EVENING NEWS.

Monday . Dec. 13, 1886

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Religious services held in the Tabernacle, Sunday, December 12th, commencing at 2 p.m., President Angus M. Cannon presiding.

The choir sang:

Sweet is the work, my God, my King,
To praise Thy name, give thanks and sing.

Prayer was offered by Elder Robert Campbell.

The choir sang:

We'll sing all hail to Jesus' name;
Honor and praise we give.

The Priesthood of the Eleventh Ward officiated in the administration of the Sacrament.

Elder Aurelius Miner addressed the congregation. He said that no man should attempt to preach on the principles of the Gospel except under the inspiration of the Holy Ghost. The present age was termed the latter days,—the dispensation of the fulness of times. There was in this dispensation a great work to be performed. It was not a fulness of time, but of all times, when God would bring all former dispensations into one, to consummate the establishment of His Kingdom, which would remain through all eternity. This would bring about the greatest revolution that had ever taken place, in order that God's will could be done on earth as it was in heaven. The world had never seen a time when there was a greater revolution than was necessary to fulfill Christ's prayer in this regard. There had been many political and social revolutions during the world's history; these had affected few nations at a time, but the great one would affect the whole world, and all the inhabitants of the earth would be compelled to acknowledge Christ as their king. The result of such a revolution would affect every living being, and also have a bearing upon all past dispensations, for then would be ushered in the Millennium when the Saints would continue to perform a vicarious work for those who died without a knowledge of the Gospel. The work that Christ commenced when He preached to the spirits in prison would still be carried on, and thus bring about the justification of the Almighty in the condemnation of the sinner and the salvation of the righteous, when all had had an opportunity of receiving and obeying the Gospel. During that Millennium the Temples now being erected would be used in performing ordinances for the dead. For this great work, in all its various branches, the Saints had received the Gospel, and the Priesthood of the Lord of heaven. What manner of men then should those be who held the Priesthood? Woe be unto them if they preach not the Gospel by example and precept. They must live so that they are justified before Him, being pure in all things. If they were not in that condition, a work was necessary to bring it about among them. They were not left in darkness, but the way was pointed out clearly in the revelations of heaven, given through the Priesthood of God.

The Saints believed in revelation; if the Lord spoke to them to-day it would be of those things which were necessary for their present guidance. In the revelations given to the Church in this age was the fulness of the Gospel. On the 13th of October, 1886, a revelation was given through President John Taylor with reference to the union of the Saints, the purity of the Priesthood and people, obedience to the laws of God, and the setting in order of all the quorums and also the organizations and families of the Saints. This command of the Lord was given in plainness. In this revelation was the fulness of the duty of the Saints to-day. They were to purify themselves, put away their covetousness, pride and self will, and humble themselves before Him. The Almighty had also promised His people protection. If they had not received that blessing it was because they had not lived their religion as they should have done. God would prepare a people who would honor Him and keep His commandments, and when He came He would find faith on the earth. The Saints should purify and humble themselves for their own salvation. For this end they received the ordinances of the Gospel.

