Many propie in this neighborhood own dry farms, within two to seven miles of this place and they report ex-cellent crops this year, for they have received many showers this summer, which only threatened here. Many of these dry farms have an underground supply of water, and it would only be necessary to sink a well, in some places six to ten feet to obtain a fine supply of water for brigating, but the people, here, have not attempted anything la that line yet, though a lady who lives on one states that while a bare living can be made on a dry farm, one must have water to lay up money.

The threshing of grain begins today. The old machine has been thoroughly repaired and it ought to do good work.

Mr. Waters is an experienced nurseryman and has several thousand fruit and ornamental tree that will be fruit and ornamental tree that will be the proper size to set out the coming spring. He has some 20 different varieties of roses in his front yard, some of which are in bloom at the present time and several other kinds of ornamental shrub are growing alusly. His three-more park of black locusts has made a wonderful growth this setace. Some of the trees that were the size of a lead panell when set out late last spring are now an inch in dismeter and have made a growth of from six to seven feet.—Twin Falls Times. en feet.-Twin Palis Times.
