NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

Searchers for Body of Ernest Dumalt Have Perilous Experience in Weber River.

ENGINEER LOSES HIS LIFE.

Garrett Lowham Crushed by Engine—A. S. Thompson Has Lively Bout With Holdup.

Ogden, June 14.—Deputy Sheriff Seymour Clark accompanied by four young men named Smyth, McLaughlin, Matthews and Hellenwell yesterday spent the entire day dynamiting the Weber river east of Morgan in the hope of bringing to the surface the remains of Ernest Dumalt, the young Union Pacific fireman who on Monday night last was knocked from his engine into the river and drowned while crossing a bridge near the Devil's Slide.

The officers and men took the early morning train to the point where the accident occurred and from there to six miles west every place where there seemed to be any possibility of the body having lodged, dynamite was thrown into the water but no trace of the body could be found. From the point where they ceased using dynamite drag hooks were used for a distance of four miles to Morgan city, but their efforts were without results, and they returned to Ogden about 10 o'clock last evening. At Morgan early the next morning after the drowning a heavy net work was strung across the river so that the body cannot pass that point unless it had gone past there before the wire was strung.

Mr. Clark stated after his return last night that he has little hope of the body being located until the water in the river goes down, as at the present time the river is very high, is running very swiftly and is very muddy, so that if the body is being moved along the bottom of the deep stream it would be almost impossible to see it because the water being so muddy. A brother of the dead man last evening offered a reward of $50 for the recovery of the body before July 1. Four railroad men from Evanston, friends of the dead man, are taking turns in watching the river above Morgan in the hope of locating the same.

Two of the young men, Matthews and Hellenwell, who accompanied Mr. Clark yesterday, had a very narrow escape from drowning in the river. They attempted to cross the swiftly flowing stream in a row boat, against the warnings of the deputy sheriff. The current was so strong it carried the men and boat down the stream very

ENGINEER LOSES HIS LIFE.

Garrett Lowham Crushed by His Engine at Evanston.

Ogden, June 14.—Word was brought to Ogden last evening by Deputy Sheriff Clark that Garrett Lowham, a Union Pacific engineer, was killed at Evanston, Wyo., about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, by being crushed between his engine cab and the roundhouse door. Lowham was just taking his engine to the roundhouse to go out on a run. He had started the engine in operation and as it was moving very slowly he endeavored to get on the foot board when in some way his body was caught against the door frame and before the engine could be reversed his life was crushed out. His body was taken to a morgue and his brother, a freight conductor on the same road, who was coming west with a train, was stopped at Echo, and there informed of the unfortunate accident. Another conductor took his place and he returned to Evanston. The deceased is a well known engineer on the line and was highly respected. He made his home at Morgan city. He was the brother of Engineer Lowham who was killed in the Azusa wreck Nov. 5, 1905.

Ogden, June 14.—A. S. Thompson, a collector of the Deseret News, whose home is at Kaysville, Davis county, had an encounter with a hold-up last evening about 9 o'clock on Twenty-fourth street near the Army building. Thompson let his fist fly forward with considerable force and staggered the holdup, who fell to his heels and ran toward the railroad tracks. Eccles assembled at the Fifth ward meetinghouse yesterday to pay a tribute of respect to the memory of one who had grown aged in the service of doing good among mankind and laid down her life's burden at a ripe age. NEPHI.

FUNERAL OF MRS. BIGLER.

Touching Tributes to Memory of Honored Pioneer.

Special Correspondence.

Nephi, Juab Co., June 12.—Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Amy L. Bigler, were held in the tabernacle yesterday, the 11th inst., at 12:30 p. m. The speakers were Patriarch Charles Sperry, Elders David Cazier and Lester Mangum, President Joseph W. Paxman and Bishop T. H. G. Parkes. Each testified to the faithfulness, integrity and noble, upright life of the deceased, whose example was the worthy wife and helpmeet of a pioneer, as a devoted mother and kind neighbor was worthy of all honor and emulation.

Appropriate music was furnished by the Nephi choir and Mrs. L. A. Cazier beautifully rendered "Ever True." The casket was literally covered with flowers. The remains were laid to rest in the new cemetery. The heavy rains of late have set back the first crop of lucerne, but farmers are cutting it to insure a good second crop.

Several thousand head of sheep are yet to be shorned at the Nephi shearing pens.

SOUTH WEBER.

DEMISE OF JABEZ BRIGHT.

Pioneer and Frontiersman Closes Strenuous Career at 72.

Special Correspondence.

South Weber, Davis Co., June 11.—Jabez Bright died at the home of Mr. George Heath, near Iona, Idaho, Saturday, June 8, of kidney trouble and general debility. His body was shipped to Ogden for interment. It was taken to Undertaker Richey's parlors, where funeral services were held today Bishop George W. Kendall of South Weber presiding. A few of his relatives and old-time friends assembled to pay their respects to his memory, and speak a few words concerning their acquaintance with the deceased.

Jabez Bright was the son of John Bright and Susan Deer, born Jan. 15, 1825, in Wadsworth, Cambridgehire, England. His parents having received the gospel, they came to the United States in the spring of 1840. The family went up to Nauvoo, and lived there until the people were driven out. The family moved up to Council Bluffs, where the mother died of hardship and exposure. The father married again and the family came to Utah in 1851, settling first in Kaysville, Davis Co., then moved on to the Weber, where the family has made their home ever since.

Jabez Bright, the subject of this sketch, was called out in the year 1853 to fight Indians, in Col. Moore's command, in Weber county. In the fall of 1857, he was engaged in the Echo canon campaign. In 1858 he went out with two companies to assist the Salmon river expedition. In 1859 he rode the Pony express with the U. S. mails, and since then he has been on the frontier, driving stage, mining and railroad building. He has one brother and two sisters, and a number of relatives, who mourn his death.

PILGRIMAGE OF THE UTAH PIONEERS

SIXTY YEARS AGO TODAY.

MONDAY, JUNE 14, 1847.

The pioneers commenced crossing the north fork of the Platte river, carrying some of their empty wagons on light rafts made of pine poles, lashed together, and swimming others, but it was soon demonstrated that the current was too rapid to swim wagons without injuring them, and the men were obliged to resort wholly to the slower process of rafting. During the day 23 wagons were set across. Towards evening the camp was visited by a very heavy rain, and a shower from the west, accompanied with hail and a severe gale of wind, but no particular damage was done, except wetting the contents of many wagons.

He was sentenced to the state prison for three years.

Last evening Mrs. L. Henry presented her husband with a son.

The taxpayers of Morgan county feel that justice has been done their taxes of the cement plant $4,500, as the amount was much needed to repair the roads.

The quarterly conference of Morgan stake will convene at the stake house next Sunday.
