GALVESTON, Tex., 14.—Our town is in a state of intense excitement at news just received from Sabine Pass. It is news of terrible loss of life and destruction of property in that place from high water. We have now no telegraphic communication from the Pass, the wires all being down, but an engine arrived here to-night over the East Texas Railway, that left there about 6 o'clock. wave was first noticed on this coast on Sunday morning attaining its maximum on Tuesday morning and was maintained at a high point by the impetus of the waters behind. The hurricane itself did not reach this coast at all, as scarcely a breath of wind was stirring when the tidal wave first touched the coast. When its maximum was reached on Tuesday, however, a fierce northwestern gale sprung up along the whole coast and at Sabine Pass the gale blew the waters out of Lake Sabine and drove them toward the Gulf, where the lake waters were met by the great swell caused by the hurricane. This resulted in driving the lake waters over isto the little town and submerging the country for ten miles around without a moment's notice. This account of the disaster is confirmed by our experience here with the same gale, and all information from Sabine also confirms the above theory. THE FIRST EDITION OF THE BOOK OF MORMON.

MA few days ago I received a letter from which I make the following ex-"In conversation with a gentleman, a short time ago, who had come out to the public park of this place (Dunfermine, Scotland.) to ask some questions on "Mormonsm," he brought up some new opposition to the Book of Mormon, (that is, new to us,) which is as follows: The first edition of the Book of Mormon that was published had on its title page—Joseph Smith, Author and Proprietor. He intimated that this edition was all destroyed, with the exception of two copies, one of which is in the hands of a minister in the United States, the other copy is in the British Museum, in London. He said the next edition was given out in its present form, stating that Joseph Smith is the translator, and that he found it buried in the earth, and thus imposed a fraud upon the world.

"Now, you being in London, we thought you might go to the Museum and see if there is such a book there. This gentleman is spreading this piece of news gratis to any and all that he can get to listen to and believe it. "In conversation with a gentleman,

"If you will give this your kind and immediate attention, you will very much oblige your brethren in the mis-sionary field THOS. G. LOWE, WM. HENDERSON."

can get to listen to; and believe it.

The following is my reply: DEAR BRETHERN:-Your letter of DEAR BRETHERN:—Your letter of August 16th was duly received, and your requests compiled with so far as circumstances have permitted.
You state that your opponent alleges that the first edition of the Book of Mormon had on its title-page, Joseph Smith, Author and Proprietor; that

On the title-page of both was the statement that their contents were translated from plates found in the earth, by the gift and power of God, by Joseph Smith, Jun., as also the testimony of the witnesses. In all this both books were exactly alike.

One of them was published at Palmyra, U. S. A., in 1830, and on the flylesf was the announcement that the myra, U. S. A., in 1830, and on the fly-leaf was the announcement that the book had been entered at the Copy-right Office, New York, by Joseph Smith, Author and Proprietor. The other book was published at Liverpool, England, in 1841, and of course, did not have the notice that it had been copy-righted in America in 1830, as that would have been a false-hood.

We, therefore, admit what your opponent stated, that a copy of the first edition of the Book of Mormon is in the British Museum, and that it has on its title page, Joseph Smith, Author and Proprietor. But what of it?

No doubt the gentleman flatters himself that he has discovered a powerful argument by which he can demolish the claim jof divine authority of new revelation, and he, perhaps, feels as proud of it as the old hen did when she found a chalk egg in her next, and then went strutting and cackling about to make balleve that she had laid it. It is an old bushle blown up afresh, and needs only the straight pin-puncture of argument to loose and disapate its ments about the distribution of the first edition of the Book of Mormon, and also of its powerful effect in enlightening and converting the peo-

I will cite one conclusive proof that no such inhibition or destruction of the book was ever contemplated or taken into effect. In a letter written by Joseph Smith, at the request of the editor of the Chicago Democrat, and published in that paper in 1842, the Prophet, after giving a short synopsis of the contents of the book, says: "For a more particular account I would re-fer to the Book of Mormon, which can be purchased at Nauvoo, or from any of our Traveling Elders." (See pam.,

The book, then, on sale at Nauvoo and in the hands of the Traveling Elders, was the first edition of 1830, cop-les of which had, for years, been sold all through the United States, in England, and in many other English-speaking countries. Will not some callow, carping anti-"Mormon" rise and explain how, under these circum-stances, all the copies, but two, of that first edition were destroyed? These are the silly and contempti-ble shifts resorted to by frantic truth haters to destroy the evidences of the divine origin of "Mormonism," and to bolster up their own rotten and tottering systems of man-made creeds and Christian frauds.
