

SALOON QUESTION IN LABOR WORLD

Much Suppressed Speculation as
To What Attitude the Toronto
Convention May Take.

TEMPERANCE MASS MEETING

Will be Held Sunday—Gompers Said
To be Anxious to Avoid a Debate on Matter.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—During the five days the American Federation of Labor convention has been in session there has been much suppressed speculation as to the attitude it might take on the question of labor and the saloon. When it was announced early in the week that the temperance mass meeting would be held Sunday under the auspices of the labor department of the Presbyterian church, delegates representing the International Union of the United Brewery Workers, the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance, and the Bartenders' International League of America began to discuss the situation to ascertain whether the liquor question would come up at the convention.

The Rev. Charles Steifel, a fraternal delegate from the federal council of the Church of Christian America, has been advocating a temperance brotherhood among the trades unions and will speak at the Sunday meeting. In the event of an attack in the convention, the representatives of the liquor interests count on the support of the "Gompers" International Union of America, in whose delegation is Samuel Gompers.

It is understood, however, President Gompers is anxious to avoid a debate on the liquor question and he was instrumental today in bringing about a meeting between James L. Sullivan, representing the Bartenders' union, and Mr. Steifel. Mr. Steifel gave Mr. Sullivan to understand that his plans contemplated an attempt to stop the holding of labor meetings in back rooms of saloons.

President Gompers, it is said, agreed to lend his support to a resolution urging the erection of labor temples and other places for holding meetings.

Sunday's meeting will be addressed by the Rev. Mr. Steifel, John Mitchell and John B. Tannon, treasurer of the federation.

RIO GRANDE MECHANICS GET INCREASE IN PAY

Denver, Nov. 12.—After conferences during a week between the officials of the railroad union, the mechanics, machinists, blacksmiths and apprentices employed in the Denver & Rio Grande shops have been granted an increase of pay of 3 cents an hour. The men asked for a 5 cent increase, but compromised on the 3 cent advance. The demands of the helpers are under consideration and their wage schedule will probably be adjusted within a few days. The agreement reached today is retroactive and dates from Nov. 1. It will continue in effect for one year.

HIGHER PRICES ARE INEVITABLE

Markets Are Making Progress in Adjusting Themselves to the Coming New Conditions.

MILLS ARE BEING CROWDED

Buying of Rails Keeps Up—Speculators in Cotton More Cautious—
Hides Are Firm.

New York, Nov. 12.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade Tomorrow will say:

Further progress is being made in the readjustment of the markets to the higher prices that are inevitable in a period of big gold production, reviving industry and active speculation.

While some slackening of demand is reported in a few departments of iron and steel, this is not so in view of the recent pace at which consumption has expanded. In other lines, however, greater activity is reflected and practically all mills find it increasingly difficult to make deliveries. The recent quiet in the structural situation has been followed by the appearance of several important contracts, and it is estimated that new projects contemplated will call for over 100,000 tons of steel. Buying of rails is well maintained, into the next year, and orders for bars are conspicuously large. The break and subsequent recovery in the cotton markets served to make buyers more cautious, but at the same time led manufacturers of cotton goods to be more free in discussing terms of contracts. Prices are being adjusted steadily to the higher costs of production. Higher costs on grain, openings of knit goods for fall season, the preliminary showings of men's wear samples for fall and a continuance of good reports from jobbing and retail centers were some of the important features of the dry goods week.

Footwear conditions continue to improve and trade in all varieties is more general and of larger volume. The price question still restricts trade to some extent, but buyers are becoming broader in their views. Shipments from Boston show a slight increase over forwardings of a week ago and are also larger for the year to date than during the corresponding period of 1908.

There is a good trade in leather and while the demand is not especially large it is sufficient to take about all the available supplies, and many tanners are closely cleaned up. Leather prices rule very firm, especially union and oak sole, which are about 3 cents higher than two months ago. The hides market continues firm, but trading of late has been less active.

NEW UP-TO-DATE HOTEL FOR LOGAN

Association Forming by Leading Citizens With a Capital Stock of $75,000.

(Special Correspondence.)
LOGAN, Nov. 12.—A mass meeting was held in the Commercial Boosters club room last night, attended by about 100 of Logan's leading citizens and business men. The meeting was called to consider the proposition of building an up-to-date hotel for Logan. After a full discussion had been given the proposition, it was decided to form a hotel association with a capital stock of $75,000. $100 per share. Until the site has been selected, no person will be permitted to purchase more than one share of stock. The location will be decided by vote of the first shareholders. The people of Logan will be given 15 days to prefer sites for the new hotel. As soon as the site is selected, shares may be taken in any quantity, and outside capital will be invited to participate.

There was much enthusiasm at the meeting over the proposition, nearly all present agreed to take stock, and there is no doubt of the success of the long mooted project. It is intended to push the matter to an early consummation.

MAGNIFICENT NEW FEDERAL BUILDING

Now Completed and Turned Over to Postmaster Shurtliff, and Will Open Monday.

