

THE recent action of the Spanish volunteers at Havana, in forcing the resignation of Captain General Dulce, has led to the appointment, by the Provisional Government of the mother country, of General Caballero de Rodas, to fill the position vacated by Dulce. General de Rodas' life has been spent in the profession of arms, but until the late revolution in Spain, which terminated in the dethronement of Queen Isabella, he was obscure and unknown.

The removal of Dulce, it is said, was owing chiefly to his manifestations of sympathy with the insurgent cause in Cuba, but from the course of De Rodas since the triumph of the Spanish revolution there is not much reason to believe that his sympathies will lean to the popular cause in Cuba, and this may have been the principal cause of his appointment to the Captain Generalcy of the Island.

De Rodas is a little past the prime of life, being about forty-seven years of age. He is considered a brave and daring man, but his course a few months ago, in suppressing the attempts of the Spanish Republicans at Xeres, Cadiz and Malaga fully attests that he is not overburdened with scruples, or with humanity. When the real lovers of popular liberty in Spain made a demonstration in favor of a Republic in the places named above, the suppression of the movement was entrusted to De Rodas, and it was attended with such cruelty and ferocity that his reputation for the time was almost equal to that once achieved by the lady-whipping Austrian General Haynau, who rendered himself so hateful in Europe some twenty years ago by his cruelties to the Hungarians. The men slaughtered at these places through the mismanagement and cruelty of De Rodas' belonged to the ranks from which he himself sprang, and to the very party who had elevated to power Serrano, Prim, and the other military demagogues who have since ruled the people of Spain and betrayed the cause of popular liberty in that country.

With a man like De Rodas for Captain General, and one like Valmaceda in command of the Spanish forces, whose recent ferocious proclamation in Cuba has rendered him so notorious, it may reasonably be anticipated that an exterminating and sanguinary policy will soon be inaugurated towards the Cuban insurgents. Such a policy may have some good effects, it may result in more thoroughly fusing the inhabitants of the Island, and in cementing them more firmly in their efforts for freedom.

Were it not that the laws, framed by the royal and aristocratic legislators of Europe, which now form the basis of the present system of international policy, prevent the departure of thousands of men from the shores of the United States, who are willing to risk their lives and would ask for no greater fun than to strike in aid of Cuban independence, the struggle now going on there would soon be decided, and a splendid country and a brave people would speedily be liberated from the galling chains that, for years, they have been compelled to endure to enrich and fatten the worse than useless actions of royalty and aristocracy in Spain. If the old saying that "the end justifies the means," can be used with force and point in relation to any matter occupying the public mind at present, it might be in the case of the United States government refusing to see or interfere with the departure of men and munitions of war to aid in securing the freedom and independence of the "Gem of the Antilles."

GENERAL.

Washington, D. C.—A train from this city, last night, comprising ten cars including the President's car, met with an accident. When near Annapolis Junction, it collided with a cow, throwing the baggage and two passenger cars off the track, and overturning them; a man named Wild, of Atlanta, Georgia, was dangerously wounded and seven others severely injured.

New York.—The President and party arrived here and left for West Point this noon.

Washington.—Horatio White has been appointed agent for the Winnebagoes on the Missouri river, and Fayette Allen, receiver of public monies at St. Croix, Wisconsin.

Philadelphia.—John W. Moriarty, President of the Irish Republican Association of Pennsylvania, has issued an address, calling on all Irishmen in the State, who favor universal suffrage and the protection of American industry and the liberation of Ireland, to meet in each Congressional district and elect one delegate and one alternative to attend the Irish Republican Convention in Chicago on the Fourth of July, to address the States on the position taken by Sumner, which he says deserves the support of all true Irishmen.

Summit of the Sierra Nevada, one hundred and five miles from Sacramento. Simonton says that the Pullman palace train arrived here at 1.30 this afternoon, having run from Promontory Point, over the Central Pacific, at a speed of from thirty-five to fifty miles hourly on the level, and twenty-five to thirty-five on the ascending grades. The road, generally, is in good condition, and thousands of workmen are daily improving it by leveling up the track where it is slightly settled by heavy rains. There is no reasonable ground for the eastern stories of danger from any source on the entire line across the continent. The fifty miles of really rough road on the Union Pacific, west of Washoe, is rapidly being perfected, and in the meantime it is running slowly and cautiously. A month hence the distance between New York and San Francisco will be made in six days.

