DESERET EVENING NEWS.

Wednesday April 16, 1890.

FRAGMENTS.

The High Council meets this evening.

There are messages at the Western Union office for John R. Fletcher, O. A. Nelson and John Greene.

D. M. McALLISTER & Co., newsdealers, have received the May number of Leslie's Popular Monthly and other current periodicals.

The Spanish Guitar and Mandolin Club will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock sharp, in Calder's Music Palace. Every member must be present as new instruction begins tonight. A. H. KELSON, Secretary.

The sociable of the Tabernacle choir is to be held at the Thirteenth Ward Assembly Rooms this (Wednesday) evening. It was originally intended that it should take place in the Fourteenth Ward hall, but this being impracticable, the place of gathering was changed to the Thirteenth Ward.

Students' Society.

The next session of the Students' Society of the Latter-day Saint's College will be held in the Social Hall next Friday evening, April 18, at 7:30. The programme will consist of a lecture on "Architecture," by D. C. Young, C. E., a report of recent observations made by the Field Club, by Instructor Willard Cornell, selections by members of the Guitar and Mandolin Club, and other exercises of an interesting character. All are invited.

The Fair.

The Scandinavian Fair opens at 5 o'clock this afternoon under the management of a committee of fifteen Scandinavian ladies. It will be held in the Fourteenth Ward Assembly Hall. The admission fee is twenty-five cents, and each purchaser of a ticket will have one chance in drawing for one of the many handsome and useful articles of art and needle work.

The Fair closes tomorrow night. The exhibition made is very creditable.

For a New Railway.

A petition is being circulated in the southern part of Davis County, asking the county court to grant a right of way from the Hot Springs to Bountiful, for a new railway, to be the extension of a street railway from this city. It is stated that the Salt Lake City street railway is backing the enterprise, and that the round trip rates between Bountiful and this city will be reduced to one-half the present figure. This would prove a great boon to the Bountiful market gardeners in their dealings with the people here.

"Alone in London."

Next Monday evening this play will be presented at the Grand by a fine company, and it will be repeated on the two following evenings. The Boston Journal says of it:

"Alone in London was presented at the Grand Opera House last night. The play, with its melo-dramatic effects, and exciting acts, apparently pleased the audience exceedingly, for applause was frequent and hearty. It was well presented on the Grand Opera stage. The principal parts were taken by Mr. Arthur Sprague, Mr. George B. Winder, Mr. J. H. Bacon, Miss Lizzie Leigh and Miss Maggie Randle."

Off to the Coast.

Brother David James, of this city, had a serious spell of sickness in the early part of the year, doubtless caused in part by his over-exertion in overseeing the work of constructing the sewers and attending to his other business, and after partially recovering suffered a relapse about ten days since which caused him to decide upon taking a trip to the coast for his health. He will leave tomorrow morning for Oregon, accompanied by his wife, and after a brief stay there will sail to San Francisco and afterwards visit other portions of California, and will be absent about three weeks. We wish him a pleasant journey and a safe return to health and home.

Dead Body Found.

The dead body of a man was found Friday afternoon in a bend in Bear River, just south of Honeyville. Christian Gisberg, of Brigham, and a younger brother were laboring in the field west of Matson's place, and becoming thirsty they went down to the river for a drink. The boys were startled on discovering a corpse, lying on a muddy bar about a rod from shore, with the carcass of a dead animal on either side. Coroner Ensign was notified Saturday and proceeded to the place. Identification was impossible. A sack of cut and a plug of chewing tobacco, two jackknives and a dollar and sixty cents were the only articles found on the body. He was a light complexioned man, weighing about 160 pounds, and near 20 years of age. The verdict was that he came to his death by drowning, and it is the general opinion that this was the corpse of one of the men who fell off the bridge in the Narrows some time last February. The ice and cold water prevented decomposition. The body was placed in a coffin and buried on the river bank.—Ogden Standard.

Rich County Jottings.

