EDITORIAL NOTES.

Henry Ward Beecher says the "first thing for parents to consider who wish healthy children, is that they must be healthy themselves."

The Christmas Wide Awake will have a superb frontispiece in eighteen colors, reproduced from a water color by F. H. Langren, by Louis Frang & Co., the famous Christmas card makers, and the foremost fine art publishers in America. Nothing so beautiful has ever before been attempted in magazine publishing.

The Boston Globe says: "The greatest difficulty in the way of bringing up children seems to be the love some parents have of exercising authority. Many parents seem to regard their children as slaves having no rights that older people are bound to respect, or no feelings to be considered or treated with tenderness." This is incorrect, as many parents look upon their children as rulers and do not appear to consider that they nor their neighbors have any rights that their children are in any way bound to respect.

The Chicago Notes says: "It is an old story, and one on which the changes seem all to have been run, but nevertheless the number of murders occurring in this country daily as results of drunkenness is simply appalling, and demands a more earnest effort on the part of law-loving persons for the suppression of this dreadful vice, with its resultant crimes. Never did the prohibitions of America have so good ground for appealing to the people as they have now. Never did this country furnish so many daily evidences that whisky and horrible crimes are in close partnership with each other."

A strawberry-blond mulatto ran for Congress in a North Carolina village, but was defeated. Here is what the local paper has to say about the victory: "Once more the children of the Conqueror and the descendants of Alfreed and Edward glory in their ancestry, and fling the standard of supremacy to the fragrant breezes of Southland, and the shouts of the victorious and unconquerable Caucasian ascend in a grand diapason to the eternal throne of liberty. It is believed that when all the precincts are heard from, Colonel Jones will have defeated the Senegambian by at least seventy-five votes."

There is much to be said in favor of wisely deliberating before acting. Doubtless many rash deeds are performed, bringing all sorts of unfortunate consequences in their train, simply for the want of a little reflection; and others, that would have been of the utmost benefit to mankind, have never seen the light from the same cause. Yet, while this is true, there is a kind of deliberation much practised which is nearly always pernicious in its results upon future action. It is that which puts aside the first instinctive perceptions of right and wrong, speculates upon them, doubts them, subjects them to processes of casual reasoning, and generally ends either by so clouding the mental vision that no distinct course is visible, or by actually making the worse appear the better cause. Much of the wrong-doing of the world is the fruit of this kind of deliberation.

THE IMPORTANT ELECTIONS.

Nothing definite has been received about the likely result of the Ohio and West Virginia elections. Both states claim gains. A big vote has been polled and much excitement prevails. Violence has resulted from the intense party feeling, with fatal results. We direct special attention to the press dispatches, which it should be remembered always have a Republican tinge.

BRIGHAM YOUNG COLLEGE.

We have received from the Board of Trustees of the Brigham Young College, of Logan, Utah, a prospectus of that excellent institution for the years 1894-5. The college has been in operation actively for five years, and although it has already achieved the most gratifying results, when compared with the object of its endowment by its illustrious founder, whose name it bears, it may be considered, even in view of the advancement already made, to be only in the incipient stages of its growth. It is destined to exert a potent influence upon the community because of its being a lever by which the youth of the community will be, in every desirable direction, raised to a higher plane than is now occupied by them.

The college is not cramped by confinement to a narrow circle of operations. On the contrary its scope is not yet limited to mere book education, but extends to instruction in the more practical pursuits of life. The margin of mere secular education is also overstepped and great care is bestowed upon the religious training of the students, and thus the safeguard of an understanding of correct theological principles is established and a reverence for sacred things inculcated.

The institution has many advantages to commend it to patronage even outside of the admirable educational facilities it affords. Among these is its situation in a town not exceeded in beauty by any other of similar proportions in the interior West, or probably anywhere else, and in the midst of one of the most peaceful, orderly and respectable communities on earth. The town in which it is located is situated in one of the most lovely and fruitful valleys, and the college building is a fine and spacious structure affording ample facilities for carrying out the purposes of its existence.

The Board of Trustees are: G. W. Thatcher, President; Brigham Young, Moses Thatcher, W. B. Preston, C. O. Card, Ida Ione Cook, M. D. Hammond, R. S. Campbell, Secretary and Joseph Quinlan, Treasurer.

"EVERYBODY KNOWS."

The theory that the "Mormon" Church, in consideration of certain promises from the Democratic leaders, has given or will give pecuniary support to the Democratic nominees in the approaching campaign, has been authoritatively denied and is really a falsehood without the slightest foundation in fact. It was started in this city, from the same source from which most of the charges that the Mormon Church, through its agents, is contributing to the Democratic campaign fund. Everybody knows that the chiefs here earnestly desire the election of Messrs. Cleveland and Hendricks; everybody knows that there is no political party which will not accept pecuniary aid, and everybody knows that in the past the Mormon power has contributed generously to all parties.

