

remainder have been located and will be in his hands today.

According to the confession he signed, the entire sum of all of his own funds was placed in the execution. He had made arrangements to dispose of the stocks and bonds which he had stolen, but at the time of his arrest not one of them had been hypothecated by him.

After he had completed and signed his confession he said that until the moment of his arrest he did not deem it possible he could be detected. The ambitions of the young man have been great. They led him to devote the greater part of his time not to a study, but to study, and he would in a short time have graduated from the Columbia law school. He told Capt. McCauley yesterday first found the plan forming in his mind when he began to study how to make it impossible for just such a theft to be committed. He was present when Pearl & Co. hypothecated the securities upon which they obtained a loan of $300,000. He knew that the loan was for the rate of interest of four and one half per cent. Right then he determined to take advantage of his knowledge of the banking routine and obtain possession of the stocks and bonds which had been used as collateral.

After all other clues had been exhausted the detectives made a search of the city, visiting every stamp maker in such of the several companies. It thus came about that the description of the forger was obtained. That description was taken to Wall street, and an attempt was made to fit it to some one there employed. The light then shined upon the man who made the stamp was taken to Wall street and identified his customer.

When the young forger gave the order for the certificate company, he directed that it should be sent to him in care of one of the local branches of the Young Men's Christian association. The clerk who delivered the stamp to him made the identification complete.

The arrest followed. After he questioned his prisoner for some time, Capt. McCauley had almost concluded that it would be impossible to persuade him to make any confession, when suddenly the entire attitude of the young man changed.

"It is true," he said, "you have me right, I am the man. I got the securities from the National City bank but none of them have been disposed of. I will return them, return them all. I have been here, I have been captured. I have been a fool."

He then made a complete statement, which was taken down in writing and signed. To Capt. McCauley he said it had not been his desire at any time to commit a crime, but he had been impelled to show the fallacy of the present surface methods of banking.

THE CATHOLIC PARTY.

Organized in Italy for Political and Educational Purposes.

New York, Oct. 2.—A cable dispatch from Rome to the Herald, published today says: "Observatore Romano, the official organ of the Vatican, publishes a note on the new organization of the Catholic party from the political and educational point of view in Italy. Three Catholic directorates, autonomous but under the direct supervision of the Vatican, will be established. The first group formed of popular elements will be directed by laymen and will be exclusively occupied with the moral, civil and religious education of Italian Catholics. The second group is destined to encourage the discussion of social and economic questions and will carry on the program of the former Catholic congress, which had been recently dissolved. The third group will be composed of the political elite, associations in Italy, and will formulate the political program for the Catholic delegations to carry out in municipalities and parliament."

New York Death Rate Low.

New York, Oct. 2.—New York City, according to the report of the department of health, has the lowest death rate in more than 100 years. In the matter of births and marriages the report also falls to support the race suicide theory. As it is shown that more persons have been married and more births recorded within the last six months than ever before.

PLEA FOR PATRICK'S LIFE.

Urged That Prosecuting Atty's Asst. Was Son of Judge.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 2.—In asking the court of appeals to grant a re-argument in the case of Albert T. Patrick, now condemned to death for the murder of millionaire William Maxwell Wiley, excused Senator David B. Hill, in his brief, submitted to the court today, lays emphasis upon the fact that Judge Gray, who wrote the prevailing opinion against Patrick, has a son, Henry G. Gray, who assisted the district attorney in New York and participated in the prosecution of his client. On account of this relation Mr. Hill argues that Gray should not have sat in the case and calls attention to the fact that without Gray's vote the court would have stood evenly divided.

JAPANESE LOAN.

No Project for New One or Conversion of Old Loans.

London, Oct. 2.—Kiyotaka Takahashi, the financial agent of Japan, who shortly returns to America, says there is no definite project for a new Japanese loan nor have steps been taken for the conversion of the old loans. He anticipated, however, that the financial program to be submitted at the coming session of the Diet will propose a new loan to liquidate the high priced bonds now outstanding. The last loan is still intact and will suffice to re-convert the Japanese armies in Manchuria and defray the expenses of their demobilization.