GARDEN CITY, Rich County, Utah, April 14, 1890.—[Correspondence of the DESERET NEWS.]—The snow has disappeared to this part of Bear Lake Valley, and the grass is beginning to show itself after a long and trying winter. Hay has been very scarce, and at the present time cannot be bought at any price. Many of the most prominent farmers have not sufficient to carry them through with their spring work, which has commenced in earnest. Quite a number are therefore compelled to turn their work teams on the range.

Stock is yet plentiful in the mountains, and the prospects are favorable for a plentiful supply of water this season. The ground is so dry that it will soon absorb all the water flowing from the canyons. Many cattle have starved to death this past winter. There is a prospect for an abundance of good feed on the range this summer. In future our farmers should take warning, and keep all the hay possible and not sell it for the sake of making a few dollars, at the risk of letting their own cattle almost starve.

The health of the people generally is tolerably good, although some little ailments prevails at present. Twenty-two births have occurred here in the last seven months, in a village of about 250 inhabitants.

We hold our fast meetings regularly once a month, and the building is usually crowded. All other meetings are also generally well attended. There appears to prevail a spirit of unity in our midst, and the Saints are trying to keep the commandments of God.

A new meeting-house is in course of construction. The foundation is already laid, and the undertaking will be pushed forward as soon as lumber can be procured.

The Y. M. M. I. A. has discontinued for the season, but the Y. M. and Y. L. will meet conjointly once a month. The young men have taken an active part in the Mutual Improvement Association and many state that they have been greatly benefited thereby.

They therefore asked that the water be brought to the grounds in the pipes and that the property owners be permitted to utilize the same in improving their lots. Referred to the committee on irrigation.

A petition for a retail liquor license was referred to the committee on license.

City Attorney Merritt said that a great deal of unnecessary time was taken up in reading petitions, and suggested that the recorder be instructed hereafter to read only the subject to which the petitions referred. The suggestion was put in the form of a motion and passed.

Mayor Scott reported that he had contracted for 120 tons of 8-inch pipe and 80 tons of 4-inch pipe, and suggested that 100 tons each of 4 and 6-inch pipe be ordered. The mayor also reported that in accordance with the instructions of the council he had contracted for a steam street roller. In regard to the purchase of sprinkling carts, he stated that he had investigated the matter and arrived at the conclusion that wooden carts were better adapted to the needs of this city than iron tanks, and he had therefore contracted with Studebaker Brothers for ten sprinkling wagons of 350 gallons each, at $415 each.

The action of the mayor was approved.

City Attorney Merritt reported that in the case of Frank Yeamans vs. Salt Lake City, the supreme court had affirmed the judgment in favor of the plaintiff for $2500, which, with interest and costs, amounted to $4074.05. The city attorney reported that F. W. Ross had paid $200 for the three acres of land which was appraised by a special committee.

The committee on Jordan and Salt Lake Canal reported that they had visited what is known as the cut, below the canal, and were of the opinion that it would be necessary to lay 36-inch iron pipe through the cut. The Rio Grande Western, which was responsible for the difficulty, had been requested to do the work, but had offered to wall up the cut. This did not satisfy the members of the council, owing to the necessity of getting water to the farmers immediately, and the mayor was authorized to take such steps as might be necessary to bring the railroad to terms.

Building Inspector Grant called attention to the ordinance in relation to fire escapes, and asked that the matter be more clearly defined. Referred to the committee on municipal laws.

The same committee, to whom was referred the petition of Matthew White, asking for a franchise for a street railway from the intersection of Third South and East Temple Streets west to the city limits, recommended that the petition be not granted with respect to Third South Street, from Main to Sixth West, and that it be granted from Sixth West Street to the city limits. Adopted.

Mr. Pembroke introduced a resolution requiring the street supervisor to confer with the county selectmen with regard to putting the east boulevard in first class condition. Adopted.

The committee on license reported back the bill for an ordinance in regard to Sunday concerts without recommendation.

IN JUDICIAL QUARTERS.

Two Criminals Let Off with Light Sentences.

THE WILLIAMS BURGLARY CASE.

One Witness Swears He was There, and Others that He was Not.

THIRD DISTRICT COURT.

