

MARRIED A MONTH; TOO SHORT A TEST

Court Holds Parties Cannot Tell
Whether They Are Suited
In That Time.

DECLINES TO COME TO UTAH.

Mrs. Louise Orten Refuses to Accompany Her Husband, So He Secures a Divorce.

When Mrs. Alta Ellis Kelly appeared so anxious yesterday to allow her husband, James F. Kelly, to obtain a divorce from her, Judge Morse dismissed the action. They had only been married three weeks when the case was filed, alleging cruelty on the part of Mrs. Kelly, who used profane language and treated him with contempt.

Mrs. Kelly declared on the stand that she took a dislike to him the day after they were married. She admitted that she swore at him, treated him with contempt and married him in order to get a rest, after providing for herself for two years. In disposing of the case Judge Morse said:

"If this couple comes into court in a year or two and tells this kind of a story, I might consider granting them a divorce. I do not believe that they can tell in less than a month whether they are not suited for each other. I will dismiss this suit because the story is not plausible."

This is Mrs. Kelly's second marriage. She has a two-year-old child by her former husband, J. E. Ellis. On this account Kelly wanted the court to vest her with him, treated him with contempt and married him in order to get a rest, after providing for herself for two years. In disposing of the case Judge Morse said:

THOUGHT MORE OF HIS HORSE.

Mrs. Margaret E. G. Babcock, a middle-aged woman, secured a divorce from William Perry Babcock because he thought more of his horses than of her. While the horses were kept sleek and fat, she was left unattended with not enough to eat and sick most of the time. They lived in a two-room dugout and the neighbors brought her food and clothing.

Charles E. Titus, who declares he is a divine healer, corroborated her story. He said that he had called at the Babcock home several times when Mrs. Babcock was sick and taken food to her. Her husband refused to work three-fourths of the time, Titus said, and seemed to provide for his horses better than he did his wife. Mrs. Babcock was willing that her husband should have the custody of their five children, but she was granted permission to visit with the child. They were married here Aug. 12, 1906.

REFUSED TO COME TO UTAH.

Mrs. Louise D. Victory Orten, wife of Truman Orten, refused to come to Utah with him on account of the Mormons, and Judge Morse granted him a divorce on the ground of desertion. They were married in New York on July 7, 1883, and lived together for 21 years without any trouble. Twelve years ago Orten wanted to come to Utah but the wife refused to accompany him. She is now living with their daughter in Lincoln, Neb. Robert A. Rankin of Bingham, who has been a lifelong friend of the family, corroborated the story.

DRANK WHILE WIFE WORKED.

Mrs. Euphemia H. Aldrich was granted a divorce from George N. Aldrich on the grounds of desertion and drunkenness. She secured $50 a month alimony and the custody of their five children. For the last four or five years Aldrich had squandered most of his money for liquor she said, and she was compelled to go out working to support herself and family. They were married here about 12 years ago.

SPEIGHT DISCHARGED.

George H. Speight, whose wife, Rose Speight, seeks a divorce from him on the ground of non-support, was discharged yesterday on an order to show cause why he should not pay temporary alimony. Speight was injured while working for the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company. He lost his left hand and part of his forearm. Since the accident he has GREATLY EXAGGERATED.

Such Were the Reports of Lawrence's Death—Also Mark Twain's.

"They tell me you've got me lying on a slab in your morgue, a dead one. If I'm dead I'd like to see myself."

With this salutation Gilbert A. Lawrence, a carpenter, startled the attaches of O'Donnell's undertaking establishment last night, and his very appearance held them in astonishment for several minutes. The several attaches would have sworn that Lawrence was lying on the slab, but there he was standing before them.

It all came about through the identification of the body found Thursday night as that of Lawrence by F. G. Willis, a member of the carpenters' union. Willis called at the mortuary yesterday and after looking at the body said it was that of Lawrence. The word went out that Lawrence was dead, and carried around until he was told himself that he was dead. Then he started to investigate.

The resemblance between the dead man and Lawrence was striking, and sufficiently close as to mislead Willis, a fellow-worker with Lawrence. The man found in the clump of bushes still remains unidentified.

CHARLES L. ROOD'S NEW RESIDENCE.

Mr. Charles L. Rood will have one of the finest residences in Salt Lake when the above new residence is completed. Architect B. O. Mockenberger has given the design his special attention, the interior of 12 rooms and the general plan of the house being so arranged as to afford every convenience and comfort. The house is to be erected on Thirteenth East street, between Second and Third South streets, at a cost of $16,000.

or of the various sections thereof.

The opening meeting of the congress is devoted to, first, the address of welcome by the president of the committee on organization, or by the honorable president; second, response to the speech by one of the delegates; third, nomination of the members of the committees of the congress and of its sections; fourth, communications concerning the composition of the pre-congress committees.

The afternoon of the first and the second days are left entirely free for the work of the committees and sections.

