

PIPE LINE AGAIN IN COMMISSION

Big Break Caused by Land Slide Repaired and Water is Turned In.

NARROW ESCAPE IN CANYON.

Team Attached to Wagon Backs Into River and Driver Has Perilous Experience.

Ogden, April 25.—The repair of the break in the Utah Light & Railway company's pipe line just below the mouth of Ogden canyon which was caused two weeks ago by a slide of earth and rock on the mountain side, has been completed, and the water was turned into the pipe last evening.

The break was more serious than was at first thought and has required considerable more time to repair than had been figured on. Nearly 200 feet of the large pipe was carried away by the slide, which has had to be replaced with entirely new pipe at a heavy cost. A large force of men and teams were put to work the next morning after the slide and have been at work every day in order to get the work completed so soon. Besides the pipe destroyed by the slide when the water was turned out and a thorough inspection was given the entire line it was found that between 200 and 400 feet more needed repairing, and so that work was done also.

The water was turned into the pipe again last evening but was permitted to run down the waste way, but tonight it will be turned into the power house, and the street lights will be on again. The company has been getting its power for residence and business lighting purposes from the Bear River plant. Before another dam season arrives the company will have to remove an immense amount of dirt and rock from the mountain side in order to prevent another slide.

PERILS OF OGDEN CANYON.

Young Man Has Narrow Escape From Drowning—Team Backs Into River.

Ogden, April 25.—The sooner the dangerous places in Ogden canyon are fenced the better, before someone else meets a watery grave in the river. Yesterday a young man driving a wagon belonging to the Ogden Valley Creamery company, had a very narrow escape from drowning when his team became frightened at another wagon which drove by and backed the vehicle down into the swift stream. The driver, realizing the danger, jumped from the wagon and escaped with slight injuries. Fortunately a number of workmen were nearby and seeing the outfit in the water rushed to the assistance of the driver and succeeded in rescuing the horses but the wagon was soon battered to pieces with the force of the stream dashing it against the rocks.

PATHETIC CASE OF DESTITUTION.

A most pathetic case was brought to the attention of the city council yesterday, and if their interpretation of the law is correct the interstate commerce law governing railroads is going to work a hardship on some. The case in question was that of Oliver L. van Hamburg, who with his wife and two little children were en route from Santa Rosa, Cal., to Ottawa, Kan. His little 2-year-old girl took seriously sick on the train Tuesday when nearing Ogden and the parents left the train here in order to get medical attention for the child. Dr. E. M. Conroy was called and pronounced the illness pneumonia. The little girl died yesterday at the roominghouse and the railroad company was asked to honor their tickets east, but this they refused to do as the tickets did not call for stopover privileges. Yesterday afternoon Commissioner Stanford went with Mr. van Hamburg to try and use his influence to get the tickets honored. The local official wired General Passenger Agent

J. A. Benton, asking permission to make the tickets valid, but he refused, claiming that the interstate law made it impossible. Mr. van Hamburg had used about all the ready cash he had in medicine and other expenses and could therefore not buy new tickets, so was in a sorrowful plight. He has telegraphed relatives for cash in the hope of being able to get funds sufficient to take his wife and little son together with the body of his little girl home. The body being held at Larkin & Sons' morgue in the hope of funds sufficient being raised with which to get the family to Ottawa.

WANTS HIS LIBERTY.

Another application for a writ of habeas corpus has been filed in the Second district court applying for the release of Joseph Ralph Lawhorn, from the State Industrial school. The boy was committed to the school by Judge Booth who sat as a juvenile judge at Provo on the case. The charge was incorrigibility, and the judge finding that the charge had been sustained, committed him to the institution. The principal ground on which the writ is asked is that the judge did not ascertain whether the boy's parents could not control him, which according to the readings in the case is essential before a commitment to the Industrial school is made.

DEATH OF JONATHAN DYE.

After a lingering illness from cancer Jonathan Dye, one of the oldest residents of Utah, Weber county, has passed to the great beyond, death coming as a happy release from terrible suffering. He was born in England 77 years ago. When a young man he joined the Latter-day Saint Church and in 1862 emigrated to Utah, coming to Weber county, where he has resided ever since. GOOD WATER AT HAND.

A special meeting of the city council was held last evening for the purpose of considering and acting upon matters connected with the waterworks extension service.

A report was read from the committee on waterworks to the effect that the mayor, council and city engineer had inspected the pipe line and while the bands were not uniformly tightened, they would be tightened at once by the contractor, the Merrill Lumber company. When this is done the committee is of the opinion that the city will have a very good line. An appropriation of $2,000 was made to the contractors, which leaves $1,905.95 to be paid when the work is accepted. The water will be turned into the pipe today, and as soon as the water is turned from taste of the wood pipe, will be turned into the distribution system.

FOURTH DISTRICT COURT.

Suit has been brought by the town of Mapleton against Springville City to have declared void an appropriation made by the latter for the purpose of the state engineer for 20 cubic feet of water from Hobble creek for electric power purposes. and after leaving the train, Alton discovered he had lost his purse, containing $170 in cash and a railroad ticket to Dayton, Ohio, and for a while he was almost beside himself with excitement. He enlisted the services of Officer C. E. Wood, of the Short Line, telling him his troubles, and said he did not care so much about losing the money, but the thing that worried him was the fact that his ticket to the Ohio town was also in the purse, and he was on his way there to be married. With feverish haste the pair rushed to the train, which was being backed onto a side track and had not been turned over to the car cleaners. Imagine Alton's joy on going into the car lavatory to find the precious purse, ticket and all, reposing quietly on the floor, no one having even seen it. Alton is now speeding east, and the marriage will come off according to program.