The trial of Charles Silver, the Spanlard indicted for rape on a demented girl about 15 years of age, was concluded in the Third District Court yesterday afternoon. Silver admitted that he had been improperly intimate with the girl many times, having enticed her to his room. He denied that he had used any force.

When the court charged the jury they were told that under the indictment they could bring in a verdict for assault, battery or rape.

After being out a short time they came in with a verdict of guilty of assault.

Silver said he was ready for sentence, and Judge Zane said he was very fortunate in not being convicted of rape. He gave him the full penalty for assault—three months in jail.

Charles Flake pleaded guilty to the charge of fornication. Mr. Varian said the defendant had been in jail three months awaiting trial, and recommended him to the mercy of the court. Flake was let off with five days' imprisonment.

There was a dreary wait in court this morning. Several defendants whose cases were set for trial were not on hand. They are in custody in default of bail, and were not brought in from the penitentiary. Three prisoners had been brought in, but in neither case were all the witnesses present.

District Attorney Varian rustled about to find what was the matter. He has been somewhat accustomed to this business of late, but met with such poor success today that he finally grew exasperated and exclaimed to the court, "Nobody seems to represent the United States Marshal's office here but the bailiffs, and they don't know anything."

Judge Zane ordered that all the prisoners that had come in the penitentiary wagon be brought in, but it was ascertained that the trials could not be proceeded with owing to the absence of witnesses.

Mr. Varian—I am ready to try Burdette, Wilkinson, Griffiths, or either of the two others whose cases were set for yesterday, if I can get them in from the penitentiary.

The court ordered the prisoners brought in.

After some delay the case of Chas. Williams, charged with burglary, was taken up. He is accused of having entered the house of Wm. Hobbs, at West Jordan, on the night of Feb. 13, 1890, and having stolen $42.50 belonging to Mr. Hobbs' daughter, Laura Tegner.

Mrs. Laura Tegner was the first witness. She testified—Mr. Williams lives close to father's house; he is familiar with its arrangement; he slept in one of the rooms on Feb. 12; on the night of Feb. 13, I saw him in my room, at the foot of my bed; I was frightened, and could not move; I knew it was Charlie, for I could see him plainly. He got out of the window; I arose, and looked out, and saw two of them going away; I did not know the other one. I had in my dress pocket $42.50; there was other money and some jewelry on a small stand; the money was taken; my cousin, Maggie Dunkly, slept with me; she also awoke, and we alarmed the house.

Cross-examined—I have no ill will toward Williams; he was at our house about every day; that night he had cut the wire screen, and came in through the window; I was not aroused by the noise until after he was in the room; I don't know that I was drugged; I saw Williams in the room, and saw him take hold of the skirt in the pocket of which the money was; it was between 12 and 1 o'clock; on the Sunday before, he had seen money in my purse; he took some money out of his pocket and said he had won it gambling at Sandy; I obtained my money from father.

Wm. Hobbs testified—I am a miner; Mrs. Laura Tegner is my daughter; I remember the robbery; I have known Williams for 12 or 14 years; he has been through my house many times; I was aroused by my daughter about 12:30; she told me she had seen two men, one of whom had been in the room, and they had gone toward the stable; I could not see them and thought she was fabulous; she said it was Charlie Williams; I saw where the window screen was cut.

George H. Hobbs testified—I heard Williams say, on the Sunday before the robbery, "Laura has got lots of money;" this was when he saw her purse; I heard the noise at the window, when some one was getting out; heard the window fall, and heard my sister call out; I got up, but could see no one; she said she had seen Charlie Williams in her room.

Mr. Peck, attorney for the defendant, said he would prove that Mr. Williams was home and in bed at the time the robbery was committed.

Mrs. Hannah Shearin, Charles Williams' mother, testified—On the night of February 13, at 12 o'clock, he came home and went to bed; I opened the door and let him in; he was not out again that night.

To Mr. Varian—He had been up to Sandy, but I don't know whether he was working or gambling; he came before I went to bed; my husband had retired.

Mr. Varian—Was he asleep?

Witness—He can speak for himself.

