TO SING BEFORE KING EDWARD.

Miss Nannie Tout, Ogden's Talented Singer Accorded High Honors.

Young Burglars Sentenced to One Year In the Penitentiary-News Briefs.

Miss Nannie Tout, Ogden's greatest soprano singer, may sing before King Edward and the Queen of England, The high honor was accorded her recently to dine with the Grand Duke and Duchess of Hess, for whom she sang. There were present some of the other royalty and people of high rank. After singing, the king's organist, Sir Walter Parrat, sent her a beautiful bouquet and an invitation to dine with the king and queen, which invitation the talented young lady will no doubt accept, and will then have the honor to sing for Recently Miss Tout was asked to sign a contract to visit the leading cities of the world and sing. This solicitation was accorded her by Hugo Gorlitz, the well known manager of Paderewski and Kuberelick, who were to make the tour with Miss Tout, but Miss Tout declined, having previously arranged with the Royal Conservatory to make a tour of Europe and America, accompanied by her techer, Prof. Vasiti, Miss Tout is expected to come to American on the tour next fall. It is doubtful if any American vocal.

It is doubted if any American has ist has received more honors than has Miss Tout. The London papers have complimented her very highly and the music critics have accorded her great praise. For some time past she has been singing in the St. James hall, Lonlon, where many have praised her Special Correspondence. Logan Cache Co., Feb. 12.-The mildest and pleasantest winter ever experienced in Cache valley begins to show signs of breaking and an early and favorable spring is fondly anticipated. Already ac-tivity is manifested among agricultur-ists in all branches. The great fertility of our garden valley has already attract-ed a spiendid sugar factory, two con-densed milk factories and a dozen cream-eries, and now the fruit interests are quietly but surely taking advanced rank, and many whose lands are too meager for ordinary farm crops, will use every rod of their ground for fruit raising for which the Cache climate seems well adapted. The recent speech at Salt Lake City was, considering his years, unusual. This young man hastened up to Congressman Sulloway as soon as the service was over. He talked a little while, and then he made a number of strenu-ous efforts to induce the gigantic statesman to compliment him on his dis-course. These efforts, which were indirect, failed. Therefore the young man adapted. The recent speech at Salt Lake City of President W. J.