This year, it is plain enough, that all men in the United States the chiefs of this church would prefer any one of them. What, then, is there that makes them so sensitive to the charge that they are doing this? The answer is, "Everybody knows it is true."

There are many things that the writers for that scandal-retailer "the canon" say. One reason why "the canon" of the anxiety of the "Mormon press" to disclaim the charge cannot be seen, is simply because it does not exist. The lie was coined in this city, and like all other lies of this kind, it was spread by the press, and it has been denounced as untrue. There has been no "anxiety" about the matter, except that displayed by the rascals who manufactured the canard. "Everybody knows" is a convenient way which that disreputable paper has of stating facts for its own conjectures or surmises without a particle of proof, and also of putting before the public falsehoods without a shadow of excuse. Everybody does not know anything about the desires of "the chiefs here" concerning the election; that is a subject on which they have not declared themselves. And it is not plain that those "chiefs" would prefer any one of them. When have they said not? What have they intimated to justify such an inference? The Tribune "suspects" it, that is all, and what it merely suspects, with its usual brazen mendacity it declares "everybody knows."

Neither is it true that "everybody knows" that in the past the Mormon power has contributed generously to campaign funds. "Everybody does not know anything of the kind. The truth is that nobody knows it. The Tribune's statement is a lie. It is not merely a mistake. And it is needless to ask as to prove this. We are not required to prove negative. Let those who make the charge substantiate it if they can. We defy them to prove that the "Mormon" Church has ever contributed, generously or otherwise, to political campaign funds. All the proof they can offer is that they "suspect" it. We do not believe that they even "suspect" it. The charge is made something in the same fashion as they occasionally ask a number of questions reflecting on personal character and having no foundation or excuse in reality, trusting to the general indifference of people to any slander that vile sheet may publish, to have the questions go unanswered. Those scandal-makers have been so accustomed to publish falsehoods unchallenged and unnoticed, that they are startled and angry when their villainous fabrications are disputed. And they start up and pretend to wonder about the "anxiety" of anyone who denies their lies and puts them to rest.

The only thing in the paragraph we have clipped that bears any affinity to the truth, is the assertion that "there is no political party which will not accept pecuniary aid." We are not prepared to dispute the correctness of that statement; those who made it have doubtless done so with good reason. The allegation. But the rest of the article is baseless as well as base, and there is not a fact or an act or a document that can be adduced to substantiate the falsehoods which it impudently declares that "everybody knows."

ANOTHER ENGLISH BIGAMY CASE.

Last August we published particulars of two trials of persons charged with bigamy at the Assize Court in Manchester, England, in which the prisoners were each nominally sentenced to one day's imprisonment, the Judge stating in each case that they should not have been prosecuted. Each of the men charged with the offence had a second wife living, and the first was living and undivorced, and all the parties were aware of the facts. Neither the first or second wives were deceived, nor was any charge made by either the first or second wives. The prosecutions were the work of officious officials, and as no one was really injured Mr. Justice Day considered the cases so trivial that he virtually discharged the accused.

Our attention has been drawn to a bigamy case at the Lincoln Assizes before Mr. Justice Hawkins; it was reported in the Manchester Guardian. Elizabeth Wann and Charles Fisher were jointly indicted, the former for bigamy with the latter for aiding and abetting. Wann had been married for 20 years, but the greater part of the time had lived apart from her husband and supported herself. For the last two years the woman had been living with Fisher, a fact of which the husband was well aware. Finally, they proposed to emigrate, and were to start respectively on their new career. Two months after the marriage the prisoners were arrested at their cottage one evening, and locked up for the night. They were next day taken before the magistrate, and the latter, for trial without bail. Fisher pleaded guilty and Wann was convicted. His Lordship, in passing sentence, said he thought that the prisoners had been very harshly treated. Under the circumstances he should sentence the prisoners to be imprisoned for two days only from the commencement of the assizes, with the effect that they were forthwith discharged from custody.

The difference between the views of the Judges in England and in Utah is, that while the former deprecate prosecutions over zeal on the part of the public prosecutor, in cases where no one is injured or the parties supposed to be injured make no complaint, the latter aid and abet and foster that over officiousness by which such prosecutions are instituted, and attempt to compel plural wives, and in some instances first wives to testify against their better feelings, and subject them to the ordeal of a judicial hearing and ability of Judges in the two countries we need say nothing about; the talent and standing of English occupants of the bench in the higher courts are beyond question.