Mr. Varian—Don't you know?

Witness—How do I know when I wasn't in the room?

Witness, continuing—There is a door to Charlie's room, but it is bolted on the inside; I was ill the next day, and he was up before me, and had gone away.

The cross-examination was quite lengthy, and there were some sharp passages between the attorney and the witness, in which the latter showed her ability to take care of herself in a wordy contest. She stated that her son was arrested a week before she was told of it, because she was so ill. He was the first of her fifteen children who had been accused of wrong doing.

George Shearin, husband of the last witness, testified that he heard Charles Williams come into the house, and that he did not go out again that night.

To Mr. Varian—He went away next morning, and I never saw him again till yesterday; I heard of his arrest two days after he left for Brigham.

Darrel Phillips, nightwatchman at Bingham Junction, was called—He testified that Charles Williams left him at the Bingham Junction roundhouse at 10 minutes to 12, on the night of the robbery.

To Mr. Varian—I had not seen him for about seven months before then, nor have I seen him since till yesterday.

Royal Graves testified—I am a saloon keeper at Sandy; I saw Chas. Williams at my place on February 8th; he had a quantity of money; I do not know how much.

George Hobbs testified—Charles Williams loaned me $3 on February 10; he said he had raised $37 at Sandy, gambling, and showed me a considerable amount; I have not paid him back the $3, because I have not seen him until now.

To Mr. Varian—We came into Salt Lake on election day, and stayed all night.

Charles Williams, the defendant, was called and testified—On the night of February 13th I was at Hall's saloon; went down to the roundhouse; left David Phillips there at 10 minutes to 12, and went directly home; I went to bed, and did not go out of the house again that night; I know nothing of the money stolen; I did not take it; I was not there that night; on the Saturday before I had won $37 at gambling; I have been at Mr. Hobbs' house frequently, and was on good terms with all of the family. I only saw Mrs. Tegner's pocket-book on the Sunday, when I remarked that she had lots of money; she told me she had earned it.

On the cross-examination he did not vary from this statement.

The case went to the jury on the arguments of counsel and the judge's charge.

The jury were out but a few minutes, when they agreed upon a verdict of guilty, and recommended Mr. Williams to the mercy of the court. He will be sentenced tomorrow. The recommendation indicates that there was a doubt in the minds of the jury as to the defendant's guilt.

The trial of Thomas Haegben, on the charge of robbing Chauncy Hansen of $9.50, was commenced this afternoon. Hansen claims that about 5 o'clock on the morning of Feb. 22, two men assaulted and robbed him near the corner of First South and Third West streets. A few hours later he met Haegben on the street and identified him as one of the men. When the police went up to Haegben, he remarked, "I know what you want."

POLICE ITEMS.

In Police Justice Laney's court today, James Holland, Wm. O'Neal and Joseph Murphy were fined $5 each for being drunk.

John Garman was arraigned on a charge of vagrancy, and pleaded not guilty. He will be tried on Friday afternoon.

John Tremayne, Henry Tremayne, Frank Johnson, Norton Curtis, John Lesford, George Johnson and Joseph Adamson were arraigned on a charge of burglarizing R. S. Waldron's store, and pleaded not guilty. The date for the hearing has not yet been fixed.

COMMISSIONER'S COURT.

After Charles Silver, who was tried for rape and convicted of assault, received his sentence from Judge Zane, he was arrested on a charge of fornication, and taken before Commissioner Norrell, where he pleaded guilty. His case will be presented to the grand jury.

DIED FROM NERVOUSNESS.

Said to be the Result of a Visit from Deputy Marshals.