RECORDING PENSIONS AND COMPENSATION TO WIDOWS AND OTHERS.

ATTY. GEN. OF NEW YORK COUNTY, FOR THE PEOPLE.

Remove all humors, overcome all their effects, strengthen, tone and invigorate the whole system.

"I had salt rheum on my hands so that I could not work. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it drove out the humor. I continued its use till the sores disappeared." Mrs. I. A. BROWN, Ramfoid Falls, Me.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promotes to cure and keeps the promise.

SUDDEN DEATH OF H. DINWOODEY.

Aged Business Man and Veteran Citizen of Utah Answers Last Call.

HIS PASSING WAS PEACEFUL.

Funeral Will be Held From the Seventh Ward Meetinghouse on Wednesday at 1 o'clock p. m.

After a career of half a century in Utah, in which he has seen its commercial interests spring up from their very beginnings, Henry Dinwoodey, founder of the H. Dinwoodey Furniture company, died at his home, 411 east First South street at 8 o'clock Sunday morning.

Mr. Dinwoodey was over 80 years of age. Since last spring he has not been actively connected with the company.

HENRY DINWOODEY.

STRIKE BREWERS AND THE GUARDS.

Men Who Were Removed for the Good of the Service Are Still Mudslinging.

TROUBLE THEIR CAMPAIGN CRY.

General Geoghegan Tells Some Plain Truths and Points Out Facts Against the Role and Rains Crowd.

The old campaign waged so fiercely against the national guard before its successful encampment gave the lie to so many statements about its weakened condition, has recently reappeared again, this time in the form of an attempt to saddle every movement with the guard to the alleged unpopularity of its present commanding officer, and head of the first regiment, Col. Geoghegan in expressing himself on published reports of a new disruption of information from which antagonistic newspapers were taking their material, a person who could have no good will towards the guard, as he was one whom it had been necessary to remove from it in disgrace for "the good of the service."

Col. H. M. Lund has been a member of the national guard since its organization in 1894. He has always been a hard worker, always kept his record high, from anything that was required of him, and has worked his way up slowly to the position of colonel. Before being elected to that position he served for a considerable period as adjutant general, the next lowest position in rank.

NO ROOM FOR GRUMBLERS.

In the process of promotion in the regular army he would have been promoted when his election occurred. The ballots were cast by all officers of the first regiment, exactly according to regulations, but at the same time, and originating before the election occurred, an insubordination was manifested. The ballots were cast by all officers of the first regiment, exactly according to regulations, but at the same time, and originating before the election occurred, an insubordination was manifested. The ballots were cast by all officers of the first regiment, exactly according to regulations, but at the same time, and originating before the election occurred, an insubordination was manifested.

A PURE FABRICATION.

The charge that Col. Lund admitted speaking to President Smith on guard matters was exploited then as a fact that his election was influenced. This also fell flat, but yesterday morning it was reiterated in the knockers' organ, and a statement was made that a letter had gone out suggesting the election. Col. Lund refused to discuss the nature of his talk, following the prescribed military custom among subordinate officers. That this talk had absolutely nothing to do with his election, however, has already been stated, and the idea of such a letter was a pure fabrication.

ALSO UNTRUE.

Another charge originated about the same time, and among those who still were working with no good motive. It was that Col. Lund had promoted members of his family, and that several were named in his orders for positions on his staff, they were in those positions long before his election, and were named by previous commanders, and all he did was to retain them in their old places.

SOME POINTED FACTS.

Following the encampment Capt. A. W. Calne, Jr., resigned, and a half column of men was transferred to the regular army, and a note stating the fact that this was an act of opposition in his feelings toward Col. Lund. The resignation of the claimant Col. Geoghegan, acting adjutant general, to publish a note stating the fact that this was an act of opposition in his feelings toward Col. Lund.

Col. Geoghegan resigned because he had been forced to resign for "reasons best known to himself." The charge that it was concerned with the fact that he was not elected, that it had nothing to do with the Lund matter was known by the "News," which published the fact that his resignation was called for before the encampment.