Baltimore, 10.—The following account of the accident to the train containing the President and party has been furnished by the officers of the road:

The train was proceeding at the usual speed, and when entering a cut the engine struck a cow, throwing it from the track against the tank, the engine, baggage and mail car passing safely, when the cow rolled under the wheels about 100 yards from where the cow was struck. The smoking car was filled with passengers and was thrown off the track, completely wrecked. The second car mounted the smoking car and rested on it at right angles; at this was badly damaged but was not broken up. The next car ran on the wreck and into it a few feet, and was considerably damaged. The only persons injured were on the first and second passenger car; the number is stated at eight. Of these Samuel Wild, a General in the United States Army, was the only one seriously hurt. He was very badly bruised about the face and head, and will probably lose one eye. There were several other persons more or less bruised and cut. C. W. Wells, of Albany, was somewhat injured, but was able to keep on his journey home. Mr. Evans, of Alexandria, was brought here and carried home to Alexandria. The train also brought in one man from Georgetown slightly injured; one colored woman had her head badly cut, and three colored men were injured. G. W. Clark, of this city, received a scalp wound. J. J. Peggett, an Internal Revenue officer of New York, was slightly wounded in the head.

As soon as the accident occurred, much solicitude was felt as to the safety of the President and party. Some of the passengers who proceeded to the rear car said they found the President peacefully smoking on the platform, not aware of the extent of the disaster.

McCann the brakeman on the train had his left leg broken. The darkness of the night added to the horror of the situation as it prevented the uninjured passengers from seeing the full extent of the disaster. The embankment at the point of the accident is twenty feet high.

First class schooners by Idler. The course was from the anchorage off Staten Island to the South-west Spit, then to the Light Ship, and then to return over the same course. Eminent counsel are engaged in the defense.

H. Douglass. The Convention adjourned without any action on the resolutions.

It is stated that W. H. Robertson, of Washington, and John Tyler, of Virginia, propose between them that the Conservative men of the South shall select their Senators and Representatives from patriotic Statesmen living in the Northern States, and thus throw overboard the villainous carpet baggers and false, perfidious, treacherous scoundrels; they contend that one day's prior residence in the State to be represented will meet all the requirements of the Constitution as to qualification.

Boston.—Millard Osmore, while reading in bed at New Port, N. H., last night, upset a lamp and was burned to death. Prior to this the Post, a political organ of Governor Geary, contains a special dispatch from this city to-day, which says within 30 days Governor Geary will supersede Mr. Borie, Secretary of the Navy. It further says the arrangement was made while the Governor was here a day or two ago, and that during his long interview with the President, the Secretaryship was tendered and accepted.

Chicago.—The Iowa Republican State Convention met at Des Moines yesterday. Governor Merrill was nominated for Governor by acclamation, and for Lieutenant Governor, L. W. Ross, of Pottawatomie, M. M. Waldron, of Oppanoose, and John A. Parvin, of Muscatine, were severely put in nomination. An informal ballot was taken, but before the result could be announced several counties changed votes and M. M. Waldron was nominated by acclamation. Judge Dimon was renominated by acclamation for Superintendent of Public Institutions.

Among the Vice President's Convention was a negro delegate from Muscatine who was received with loud applause. Resolutions were introduced to endorse the administration of the Government as wise, economical and honest; to insist on the maintenance of honesty and economy in all the departments of the State Government; that the funds now in the State Treasury and those hereafter available should be used for defraying the necessary expenses of the Government economically administered, and for no other purpose; and that no State taxes, or only the minimum absolutely required should be levied or collected till such means are exhausted. That the Convention endorse the administration of President Grant, and also endorse and approves of Secretary Boutwell's policy, and congratulates Iowa on being the first State since the rebellion to incorporate in the State Constitution the great principle of compulsory public schools.

Chicago.—The Republican's Washington special says, it is understood here that the question has already been raised with regard to Cuba; whether since the virtual deposition of General Dulce by the Spanish volunteers there be any colonial government with which our Consul or agents there, or authorities here can hold official relations.