On Friday at noon Deputies Vandercook and McLellan called at the residence of T. B. Heim, of Pleasant View. They represented themselves as real estate agents of an Ogden firm, and stated to Mrs. Helm that they understood Mr. Helm's farm to be for sale. On being told to the contrary they departed towards Hot Springs. Later they returned and found Mr. Helm at home. They informed him that he was under arrest, charged with unlawful cohabitation. He asked them for their papers and they stated they were at Ogden. Until they showed their warrant he refused to come. They attempted to take him by force. A scuffle ensued in which Mr. Helm's clothes were torn. The trouble greatly excited Mrs. Helm, and her husband to save her further trouble agreed to go with the deputies, his wife accompanying him. Mr. Helm, as was stated Sunday morning, was bound over in $1000 to await the action of the grand jury. It was 11 o'clock at night when Mr. and Mrs. Helm got home. Mrs. Helm suffered greatly from the excitement and complained of a pain above her heart. She attended Sunday school and afternoon meeting. Returning much worse, she began to sink rapidly and at 7:30 in the evening breathed her last.

She was 58 years of age. She had borne five children all of which, after being grown, had preceded her to the grave.

Mr. Helm has the sympathy of a host of friends in this sad and sudden bereavement.

The funeral services were held at the Pleasant View school house at 10 a. m., Wednesday, April 16th.—Ogden Standard.

Water Works for Tooele.

The Tooele City Water Company was incorporated yesterday with a capital stock of $25,000, for the purpose of constructing water works for Tooele City. Francis M. Lyman is named as president, Alexander Kerrow vice president, Francis M. Lyman, Jr., secretary and George F. Richards treasurer. These with Hugh S. Gowans, Peter A. Dunday and John Gillespie comprise the board of directors.

The source of water supply will be a fine spring situated in Settlement Canyon about one mile from town. The water will be piped from the spring to the main reservoir just to the east of and above the town. This reservoir will be 28x35 feet in size, and 20 feet deep, and will be constructed of stone. It will hold about 59,000 gallons. The water will be conveyed over the town by a system of pipes.

The Formation of Coal.

It takes a prodigious amount of vegetable matter to form a layer of coal, it being estimated that the present growth of the world would make a layer less than one-eighth of an inch in thickness and that it would take a million years of vegetable growth to form a coal bed ten feet thick. The United States has an area of more than 440,000 square miles of coal fields, and more than 110,000,000 tons of coal were mined in this country last year, enough to run a ring around the earth at the center five and one half feet wide and five and one half feet thick. Competent scientists say that there is enough coal in the United States to supply the world for the next 2,000 years.—New York Telegram.

RESULT OF A QUARREL.

One Man Suicides While Temporarily Insane.

THE OTHER MAN DISAPPEARS,

And Cannot Be Found.—A Strange and Pitiable Occurrence.

A strange affair happened near Ogden yesterday afternoon, the circumstances of which are given as follows: For two years past there has existed some trouble between two neighbors living in Mound Fort, named Gustaf Peterson and Charles Grandin, concerning a piece of school land which Peterson had sold to the other man. They had failed to settle the dispute until quite recently, since which time nothing unpleasant had transpired.

It seems, however, that on Saturday last Grandin's chickens got upon Peterson's strawberry patch, which caused the latter annoyance. It is stated that, although Peterson was in fear of Grandin, he went over to him about the chickens. Some angry words ensued—at least such is the statement made by Peterson's friends—and Grandin struck at the other with a shovel. Peterson dodged and ran away, whereupon Grandin picked up some rocks and threw after him. One of them struck Peterson in the side, breaking two of his ribs. Seeing that Grandin was getting under the fence as if to follow him, and fearing that he might do him further injury, Peterson began to halloo, and at the same time drew a pen-knife from his pocket. Upon this Grandin halted, and Peterson proceeded homeward. Late the same night Grandin was arrested on a charge of assault and taken to the police station, where he spent Sunday, and on Monday morning he came home, having been allowed to go by paying the regular fine.