The reading before the congress of the sections of each report of a pre-congress committee is preceded either by a reading of the preparatory work or of an outline of that work.

Each section designates a general reporter, who presents to the congress the total of the resolutions adopted by it. Resolutions which meet with the opposition of 10 members of the congress are without discussion referred to the following congress. However, the congress upon the proposition of its committee, and always without discussion, may decide to return it to the committee for revision.

The international peace bureau has further decided, that the bureau of the national councils and the permanent delegations will be considered as peace societies, and put on the same footing, but these organizations can not acquire or claim a voice in the deliberations of the associations or the affiliated sections.

DROWNING IN SNAKE RIVER.

Motor Boat Capsizes With Large Party Aboard.

(Special to the "News.")

Twin Falls, Ida., June 26.—Through the capsizing of Herbert Kinmer's motor boat, Mrs. Kinmer, his wife, and Lawrence Kipka, a boy 14 years old, were drowned Thursday night in Snake river, about eight miles northwest of Buhl. A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Kinmer, their 15-month-old baby, and a number of friends, left Upper Salmon Falls about 7 o'clock in Kinmer's boat. They reached Riverside about 9 o'clock where the keel of the boat struck the small cable of the ferry at that place, and the strong current caused it to turn turtle. None of the party could swim. Mr. Kinmer grasped the cable and got ashore, while the rest of the party, with the exception of Mrs. Kinmer and the Kipka boy, clung to the boat and drifted down the stream. They were all eventually rescued by F. N. Uhrhach, who put out from shore in a row boat. Mrs. Kinmer and the boy who was lost, were never seen after the boat capsized. The little Kinmer baby was saved by Mrs. Kipka, who held it above the water while she hung onto the boat. The parents of the Kipka boy left for Seattle on the morning of the accident.

CHRONIC RHEUMATISM.

This is the variety of rheumatism that usually attacks the larger joints, knees, hips and shoulders. It is aggravated by cold and damp weather, and for this reason a man afflicted with it can often find relief in the weather. Chamberlain's Liniment applied freely and with vigorous rubbing relieves the pain and makes sleep and rest possible. It will also effect a cure, but will not prevent the recurrence of the disease. For sale by all druggists.

FEDERATION OF LABOR ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Erection of Temple in This City Is Considered—Planning for Labor Day.

The Salt Lake Federation of Labor held its semi-annual election of officers last evening at the regular meeting in the Federation of Labor hall. A. H. Nies was elected president; H. T. Liversay, vice president; Allan H. Burt, secretary; R. E. Gurrie, financial secretary; J. K. Russell, treasurer; R. T. Hughes, sergeant-at-arms; D. F. Lewis, trustee; Carl Osley, janitor.

President Nies reported his trip to San Francisco and Los Angeles, where he went for the purpose of inspecting the labor temples in those cities. The idea of building one in Salt Lake City, was, he said, well received on the coast, and he thought that this city should have one as it was badly needed. He hoped to see such a building erected before the end of next year.

A committee consisting of R. E. Gurrie, chairman, with John Osborn, Theodore Marx, A. E. Harvey and William Pickering, was appointed to prepare for the celebration of Labor day, which will be made one of the most elaborate ever seen in the city.

Delegates from the Cement Workers' union, which was recently organized, were received last night as members of the federation, and the union will therefore be affiliated with the Federation of Labor in the future.

Secretary Burt announced that the street railway employees would hold their annual outing at the Salt Palace July 16, and asked the assistance of the association in making it a success.

RECITAL WELL RECEIVED.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Brines Score Signal Success in Musical Treat.

The many friends and admirers of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Brines filled the First Congregational church last evening to give them a warm and appreciative farewell prior to their departure later for New York. As might be expected, the artists were at their best, well meeting the hearty reception accorded them.

The program was carried out with that carefulness of interpretation, artistic presentation, and excellent quality of song and instrumental performance that have always marked the public appearances of Mr. and Mrs. Brines. Perhaps the most appreciated feature of the evening were the beautiful song cycle of Von Felitz, as brought out by Mr. Brines, and the first production here of Arthur Shepherd's new song that took the prize at the Grand Rapids convention of the musical clubs. Mr. Brines was happy in his rendering of this special number, giving the audience an excellent idea of Mr. Shepherd's genius in the way of song composition. Then another song, by Harriet Ware, a boat song, was given with a piano accompaniment from Mrs. Brines that suggested rippling of the waves, which added to its dramatic intensity and enjoyment. The ballads were sung with charming effect, and well received. In fact, Mr. Brines' efforts were so acceptable that he was recalled after the last number, when he responded with a French song, "The Little Maiden."

Mrs. Brines upheld the high reputation she has made in years past as an accompanist, a taking instance of her part of the program being a fantasia on "Tannhauser." She responded to an encore with Dvorak's "Humoresque." The two artists were warmly congratulated after the recital.
