whisky to every man present who desired it; the man gave me a cigar and I did not pay for it, nor did I see anyone else pay for cigars or liquor to him; there were two men in the car who, I understood, were registering; one of these asked me if I was a citizen of the United States; he asked me where I was born, and I told him at Fort Madison, Iowa; he did not ask me how long I had been in the Territory; the first question he asked me was, where do you make your home in Salt Lake City? I told him that as a general thing I stayed at the White House; he did not ask me if I had lived in any precinct of Salt Lake City for one month; he did not ask me to take any oath, nor did he read any to me, but he did ask me to sign my name to a paper he had there, but of which paper I do not know the contents; I saw other men signing their names there at the same time; the man who asked me the above questions was of slight build, not very tall, with a dark mustache; I heard one man named Mike Petersen, and other men whose surnames I do not remember, afterwards say they were registered to vote in Salt Lake City. I first came to Utah Territory in October, 1889, and I had never been in the Territory before, except once ten or eleven years ago as a passenger on a through train. It has been general talk along the line of the D. & R. G. W. that a registration car had been down the road and that a great many men were registered.

This also is a little more of the abundant evidence the People's committee have on hand:

TERRITORY OF UTAH,
County of Salt Lake. }

John McManus, being duly sworn says that about the middle of December I saw a car standing at P. V. Junction, on the D. & R. G. Western, and I was informed by a number of men that that was the registering car.

During the past few days hundreds of strangers have arrived in the city, and the place looks as though all the thugs, holdups, etc., that could be raked up within a thousand miles were being gathered in for "Liberal" purposes. Three holdups on February 1st, is a good record for the new influx, but they will find that they cannot have things all their own way.

The "challenging" farce before the registrars was up again Feb. 1. Before Registrar McCallum a good many of those called had been residents of the precinct all their lives, and the result was that the great majority of the challenges were denied. Two defaults were entered—James Currie, 48 w. Third South street, and Francis Brown, 116 e., Fifth South Street. One of those against whom default was entered on February 1—George Sears—appeared Feb. 3d, and stated that the newspapers gave him the first information of his having been challenged. That is another sample of the "service" made in these cases.

Before Registrar Winters the order of exercises was about the same as on former occasions, and Registrar Morris has made no improvement in his method of procedure.

The hearing of "challenges" will be continued February 4th, and on Wednesday the arguments on questions raised will be heard.

A question that has been frequently asked of late was repeated in the registrars' room February 3: "Who is this 'D. Webb,' anyway?" "Oh," was the reply, "he's an exportation from the east." The name appears on the "Liberal" committee documents as "D. Webb, Superintendent of Wards," whatever that may mean.

PRIESTHOOD MEETING.

The regular monthly meeting of the Priesthood of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion convened in the Assembly Hall at 11 a.m. to-day, Saturday, February 1st, 1890, President Angus M. Cannon presiding.

All the wards of the Stake responded to the roll call, excepting the Third Ward of the city, and East Mill Creek, South Jordan, Hunter and Pleasant Green. Thirteen quorums of Elders were properly represented, and twelve young men were recommended as being worthy to receive ordination to the Melchisedek Priesthood.

President Angus M. Cannon regretted to say that there were very many young and efficient brethren (those who would be a great help and support to their Bishops) who were still unordained to any office in the lesser Priesthood, notwithstanding the counsels and instructions given on this subject. Young men should be called and trained to work in the harness and not be left to roam the streets and hills idling their time away. The reason that some of them are not active workers in the Priesthood and able assistants in the cause of God is because of neglect in many instances on the part of those whose duty it is to look after this class. The Bishops have been asked time after time to bring these in and teach them what was required at their hands. We have neglected our duties in some particulars, and the Lord will hold us amenable for it. A resolution was passed by the High Council some time since to the effect that the Bishops of the Stake use great diligence in training the youth of Israel in the duties of the Lesser Priesthood; all that can be ordained to the Priesthood should be ordained, and in recommending such to receive the Melchisedek Priesthood evidence of their worthiness for this promotion should be fully considered. Gather the young in and teach them how they can obtain salvation and make themselves useful.

A question regarding the right of sisters presiding at the Primary Association was submitted.

President Cannon answered by saying that the sisters certainly had the right to preside at these meetings on all and every occasion, and that they should not be interfered with in this respect by any one of the brethren as long as they were doing good and teaching correct principles. He had never heard anything from them but this. He did not assume to preside at these meetings when he had visited them and did not think that other Elders had. He favored ward primary conferences being held, as this question was also asked, and remarked that the sisters should be encouraged in every good work.

Elder George Goddard stated that a petition was being signed preparatory to being sent to the Legislature asking them to suppress the sale of cigarettes, tobacco and cigars to minors or those under 18 years of age. The assembled Priesthood endorsed the move.

Dr. Edward Isaacson addressed the meeting and delivered some powerful remarks regarding the times of the Gentiles being nearly fulfilled and the going forth of the Gospel to his people, the Jews. He bore a strong testimony to the Gospel enjoyed by the Latter-day Saints and testified to the joy and peace that had come to him since he obeyed its truths.

Elder Samuel R. Bennion, President of Uintah Stake, spoke for a short time regarding the country that he lived in and the people over whom he had the honor to preside;