In partaking of the Sacrament they covenanted to do the will of God, that they might have His spirit to be with them, and thus have strength to be saved. This ordinance was also one for the remitting of sins to those who received and obeyed the Gospel. The Holy Ghost was given to the Saints and bore record to them that Jesus was the Christ. No man speaking by this Spirit could call Jesus accursed, notwithstanding he had been put to an ignominious death. Nor could any man say that Jesus was the Christ but by the same Spirit, for by no other means could he know of a certainty who and what Jesus was. This Spirit was to guide into all truth. In the present time, the Saints had observed the ordinances of the Gospel, they were required to bring themselves into subjection to the will of the Lord in all things, and walking in purity in their lives, hold communion day by day with the Father and the Son, through the medium of the Holy Ghost. The Sacrament was then, one of the ordinances by which the Saints could be purified, that they might have the communion of the Holy Spirit and by its guidance avoid error. By this Spirit they could know that they were the sons and daughters of God, and become righteous men as Christ was righteous, and who, being in the form of God thought it not blasphemy to be equal to Him. All the blessings pertaining to the Gospel were predicated on obedience to law. Another ordinance of the Gospel was that of fasting and prayer; the Saints were paying more attention to this than they formerly had done, and they should continue to improve in this respect. Not that they should abuse their bodies by depriving themselves of necessary food, for that was not required by the Lord. But they should deny themselves until their physical natures required sustenance. On one occasion when the disciples failed to cast out an evil spirit, Jesus told them that it was because that kind of an evil power went out only through fasting and prayer. The Lord had fasted that He might gain power to perform that duty which devolved on Him, and in which He maintained His integrity to His Father. He resorted to all the means provided in the Gospel for strength, and was successful. When Satan tempted Him, He resisted him, and finally, when asked to worship the evil one, He arose in the majesty of His strength, and repelled the powers of darkness. From that time Satan has had no power to tempt Him. He died voluntarily, having power to lay down His life, and to take it up again. He submitted to death, that He might burst the bands of the grave, and open the way to the resurrection. All of this power He had received through the ordinances of the Gospel. The human family could also obtain power over evil by obedience to the same principles. And in order to effect their salvation, the Saints were commanded in this day to purify themselves, to put away their covetousness, pride and self-will, live in a closer obedience to the will of the Lord, that they might receive a fulness of the blessings of the Gospel. When they did this they would be delivered from all their enemies, whatever form they might assume. Then would their King protect them and give them power over evil. The command in reference to this was not to a few, but to all the people of God, and was binding upon all. The laws of the Lord were of universal application, and none could claim exemption. The children of the Lord were required to become subservient to His will, that His kingdom could be established and all things be gathered into one, with God the Supreme Ruler of all.

Elder Samuel Musser was the next speaker. He exhorted the Saints to ponder on the principles spoken of, that though the impressions they received they might be benefited. The speaker felt that it was a great privilege to live in the present age and to realize the responsibilities that devolved on the Saints. There was a great work for them to perform in carrying the Gospel to the millions of the world that were in darkness. They should expect opposition until they were sufficiently purified, and should not tremble because of persecution. It would be wisdom in them to seek strength from the Almighty. It was very disagreeable to submit to persecution, but the reward was ample to repay for all suffering. The Saints were not as closely pressed to-day in their temporal affairs as they had been in Missouri, Illinois and other places. The Lord had delivered His people then, and if they lived close to Him, His arm would be made manifest in their deliverance now. The present crusade against the "Mormons" was having one good effect at least, in turning the attention of the youth of Israel to the principles of the Gospel. What was called "Mormonism" had cost the best blood of the nineteenth century, and those who knew it was of God were not likely to surrender it for a worthless bauble. They knew it was worth all they could give for it, and would not throw away the sweet fruit for that which was bitter. The speaker had spent over two years in preaching the Gospel in Germany, and had experienced great joy in that labor. He hoped to see the time when the Saints would live more godly lives and enjoy greater freedom than they do now. In some instances it seemed that when they gathered here they had become neglectful of their duties instead of being more diligent. It was necessary for them to learn that they should still press onward. If they did this the Lord would bless them; if they did not obtain a testimony of the truth of the Gospel and live in accord therewith, they could not withstand temptation and overcome evil.

The choir sang:

As the dew from heaven distilling
Gently on the grass descends.

Benediction was pronounced by Elder George F. Gibbs.

OGDEN DEPARTMENT.

FIRST DISTRICT COURT.

On Friday, December 10th, Abraham Chadwick was arraigned on a two-count indictment charging him with unlawful cohabitation. He took the statutory time to plead.

The case of the People vs. James McDermott was again called. Counsel asked the Court to instruct the jury to return a verdict of not guilty, which was done.

Arrangements were then made and time set for the trials of a large number of civil cases. There is in all over one hundred cases on the calendar.

At 2 p. m. the case of the People against James Pett, charged with assault with intent to commit rape on Marian Keller, near Brigham City, Box Elder County, August 24th, 1886, was called up. Mr. Bierbower appeared for the People and J. N. Kimball and E. R. Cibase for the defense. This case excited much interest and the court room was crowded to its utmost capacity with spectators.