The essence of the offense of bigamy is in the fraud practiced upon one or both of the wives, and the injury that is done to the community by the public prosecutor in cases where no one is injured or the parties supposed to be injured make no complaint, the latter aid and abet and foster that over officiousness by which such prosecutions are instituted, and attempt to compel plural wives, and in some instances first wives to testify against their better feelings, and subject them to the ordeal of a judicial hearing and ability of Judges in the two countries we need say nothing about; the talent and standing of English occupants of the bench in the higher courts are beyond question.

offense against the law the very essence of the crime is absent, and a very light penalty is considered an enactment to vindicate the written enactment. That was the position of the English Judges in the cases cited. But here, if the law would permit, it is no doubt that the very essence of the crime to the plural marriage would be made an offense, aggravating instead of mitigating the transaction, and all the parties would be punished, as participants criminals. All that can be done is done in that direction, and all the machinery of the courts is set in motion to effect that which English Judges have pronounced harsh, needless and improper. And this too when no element of religious faith entered into the body of the question. A little good judgment and calm consideration of principle would be quite as commendable to just and thoughtful people, as red-hot zeal in on direction to the detriment of the public welfare in others.

VOLUNTARY SERFDOM.

The best evidence of any people being unfit to enjoy the sweets of freedom is their inability to prize the privileges of liberty. The strongest proof of this lack of appreciation is the existence of a willingness to go into involuntary servitude. When this willingness takes the form of a feverish anxiety to assume the role of the slave no additional evidence is needed.

The so-called "Liberal" party, or rather a handful of them who usurp the position of being its oracles, are precisely in that position. They display their wings and crow about the People's Party, mainly composed of "Mormons," being under political subjugation to men whom they consider leaders among them. They assert that the free air of a republic is not breathed in Utah. That simply, when reduced to facts, means that they do not all the offices and get a chance to plunder the public.

They are panting for a change; and what a change! They show their love of liberty by log-rolling and screeching for a legislative commission to govern the Territory. They have so little pride in maintaining the institutions of their country and their own political station, that they are clamorous for their own political degradation by being deprived of the ballot. To what groveling depths they have sunk when they volunteer to throw away constitutional privileges as if they were so much rubbish. But they are willing to submit to anything in order to revenge themselves upon the free majority, because they have not exercised the franchise so as to place them in official positions. Hence the object nearest the hearts of the schemers is Congressional Legislation that will plunge the whole people into political thralldom.

But the "Liberal" or rather anti-American party is somewhat sick. In fact it is all but conceded that it is more or less dead clear up to the armpits; pining for want of nourishment. Besides, when it is led in all its conspicuous operations by Messrs. Howell, Bradley, Hollister, McBride, Bann et al., it certainly exhibits symptoms of softening of the brain with prospects of ultimate dissolution. It is admitted that there is great need of reform within the ranks. The great effort yet made in that direction was attempted last Thursday, but was promptly shot down. We refer to the endeavor to change the manner of the party. If that had been adopted, and then followed up with even a faint attempt at alteration of methods, perhaps a stimulation if not a resuscitation would have been the result upon the consumptive concern.

How different is the position of the People's Party. It is healthy and vigorous, and always on the alert to preserve, so far as possible, by every legitimate means, constitutional principles and the liberties of the people. By these efforts is manifested a keen appreciation of the sweets of freedom and of republican institutions, and they give the best evidence that those privileges ought to be preserved in Utah.

THE BATTLE BEGINS IN OHIO—A Short Account of the Election in that State.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, 14.—The election in Ohio, after a canvass of the State, that he had never seen such a contest in politics since 1840. All reports received up to this hour indicate that this intensity of feeling continues. An enormous vote is being polled, and the battle ground, and on the issue of today will depend the conduct of the next three weeks of the election. The polls are being closely watched. The deputy sheriffs representing the democratic and republican parties, and citizens' committees are being guarded in a government building. A number of these were brought up by police, which added to the excitement. There has been considerable shooting in the city, and in the 14th wards. In the latter a deputy marshal shot a deputy sheriff in the head, causing a severe wound. It is not fatal. In the 18th, democratic ward, there is great excitement because of the large number of votes which are being polled. The vote will be large and will be properly recorded. The State candidates are: Governor, John L. Robinson, Republican; Secretary of State, John L. Robinson, Republican; Treasurer, John L. Robinson, Republican; Auditor, John L. Robinson, Republican; Superintendent of Public Works, John L. Robinson, Republican. The democratic candidate for Governor is John L. Robinson, Republican. The democratic candidate for Secretary of State is John L. Robinson, Republican. The democratic candidate for Treasurer is John L. Robinson, Republican. The democratic candidate for Auditor is John L. Robinson, Republican. The democratic candidate for Superintendent of Public Works is John L. Robinson, Republican.

FOREIGN.

THE CHINESE.