And now comes the latest explanation, and the organization, following false reports of the manner in which the first battery loaded and unloaded its equipment at the depot in Salt Lake. The resignation of Sergeant Major D. J. Redback. It is alleged his resignation is due to a new movement against Col. Lund. Whether such a movement is under way is not known, and the Redback's resignation has anything to do with it not possible, in view of the facts connected with it. Redback resigned while Gen. Bowman was still adjutant general, while Col. Lund was still adjutant general of the line officers, and before Col. Lund was elected. His resignation was dated June 12.

Action was deferred merely because before he could be released he had to prepare a property report, and this was not done. On Aug. 12, he applied to withdraw his resignation, as he declared he wished to stay with the guard, and would do his full duty. At camp he did not do his full duty. Geoghegan said Saturday afternoon that "he was a most unsatisfactory officer in camp, and after it was over, court proceedings were in contemplation against him, when he renewed his efforts to get out. I have not accepted the resignation," Col. Geoghegan continued, "and the case is not concluded yet."

It is only fair to Redback to state that in the light he has not been quoted directly as alleging any cause for his resignation, and statements have been made assigning motives for it apparently without his consent.

This is the status of things today, and what charge will next be exploited can hardly be guessed.

The fact that the guard is small, where the national government hopes to see it large, is a matter which the men in charge consider with great concern. The showing now puts Utah at the very foot of the list of states in this regard, and Col. Geoghegan is doing a great deal of construction both in the membership and in the building of barracks.

At Ogden plans are in for an elaborate barracks, which will be built only a good drill barracks, but an indoor club house for those who make citizen soldiery an element of their lives. At Salt Lake the plans for the drill hall

STRIFE BREWERS AND THE GUARDS.

Men Who Were Removed for the Good of the Service Are Still Mudslinging.

TROUBLE THEIR CAMPAIGN CRY.

General Geoghegan Tells Some Plain Truths and Points Out Facts Against the Role and Rains Crowd.

The old campaign waged so fiercely against the national guard before its successful encampment gave the lie to so many statements about its weakened condition, has recently reappeared again, this time in the form of an attempt to saddle every movement with the guard to the alleged unpopularity of its present commanding officer, and head of the first regiment, Col. Geoghegan in expressing himself on published reports of a new disruption of information from which antagonistic newspapers were taking their material, a person who could have no good will towards the guard, as he was one whom it had been necessary to remove from it in disgrace for "the good of the service."

Col. H. M. Lund has been a member of the national guard since its organization in 1894. He has always been a hard worker, always kept his record high, from anything that was required of him, and has worked his way up slowly to the position of colonel. Before being elected to that position he served for a considerable period as adjutant general, the next lowest position in rank.

NO ROOM FOR GRUMBLERS.

In the process of promotion in the regular army he would have been promoted when his election occurred. The ballots were cast by all officers of the first regiment, exactly according to regulations, but at the same time, and originating before the election occurred, an insubordination was manifested. The ballots were cast by all officers of the first regiment, exactly according to regulations, but at the same time, and originating before the election occurred, an insubordination was manifested.

A PURE FABRICATION.

The charge that Col. Lund admitted speaking to President Smith on guard matters was exploited then as a fact that his election was influenced. This also fell flat, but yesterday morning it was reiterated in the knockers' organ, and a statement was made that a letter had gone out suggesting the election. Col. Lund refused to discuss the nature of his talk, following the prescribed military custom among subordinate officers. That this talk had absolutely nothing to do with his election, however, has already been stated, and the idea of such a letter was a pure fabrication.

ALSO UNTRUE.

Another charge originated about the same time, and among those who still were working with no good motive. It was that Col. Lund had promoted members of his family, and that several were named in his orders for positions on his staff, they were in those positions long before his election, and were named by previous commanders, and all he did was to retain them in their old places.

SOME POINTED FACTS.

Following the encampment Capt. A. W. Calne, Jr., resigned, and a half column of men was transferred to the regular army, and a note stating the fact that this was an act of opposition in his feelings toward Col. Lund. The resignation of the claimant Col. Geoghegan, acting adjutant general, to publish a note stating the fact that this was an act of opposition in his feelings toward Col. Lund.