OGDEN, Nov. 12.—The postoffice in the magnificent new Federal building on the northwest corner of Grant avenue and Twenty-fourth street, will be thrown open to the public for the first time on Monday morning. The building has been completed after having been under construction for the past four years and has cost the United States government the sum of $250,000. The building is, without doubt, one of the finest government structures in the country and very few cities the size of Ogden has been so highly favored. The exterior is of gray sandstone with red granite steps and foundation, and is characteristic of all government buildings with its massive architecture. The main entrance is on the south, there being three large doorways. Entering the main corridor, one is struck by the magnificent display of marble and fresco work, the ceiling of fresco and the floor of chipped marble, trimmed with white marble slabs. There are windows for money orders, registry, and stamps, besides four carriers' windows and the great array of boxes, 95 in number. The latter are finished in bronze copper and each box bears an emblem of an eagle. The corridor is lighted with massive combination gas and electric fixtures of brass. At the east end of the corridor is the staircase and the electric elevator; also the main entrance to the offices of the postmaster and his assistants. The quarters of these officials are very elaborately finished in mahogany and all the office fixtures are the best that can be obtained. Postmaster L. W. Shurtliff, who courteously showed press representatives through the building Friday, takes great pride in these rooms with their beautiful rugs and many conveniences and comforts. The main part of the first floor is devoted to the spacious work rooms, and the up-to-date fixtures of solid oak with their many modern conveniences, are of the very finest material and workmanship. Convenient distributing counters for carriers with disappearing seats, letter tables and files of every description occupy this space together with the pouch racks and other paraphernalia peculiar to postoffice work. The general delivery and stamp departments are screened off from the main work room by seven foot cages, and each is equipped with the best oak fixtures and files. The mail chutes back of the drops are arranged so that there is no possibility of missing any papers or letters. Positioned off from the main room is the registry and money order department. The same modern fixtures are installed here, and each department has its own fire-proof vault and safe. Back of the registry department is a spacious, well equipped room for the handling of all valuable registered matter for this district, as well as the city. Ogden being the distributing point for this part of the state. The tables of cyprus and oak are well arranged to facilitate the handling of mail. The basement is divided into a large furnace room, rooms with lockers for the carriers and clerks and a magnificently equipped marble room with lavatories, closets, and shower bath.

On the second floor is the United States court room and the offices for government officials; the district attorney, marshal, postoffice inspector, witness room, clerk of the court, bailiff, etc. The entire building is beyond criticism and would take a book to give it justice, but beyond a doubt the most magnificent part of the building is the great Federal court room. The walls are carved quarter-sawn oak with fresco panels, the ceiling, which is very high, is also pure white fresco work of beautiful design. The fixtures are massive and seem to have that dignity and character which is required to try the law in the truest sense. Above the judge's seat in the great oak wall trimmings is the word "Justice" in gold letters. The judges' chamber is just off the court room and is typical of the entire structure in its splendid equipment. The third floor is taken up with offices for the railway mail service and rooms for the grand jury; also private offices for the chief clerk of railway mail service and his assistants. The civil service examination rooms are also on this floor. The fourth floor is devoted to dormitories for the railway mail clerks.

It is necessary to move to the new postoffice on Sunday as that is the only time in the week all the clerks and carriers are available and they will all be required to assist in transferring the many articles belonging to this branch of the government service. Postmaster Shurtliff wished this fact to be known and understood by all.

Great credit is due to the local men who worked so hard to secure this beautiful building for Ogden. Among those who did the most toward securing the aid of Senators and Butler and in this movement are Fred J. Kiesel, William Giamann, Lewis W. Shurtliff and members of the Weber club. The officials of the Ogden postoffice department are, Lewis W. Shurtliff, postmaster, Rufus A. Garner, assistant postmaster, Frank B. Clayton, general foreman, Fred A. Hart, money order department, A. M. Hodges, superintendent of registry department and a corps of efficient clerks and carriers, about 50 in number.

WEBER ACADEMY NOTES.

OGDEN, Nov. 12.—The recent storm has brought many old and new students to the academy.

There are but three missionaries in the school this year. This seems strange as there was a large class last year. Missionaries can scarcely afford to let this opportunity pass.

The nature science department is now equipped with a large aquarium holding 15 gallons. It is now in working order and the students will be given a practical course in pisciculture in connection with their zoological work.

The Commercial club of the academy held its first official meeting Thursday, Nov. 11, since its organization. At this meeting, Helmer Scowcroft who is connected with the Scowcroft wholesale house of this city delivered a very interesting and instructive lecture on wholesaling.

They both pleaded guilty and were given the customary sentence of five days or a fine of $5. T. Higgenbotham forfeited bail in the sum of $5 for leaving a team unattended. Henry Griffin, colored, forfeited $15 bail on the charge of vagrancy. George Drusus, the Greek who sold tobacco to the Industrial School boys, pleaded guilty but declared that he was ignorant of the law in this respect and asked for leniency. The judge stated that owing to ignorance on the part of Drusus, he would not impose the maximum penalty of $100 but would sentence him to pay a fine of $40 or spend 40 days in jail.

Buy the Range that Pays for Itself!

Monarch
The Stay Satisfactory Range

Built air tight with rivets—not fastened together with stove bolts and plastered up with stove putty

If ranges aren't supposed to be air-tight, why are the seams and joints of the common steel range plastered up with stove putty? Ask this of the man who tries to sell you a grey iron and steel range.

Everyone who has ever used this kind of range knows how these patted seams open up, how the range requires more and more fuel every month it is burned, and the worst of it is, the more fuel it uses, the harder it is to get good results. What a contrast to the Monarch—built permanently air-tight by hand riveting its heavy steel plates to the Malleable Iron frames.

It does its work just as promptly, with just as little fuel after many years as when new. As stove dealers of long experience we know that the Monarch saves the fuel that is wasted by other ranges. Give us a chance to convince YOU that—