ROME, 14.—In the past 24 hours there have been 140 fresh cases of cholera and 104 deaths in Italy, including 57 cases in Naples. The epidemic is spreading rapidly, and the authorities are taking measures to prevent its further extension. The Chinese government is also taking steps to prevent the spread of the disease.

VERY REMARKABLE RECOVERY.

Mr. Geo. W. Willing, of Manchester, Miss., writes that he has been almost helpless for five years, so helpless that he could not turn over a leaf, and that he was unable to do anything but lie in bed. He was cured by the use of Dr. J. C. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and is now able to do his own work.

ALL HONOR MADE.

Just received from the mills, Wool Batting, Linsley Sheeting and a full line of home-made Woolen Goods, also Socks, Stockings, Trunks, Brooms, etc., at J. G. CUTLER & BRO., No. 45 W. 1st South Street, opposite the Danwood's.

FOR TWENTY YEARS I WAS A SUFFERER.

During the summer months with Hay-Fever, I procured a bottle of Dr. J. C. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and used it as directed, and was cured. I am now able to do my own work. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

polled. Men about the polls say there is very little scorching. Everywhere great earnestness is manifested. Columbus, O., 14.—From local indications and information received at headquarters of the republican committee, it is estimated that the vote will be divided about as follows: The vote in the city will be about 100,000 for the republicans and 100,000 for the democrats. The vote in the rural districts will be about 100,000 for the republicans and 100,000 for the democrats.

THE VOTING IN COLUMBUS.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, 14.—The weather is bright and clear to-day with a cool breeze, and everything favorable for the full vote which is being polled. No disturbance of consequence has been reported in this city beyond the arrest of a few strangers for trying to vote, and others for disorderly conduct.

IN CLEVELAND.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, 14.—The weather throughout the Western Reserve is beautiful. Every indication that a large vote will be polled. No unusual excitement, besides working earnestly. A Heavy Vote in West Virginia—Both Sides Claim Gains.

WHEELING, W. Va., 14.—The election to-day is for Governor and full list of State officers and the Legislature. Questions of taxation by the dominant party and the Supreme Court in the intelligence contempt case, are the chief State issues. Weather fine and a very heavy vote being polled. In this city they had polled three-fourths of the usual vote at 10 o'clock. Both sides claim gains.

THE VOTING IN CINCINNATI.

COSMOTROPOL, O., 14.—The vote to-day will probably be the heaviest ever known in this city. At noon the vote already polled was more than four-fifths of the largest ever polled.

VOTING FOR SENATOR.

MONTPELIER, Vermont, 14.—In the election to-day for Senator to Congress in the House to-day Senator Morrill received 177 votes, Timothy F. Redfield, W. W. Dillingham, scattering 8. The Senate votes this afternoon. Tomorrow at noon the votes of the two Houses will be ratified.

FEARS OF VIOLENCE—Numerous Arrests and Habeas Corpus Proceedings.

Cincinnati, O., 14.—At two-thirty the city was quiet and all seemed to be in the hands of the police. The police are using in some instances to get the vote out of jail. Arrests are also being made by the police and deputy sheriffs, and the same course is pursued to release their prisoners. There has been some shooting in the city, and the police are taking measures to prevent its further extension. The Chinese government is also taking steps to prevent the spread of the disease.

MASS.

HATFIELD, Conn., 14.—Maud S. will be started on Monday to a m. There is considerable wind and the opinion is that the mare will not eclipse her Cleveland performance.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so common in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs, such as colds, coughs, croup, etc., which are often so trifling with the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting either from a trifling or unseasonable exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal disease. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, however, will prove its efficacy in a forty year's fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

WANTED.

"In 1892 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs, and I had a terrible cough, and passed nights after night without sleep. The doctor gave me a bottle of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and secured the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 40 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved my life."

You no doubt have seen the line from Barton & Co., and observed, in what position of their firm, superior quality of their clothing, hats, caps, etc., etc., but also of their furnishings of every description, and also the low prices of their prices.

We felt a little surprised on receiving their circular, and on examining the quality of their clothing and furnishings, we were greatly surprised to find everything as stated. They are certainly energetic and enterprising young men, and spare no pains in proving it to the public, that they are not only a reliable business, but on misrepresentation or deceit, but on thoroughly honorable business principles.

The quality of their clothing and furnishings is thoroughly first-class, and their reputation as neat fitters is extending far and wide; and as to their hats, it seems they display great skill in selecting them, for they are just what the public want. I happened to be in the other night just as they were opening a bill of the latest hats, and they thought that probably they had sufficient for the fall trade, but in less than half an hour they disposed of many hats, and they are now expressing a fresh supply. We are happy to recommend them to any desiring anything of the kind, as they are assuredly they will fit you out as reasonable as any house in town.