Col. Geoghegan resigned because he had been forced to resign for "reasons best known to himself." The charge that it was concerned with the fact that he was not elected, that it had nothing to do with the Lund matter was known by the "News," which published the fact that his resignation was called for before the encampment.

And now comes the latest explanation, and the organization, following false reports of the manner in which the first battery loaded and unloaded its equipment at the depot in Salt Lake. The resignation of Sergeant Major D. J. Redback. It is alleged his resignation is due to a new movement against Col. Lund. Whether such a movement is under way is not known, and the Redback's resignation has anything to do with it not possible, in view of the facts connected with it. Redback resigned while Gen. Bowman was still adjutant general, while Col. Lund was still adjutant general of the line officers, and before Col. Lund was elected. His resignation was dated June 12.

Action was deferred merely because before he could be released he had to prepare a property report, and this was not done. On Aug. 12, he applied to withdraw his resignation, as he declared he wished to stay with the guard, and would do his full duty. At camp he did not do his full duty. Geoghegan said Saturday afternoon that "he was a most unsatisfactory officer in camp, and after it was over, court proceedings were in contemplation against him, when he renewed his efforts to get out. I have not accepted the resignation," Col. Geoghegan continued, "and the case is not concluded yet."

It is only fair to Redback to state that in the light he has not been quoted directly as alleging any cause for his resignation, and statements have been made assigning motives for it apparently without his consent.

This is the status of things today, and what charge will next be exploited can hardly be guessed.

The fact that the guard is small, where the national government hopes to see it large, is a matter which the men in charge consider with great concern. The showing now puts Utah at the very foot of the list of states in this regard, and Col. Geoghegan is doing a great deal of construction both in the membership and in the building of barracks.

At Ogden plans are in for an elaborate barracks, which will be built only a good drill barracks, but an indoor club house for those who make citizen soldiery an element of their lives. At Salt Lake the plans for the drill hall

BACK FROM THE GRAND CANYON.

Congressman Howell Enthusiastic Over the Trip Into South Country.

PRaises President Woolley.

Party Had a Glorious Time and Return Much Impressed With Conditions in That Section.

Mr. Joseph Howell, accompanied by his secretary, Louis F. Cannon, and Mr. E. G. Woolley, Jr., returned to Salt Lake Saturday evening from their trip to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. Senator Smoot and Postmaster James Glavin, the other members of the expedition returning, left the party at Provo. Mr. Howell was seen for a few minutes in Salt Lake prior to his departure for his home in Logan and talked interestingly of the different incidents of the trip, mentioning the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, where he was impressively silent—it was beyond his power of expression he said, to adequately describe it. Famous artists have painted it or painted at it. Poets have sung of it and world travelers have called in to register their utmost powers of description without any one of them perhaps doing it full justice, therefore, who felt to refrain from any attempt at description.

CRedit Due PIONEERS.

Mr. Howell expressed pleasure at being able to visit a portion of the state which he had never before visited and to get acquainted with his constituents there, and their conditions and special needs. In many settlements in which the party visited it was stated that no United States senator had ever been; so that Senator Smoot's presence was indeed a considerable event. Those who settled on the mountains of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, the other towns in that southern country are certainly entitled to great credit for their endurance; being in a country of their own, they have absorbed much of it in their nature, and they are full of "grit," as Mr. Howell expressed it.

INDIANS GATHER NUTS.

The Indians of the south proved an interesting subject to the party and their conditions were very carefully inquired into by Senator Smoot and the congressman with a view to securing for them such government assistance as they might be entitled to. Several parties of the Kaibab Indians, whose permanent headquarters are at Moccasin Springs, near Kanab, were gathering pine nuts for market in the mountains near Hatch, Kanab Co., as the party passed through. Although they are not able to get rich out of the traffic, for the reason that the work is very arduous.

THE TRIP ENABLED THE PARTY TO HAVE a better understanding of the so-called Arizona strip than was possible without visiting it. The entire population of the strip is probably not over 150, and these from the very nature of things are very closely identified in a business and social way with the people of southern Utah.