The Spanish Minister is known to be very much troubled about the turn affairs have taken. Espinar being only the creature of the mob, it is doubtful whether he should be recognized. Cuban agents are not slow to take advantage of this. They are urgent in pressing upon prominent persons here that no government now exists in Cuba, but that of the Republic. It is ascertained from other sources than the Cuban, that the Republicans estimate that they have obtained recruits for the Republic in the United States, Mexico and South America, to the number of five thousand men; and have been furnished enough experienced officers from the United States alone, to command the entire number from Colonel to subaltern; also that the aid thus derived from the country named is slight, compared with the assistance furnished in subsistence, clothing, ammunition and arms, so great is the activity of the Cubans now in this country, so confident are they of speedy success.

A recent order of the Commissioner of Public Lands announcing that settlers on the Oage lands in Kansas whose claims were made prior to the treaty of September 30th, 1855 might purchase the same for $1.25 an acre, and that the decision as to those rights which the thought will go far towards revealing one reserving railroad lands to the Leavenworth, Lawrence and Galveston road, and H. P. Southern branch, made by Secretary Browning, about the rightfulness of which there has been some question. The odd sections on the track known as ceded lands were withdrawn from the settlement in November 1857 under the Secretary's decision. Commissioner Wilson decides that settlers who were sold odd numbered sections prior to the withdrawal had acquired "possessory" rights under the treaty. This is considered as a practical revocation of the order of the late Secretary Browning. A very large proportion of the odd numbered sections were occupied prior to November 1857, and will therefore pass into the hands of the farmers. About fifteen thousand persons are interested in this decision. Lands are very valuable and fertile, well timbered and watered, the settlers obtain them at one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre, and have until April 10th 1871 to purchase them. There are two tracts, one containing 300,000 acres, out of which Nemaha and Labette counties are formed, the other known as the Oage tract lands 750 miles one way and 20 the other containing 3,200,000 acres. This is the tract over the proposed sale of which by treaty to the railroad contractor, so sharp a debate occurred in Congress, resulting in the passage, by the House of Resolutions declaring the Senate had no Constitutional right to dispose of Indian lands or public domain under the treaty power.

Havana.—News from Santiago de Cuba, on the 4th inst., says all the regular troops have left for active service in the field; the volunteers are guarding the city. The filibusters who landed at the Bay of Nipe, have gone to the interior taking the road to Holguen. It was reported that Colonel Tinker, who commanded the filibuster brought over by the steamer San Salvador had been killed.

Havana.—The arrival of General Leaga, at Cienfuegos, has infused spirit into the campaign in that section, and several engagements are already reported between his forces and those of the insurgents. A commission of the citizens of Havana will go to Porto Rico and meet General Rodas, who sails to-day from Madrid, and escort him to this city.

Intelligence from the Interior is that further grinding of the sugar cane has been stopped on account of the rain.

London.—The Right Hon. Gathorne Hardy, at a banquet given at Leamington, made a long speech against the Irish Church bill. He said the establishment was a concession to Fenianism and a direct injury to the men who had been zealous in their devotion to the Crown for the sake of conciliating traitors these men were to be injured. It was the tenure of land and not the Church question which lay at the root of the grievances of Ireland, but it was not for him to say what the House of Lords would devise for the bill; he would accept their verdict as a conscientious and Constitutional decision which the country should receive with deference.

London.—A dispatch from Bombay reports the wreck of the ship Green Northern near that port; fifteen of the crew were lost.

DIED, in this city, yesterday, at 10 o'clock, of measles, George, eldest son of Bro. H. J. Faust. The funeral services will take place to-morrow at 10 o'clock, in the 14th Ward Assembly Rooms. All friends are respectfully invited to attend.

The hand of affliction has rested heavily upon the family of Brother Faust, lately, and our sympathies are his, and we are assured that he has the sympathies of the community. While Bro. Faust and his wife were on a visit early a short time ago, his eldest sister died of cancer. Soon after they returned home their youngest child died; and now it is our painful duty to record the death of their oldest, a youth of nine years, who, we are informed, was a scholar of great promise for one so young in years. He was born on the Western Overland, as early as 1850, in the midst of danger and trials, which endeared him still more to his parents.