Wm. Gilbert was the first witness. He knew the defendant and also Miss Marian Keller and Miss Kate Pitts. On the 24th of August saw them near a place called Slough Bridge. The ladies were in a buggy, and defendant was on horseback. Witness was accompanied by his wife. They were in a vehicle. They passed the parties and witness went on towards his home; just before he reached there Miss Keller came up in a state of agitation and said: "For, God's sake, Mr. Gilbert, come and help, for there is a drunken man has thrown Katie down and is murdering her." Witness immediately returned to the place near the bridge and saw the buggy, but defendant was gone.

The court room was then cleared of all persons except the parties to the case, the jurors for this term, the reporters, and a few other persons including the members of the bar. The reason for the clearance was that two young ladies were about to testify and felt a delicacy in doing so before a large assembly.

Miss Katie Pitts was next sworn. She is 17 years of age. She lived at Corinne on August 24th. She was returning home from Brigham City in the evening with Miss Keller. Met no one on the road but the defendant before they reached the slough bridge. Defendant was on horseback; he passed them, and after going about two blocks he returned towards them. Witness and Miss Keller were on the bridge. He grasped at the bridle of witness' horse; she struck at him and the horses. He still held on; in the struggle the buggy was turned over and rolled down near the water. She struggled with the defendant for some time when he let loose of her, and took hold of Miss Keller, and threw her down. Miss Pitts then flew to the assistance of Miss Keller. In the melee witness' clothes were disarranged and soiled, but not torn. Miss Keller being free ran after Mr. Gilbert, whom they saw at a distance, to request him to come and help them. Met him near the bridge. After Miss Keller went for help defendant got on his horse and galloped off, and witness took her horse and went towards her home. There was a struggle, in which the two ladies fought desperately in their own defense.

Miss Keller corroborated the testimony of Miss Pitts. Both were hurt in the struggle.

A number of other witnesses were sworn, and at the close of the testimony for the prosecution the Court adjourned until Saturday at 10 a. m.

LIVER REGULATOR
For all Diseases of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Spleen
This purely vegetable preparation, now so celebrated as a Family Medicine, originated in the South in 1828. It acts gently on the Bowels and Kidneys as a corrects the action of the Liver, and is, therefore, the best preparatory medicine, whatever the sickness may prove to be. In all common diseases it will, unassisted by any other medicine, effect a speedy cure.
The Regulator is safe to administer in any condition of the system, and under no circumstances can it do harm. It will invigorate like a glass of wine, but is no intoxicating beverage to lead to intemperance; will promote digestion, banish headache, and generally tone up the system. The dose is small, not unpleasant, and its virtues undoubted.
No loss of time, no interruption or stoppage of business while taking the Regulator.
Children complaining of Colic, Headache, or Sick Stomach, a teaspoonful or more will give relief.
If taken occasionally by patients exposed to MALARIA, will expel the poison and protect them from attack.
A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.
I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, prompt and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system.

Omaha, Council Bluffs AND Chicago.
The only line to take to Des Moines, Marshalltown, Cedar Rapids, Clinton, Dixon, Chicago, Milwaukee, and all points East. To the people of Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, Washington and California it offers superior advantages not possible by any other line.
Among a few of the numerous points of superiority enjoyed by the patrons of the road between Omaha and Chicago, are its two trains a day of PAY COACHES which are the finest that human art and ingenuity can create; its PALACE SLEEPING CARS, which are models of comfort and elegance; its PARLOR DRAWING ROOM CARS, unsurpassed by any; and its widely celebrated PALATIAL DINING CARS, the equal of which can not be found elsewhere.
At Council Bluffs the trains of the Union Pacific Ry. connect in Union Depot with those of the Chicago & Northwestern Ry. In Chicago the trains of this line make close connection with those of all Eastern lines.
For Detroit, Columbus, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Pittsburg, Toronto, Montreal, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and all points in the East, ask the ticket agent for tickets via the