Yesterday the deceased was somewhat better but very weak. Mrs. Peterson started to town about 11 a.m., but on the way down heard something which she thought sounded like a pistol shot. Imbued with the fears which the last assault had caused, she immediately returned under the impression that Grandin had been to the house or that something fearful had occurred; she learned that what she had heard was only the dumping of the wheel scrapers which were working on the hill, as she found her husband in bed as she had left him. She talked over her fears and incidentally mentioned that the thought had struck her that he might have done himself some injury. He chided her for such belief and expressed a hope that the Lord would not permit him to so far lose his right mind as to commit a deed for which he felt such horror. Quieted in her fears she left the house and went to town, leaving a Mrs. Lundstrum with instructions to call in now and then and see that he was all right. Mrs. Lundstrum fulfilled her mission and went to the house during the wife's absence, three times, twice looking in at the window and seeing him, and the third time she heard that he was up but thought nothing of it. At this last time she saw Mrs. Peterson returning from the city and went down the hill to meet her. They returned and Mrs. Peterson entered the house. Her husband was missing. A search was instituted and she found him in the cellar with the death rattle in his throat. She failed to realize the awful truth and asked why he was lying in that position, and sought to raise him up. She then discovered blood, and called in Mrs. Lundstrum and the neighbors. On examination he was found to be lying on his face, a pistol between his legs and a bullet hole in his right temple.

Coroner Larkin and the city marshal, as well as Dr. Condon, were immediately called for. Peterson never regained consciousness, and died a little before four o'clock. The evidence as taken by the coroner from all who knew anything about it, sustained the supposition of suicide while in a frenzy of pain and fever, or, in other words, temporarily insane. The pistol had lain unused in the house for years, though loaded, and when found showed one chamber discharged. While they were summing up their evidence, word came over from Grandin's that he had left, and that he had said would not be seen again. The reporter immediately interviewed Mrs. Grandin. From her pitiful statement it was learned that she had lived in constant misery since the trouble about the land started, and that she had rejoiced when it was settled. When she came home on Saturday and learned of the new trouble she became almost frantic, and upbraided her husband because he failed to control his temper. In the middle of the night, she stated, while she was so sick that when the officers came she swooned to the floor, he was taken from home and she was left alone with four little children. When he returned on Monday she again upbraided him for having brought them into such a predicament and misery. He, by this time repentant, asked her if amid the trouble he had caused, their poverty and the manner in which he was beset by other matters best known to themselves, he had not enough to make him feel miserable without being forced to hear her complaints. About noon he kissed the children good-bye, who, having a presentiment that something awful to them was about to transpire, cried loudly for him not to go away. He then spoke to his wife as he went out, saying: "Well, mother, I guess I'll go now and it is doubtful if you ever see me again." This, Mrs. Grandin says, was before Peterson's death, and he has not been heard of since. She fears that he has made away with himself. Notwithstanding the fact that some of Peterson's folks had been over to Grandin's house and told of the death, Mrs. Grandin was under the impression that the wound made on Saturday had caused his death. Until told by the reporter that he had shot himself, she thought that her husband's temper had caused him to become a murderer. The Grandins live in abject poverty, Grandin had taken all the money with him and left but twenty cents to his family. Unless help is extended there appears but little else than starvation left for the family. It was a most touching and pitiful story told by Mrs. Grandin, who was almost heartbroken at what had occurred.

Peterson was 53 years of age and came from Westmanland, Sweden, in 1875. Last evening the sorrow-stricken wife was bemoaning her fate, and the whole scene was of such a sad and woful nature as to be unbearable to a sympathetic person.

Some Uses of Salt.

Among the many uses of common salt may be mentioned two which admit of frequent application. Salt put in water which surrounds the ordinary glue pot causes a hotter glue to be obtained than where simple water is used. Salt in the water where mason work is being done in cold weather prevents disintegration by frost.—Ex.

[Kimball, South Dakota, Graphic.]

While the columns of the Graphic are open to any and all unobjectionable advertisements, yet it is quite impossible for us to speak knowingly of the merits of the various articles of merchandise advertised. Particularly is this true of patent medicines. But there are exceptions occasionally, and a noteworthy exception is the celebrated Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This now universally known medicine has been advertised in the Graphic for four or five years, but not until recently had we any personal knowledge of its wonderful efficacy, which has come about through the prevailing influenza and the stubborn cough that has so often attended it. In the writer's family this medicine has, on several occasions this winter, cured a cough that baffled any and all other remedies, and the number of families in Kimball and vicinity, in which this remedy has been used with like effects, attests to its value as a specific for coughs and colds of every nature.