MAY GET THE PRESIDENT.

In closing Mr. Howell referred enthusiastically to Hon. E. D. Woolley, by whom the trip was taken. He was the one who arranged all the details and who directed operations with the skill of a veteran and so well that the party all reached their homes without accident. It is President Woolley's dearest wish to some day conduct President Roosevelt to this spot and Mr. Howell expresses the hope that the plan may succeed.

BORN.

LAMBERT.—In this city, Oct. 1, 1905, to the wife of George C. Lambert, Jr., a son, Walter and child long well.

DIED.

CARLTON.—In this city, Sept. 30, 1905, of congestion of the lungs, Benjamin Carlton, aged 71 years. Funeral from the undertaking parlors of Joseph E. Taylor, Tuesday, at 1 p. m. Friends are invited.

For tombstones and monuments and markers, go to Dover's, 73 W. So. Temple.

OGDEN NEWS ITEMS.

Conservatory of Music Launched—School Difficulties Being Settled.

(Special to the "News.")

Ogden, Oct. 2.—The Weber state conservatory of music was formally opened to the public today. At devotional exercises there were present President L. W. Shurtliff, Counselors Middleton and Flygare, members of the faculty, Prof. Joseph Sallaway, Prof. John J. McClellan and Prof. Willard Welhe, the conservatory faculty. The time was occupied by President Shurtliff and members of the board in speeches, while Prof. McClellan and Welhe rendered musical selections on the piano and violin. The conservatory starts out under the most favorable auspices, having a large number of pupils and two handsome pianos, one of which was donated by the Clayton Music company of Salt Lake. A feature of the conservatory will be monthly recitals, to which the public will be admitted free of charge.

The county clerk today issued a marriage license to A. J. Sugden, 25, and Mrs. O. H. Renshaw, 28, both of Salt Lake.

The difficulties heretofore existing between former trustees of the Weber county schools and the new county board of education, relative to the transfer of school property to the new board, are being gradually settled. County Attorney Hulanek says that all but one of the trustees have agreed to turn over the property in question, and it is believed that the one will do likewise in a short time.

White Faces.

Cannon Bros. have just brought in from their ranch at Snyderville, Summit Co., their herd of registered Herefords, which they will sell individually or in groups. These animals are from the famous Sparks herd. Breeders and stockmen will find it to their interest to apply for terms and further information at Room 20, Marx Bldg., 24 E. So. Temple St.

FOR SALE.

A GOOD FINE TONE ORGAN, CHEAP or will trade for cow 100 E. 2nd South.

HELP WANTED.

A GOOD MAN FOR INSIDE WORK at Elgin Dairy Co., Office at E. 1st South.

GOOD GIRL, 45 M STREET.

AN EXPERIENCED BOLLICATOR FOR Merchant Tailoring, Address A. B. This office.

LYRIC THEATRE.

Tonight! Matinee Wednesday.

THE KENTUCKY BELLES WITH JIMMY BRITT.

Night Prices—25c 50c 75c. Matinee—All Seats, 25c.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.

WEEK OF OCT. 2nd. Stock company presents "Washington" Irving's great play—

RIP VAN WINKLE.

Specialties between acts. L. A. Zeno Bros. vocal act; Babe Swenson, Utah's favorite child artist; Curtain 3:15. General admission, 50c.

Dr. Loy B. Duncan, DENTIST.

Over Walker Bldg. Dry Goods Store, S. E. Both Phones.

AT Barton's SUITS, $7.50 to $35. OVERCOATS, $7.50 to $35. IF Your Hat, Cap, Shirt, Neckwear, Underwear, Sweater, Hosiery, etc., etc. come from us, they'll be right. ALWAYS AT YOUR SERVICE. BARTON & CO., 45-47 MAIN STREET.

HARRIS Will Give the Most Liberal Credit Terms in the West on the Best FURNITURE. And that's the thing all home-loving people want to know. There's no use dickering on second-hand furniture or paying cash when the same prices prevail at this store with the addition of paying a small amount down and the balance in monthly payments. Harris is on State St.--234-236.