

BREVITIES.

A man in Cincinnati, advertising for a situation, says, "Work is not so much an object as good wages."

A railroad ticket agent at Savannah has been presented with a watch for his civil answers to the public.

In meditating on a critical occasion a man says to himself, "What shall I do?" a woman, "What shall I wear?"

A darkey preacher, lining out a hymn from memory said:

Flung in a gulf of dark despair, Ye wretched sinners—come out of dar!

We are "told that the smallest hair throws a shadow." And so it does. It throws a shadow over your appetite, when you find it in victuals.—Norristown Herald.

Parties, says the cynic of the Vie Parisienne, are like women; they appreciate our fidelity to them, but they rejoice over our infidelities to another in their favor.

"I can afford to be a little extravagant now, as my husband's been elected to the Legislature," said an Indiana woman, as she ordered six bars of soap sent up.—Detroit Free Press.

An English minister says that "if Scripture said one thing and the London Times another, five hundred Englishmen out of every five hundred and ten would believe the Times."

Never attempt to do anything that is not right. Just as sure as you do you will get into trouble. If you even suspect that anything is wrong, do it not until you are sure your suspicions are groundless.

It is true that there is nothing like advertising, but a public officer, with nothing but his salary of $2,000 a year to live on, should be careful not to give his wife more than $5,000 worth of diamonds at a time.

A wagon said to be eighty-eight years old is still doing daily duty in Connecticut. It is probably companion to the "Wonderful one-hoss shay That ran a hundred years, to a day."

The Grass Valley Union says: "Children in the San Francisco primary schools are required to answer written questions that would have puzzled Sir Isaac Newton."

A wooden-nutmeg peddler of the Morning Journal and Courier, of New Haven, says the reason Washington boasts that it never had a large fire is that it is too rotten to burn.—Washington Chronicle.

Four brothers in Holland are aged respectively 88, 85, 83 and 81. The first two were in the grand army in Russia. The third was enrolled as an imperial soldier, but did not leave France, and the fourth was in the Dutch army. They are all in vigorous health.

Mier is a city in Mexico with 10,000 inhabitants, where, as is said, there are four public schools, only half a dozen drinking places and no lawyers. During a period of twenty-six months there has not been a murder committed in the city.

In despair a French capitalist has invested all his money in cosmetics. He says that national obligations depend on politics and politics are uncertain, and every recognized security has similarly some weak point, but coquetry is human, flourishes everywhere and may always be counted upon.

Augustin Cochin one day interviewed a Paris ragpicker. He said, "What induces you to take up this occupation?" "Pride," was the answer. "How pride?" "I was a carver; but I had a great deal to do with my wages, and my comrades ridiculed my clothes. But I chose new companions among the ragpickers, who do not laugh at me, and I am happy in my tatters."

The readers of agricultural papers have probably met with a good many items of late on the subject of "controlling the sexes." It will be well, perhaps, to explain here that this question is confined to the breeding of farm stock. No difficulty is experienced in regulating the proportion of the sexes in the human family; for when there is an excess of males, all we have to do is to get up a war which can be done at any time, and in a year's time or less the male sex will be reduced to a minimum number. And when there are too many women, which is often the case, they very considerately take the matter in their own hands; and by tight lacing and other effective means, known only to themselves and third-class lecturers, they regulate the matter very nicely.—Ex.

Under the present law the Government Printing Office is required to do all the public printing for the several territories. Delegate Elkins, of New Mexico, this morning requested the Appropriation Committee to amend the law, so far as it pertained to the Territory he represented, so as to allow the printing to be done within it, because of the fact that it is required to be printed in two languages and cannot be done at the government office. It is the intention of the committee to offer an amendment to the legislative bill providing hereafter that all the public printing of the territories shall be done within them.

A sixteen-year-old Springfield lass broke into a billiard-saloon and carried away all the billiard balls because her father spent his time and money there.

THE ONLY MEDICAL FRIEND,

IN cases of Diarrhea, Dysentery, Cholera Morbus and Cholera, is Maguire's Benne Plant, a thirty years' remedy in the Mississippi Valley. The acknowledged specific in 1849 and 1866. Sold by druggists everywhere. Read the following testimonial from the late Father DeSmet, the great Indian missionary: St. LOUIS UNIVERSITY, June 9th, 1872.

Messrs. J. & C. Maguire: Long experience in the use of your valuable EXTRACT OF BENNE PLANT justifies me in saying that I believe it to be an excellent remedy for any form of bowel affections for which you recommend it. On every occasion when I have given it, I am happy to inform you that it has been successful in affording relief. Very truly, your friend, P. J. DESMET, S. J. From Rt. Rev. Bishop Ryan: I fully endorse Father DeSmet's testimonial. P. J. RYAN. Milhan & Son, Agents, New York. Sold also by J. F. HENRY CURRAN & CO., 8 College Place. w12 6m
