INHUMAN TREATMENT OF BOYS

restimony of Dr. E. M. Conroy, Assistant Supt. W. E. Kneass, J. H. Scott and Louis Miller.

OGDEN, June 22 .- A great deal of inerest and feeling was aroused yesterav afters oon in the investigation that being conducted in relation to the harges against H. H. Thomas, suerintendent of the state industrial hool at this place, when a witness told the punishment that had been meted to an inmate for an infraction of e rules, and of the subsequent death

The case referred to was that of Ole Peterson and was told at the forenoon ession by J. H. Scott, formerly car-enter and instructor in manual train-ng at the institution during the years 1907 and 1908, and who was on the and for the greater part of the ay, Scott testified that in August, 307, Ole Peterson was found chewing bacco and was thrown into the cell and fed on bread and water for three weeks. While confined in the cell the weeks. While confined in the cell the boy contracted the typhoid fever and died within a very short time. Another case testified to by Scott was that of the case of the Capien or Green boy, as he was called, which oc-eurred during the fall of 1907. At this time the boy was so severely whipped with the strap that a piece of flesh was tern from his arm. The next day in the plunge room the witness stated that he noticed several big, black, blue and green welts across the boy's back. In relation to the punishment given three boys who attempted to escape, three boys who attempted to escape. Scott said that it was during the fall of 1973 Bates, Tripp, Perkins and Wells, four of the boy inmates had planned four of the boy inmates had planned to escape. Before the carrying out of their plan Wells told the superintend-int and all four were placed in the cell, only the next day Wells was released from the cell for telling the superin-lendent and was rewarded with extra merits. The witness said the other there have never there the the cell of three boys were kept in the cell on bread and water diet for 10 days and "flogged."

Scott then told of the case of Thomas son returning home at midnight with a horse and buggy and wanting the night watchman to "dig" up a couple of the boys to take care of his horse. This was the case which was referred to at the mass meeting held by the clizens and referred to in the clizens and referred to in the columns of the press some time figo. The witness said that he referred young Thomas to Asst. Supt. Kneass, who asked what the horse had been used for and said. "Why don't you put away your own borse, you lazy fellow." The superin-iendent returned from California and his son who was I's years of age report-Ichaent returned from California and his son who was 17 years of age report-ed the matter to his father. Scott was "called on the carpet" and asked him if he had spoken to his son in that man-ner. Scott replied in the affirmative and Thomas said, "that was not the proper way to speak to the son of the smerintendent of an institution of this superintendent of an institution of this kind." The superintendent also said that there were a number of dangerous buses in the barn and that his son might be injured and the wilness said that someone clse's son might also be injured. The wilness stated that Thomas blamed the assistant superin-Indext for the refusal to have the boy's borse taken care of than any one else. In the closing of his testimony Scott festified that T. B. Evans, a member of the board of trustees, furnished gro-ceries for the school which was con-trary to the state statutes. W. E. Kneass, assistant superinten-dent of the institution, was called as the next witness and said that he had heid that position since October, 1905, and remembered the occurrence of the superintendent's son wanting to have some boys take care of his horse at midnight. Said that the nightwatch-man had come to him and told him of the boy's request to have his horse taken care of "the witness said he told year. of the boy's request to have his horse taken care of. The witness said he told the night watchman to tell young Thomas that is was not the business of the institution to take care of his horses at such an hour of the night. The next day Superintendent Thomas took Captain Kneass to task for not busines the hou's horse taken each of having the boy's horse taken care of, and said to witness that he under-stood that he had ordered the boy to take care of his own horse and wanted to know whether the witness had for-gotten himself or not and that he had no business to take the stand he had. Pending an investigation into the case by the board of trustees, Captain Kneass was suspended, but subsequent-ly restored to his position. The witness also told of the strap that was used to also told of the strap that was used to whip the boys and girls and said that the licks varied from 10 to 25. Captain Kneass confirmed the story told by Scott of work done on Superintendent Thomas' house in the city at the ex-pense of the state. He knew of two instances where work of this kind was done. Scott worked three weeks on done. Scott worked three weeks on Thomas' house. Kneass made out the payroll for that month, allowing Scott $42 for 21 days. The payroll was made out under the instructions of Thomas and certified by him as correct. The other instances of work done on the outside was by Griffin, instructor in plastering. The witness was then excused so he could give a batallion drill with the boys.

boys. Dr. E. M. Conroy, a member of the board of trustees for four years end-ing January, 1909, was called to the stand and told of seeing one of the boys with an Oregon boot upon him. He said that he spoke to Thomas and the boot was taken of Ha was ay the boot was taken off. He was ex-cused but will probably be called again Louis Miller, a former shop employe, told of the punishment that had been administered to boys when he was con-nected with the institution. One case of the use of the strap was about two and a half years ago, the victim was John Kooyman, who was given a "flogging" similar to that given Caprain. The witness also told of the poor qual-ity of food served the inmates.

The testimony of the witnesses of the day did not vary much under the cross examination by the attorneys for Thomas. At the conclusion of the session an adjournment was taken un-til Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

DAMAGE SUIT FILED.

OGDEN, June 22 .- Marian Rheinbold has brought suit in the district court against the Ogden Rapid Transit com-pany to secure damages in the sum of $5,000 alleged to be due for injuries substanced in the derailing of one of the defendant's cars. The complaint al-leges that on May 27 of this year, while riding in a street car north of the city, near the Harrisville canal, the car went off the track and the plaintiff was thrown against the side of the car, re-ceiving injuries for which damages are asked.

> COOL WEATHER KEEPS BACK HIGH WATER ON THE GRAND

(Special Correspondence.)

MOAB, Grand Co., June 18.—Real summer is just beginning to make it-self felt in these parts. The days are self felt in these parts. The days are very warm, but the nights are still nice and pleasant.

On account of the cool weather, up to within a few days, Grand river has not given very much trouble, with the exception of a few days, when the ca-ble was put out of commission. It looks now as if the season would pass without any damaging high water, al-though the mountains are still full of heavy snow.

Scalet fever has again broken out in this little community, but as a strict quarantine has been observed, the disease is confined to one solitary case. Everybody is busy putting up the first crop of alfalfa. The ranchers generally report the crop good.

MARTIN PROUD OF THE DIVE

Alderman Who Designed it, Rises to His Feet to Make Fervid Speech Favoring its Existence.

When a set of resolutions adopted at a public meeting on the west side calling for an enforcement of the laws and the closing of the stockade were presented to the city council last night. four stalwart members of the "American" party came to the defense of Mrs. Dora A. Topham, the notorious Belle London, and they received a scathing denunciation from Councilman F. Fernstrom. After considerable debate, Councilman Fernstrom's motion ap-proving the sentiment of the resolutions and referring them to the chief of police and the city attorney associated to enforce the laws, was passed. It was carried by the following vote: Yeas-Cowburn, Fernstrom, Hodgson, Holley, Cowburn, Fernstrom, Hodgson, Holley, Hall, Martin, Murdoch, Raybould, Reedall, Stewart, Wood, Nays-O'Don-nell, President A. J. Davis. Martin and Stewart, two of the de-fenders, voted with the majority when they saw that the motion would be carried. As soon as the vote was an-neurosed Stewart moved for a recennounced, Stewart moved for a recon-sideration. Then he withdrew his no-tice of re-consideration because he said he did not want to be misunderstood. Martin at once gave notice that he would ask for a reconsideration next week. Before this motion was passed referring the matter to the chief of po-lice and the city attorney, Councilman Stewart moved that it be referred to the police and prison committee for investigation. It was lost by a vote of seven to six. In speaking in favor of the resolu-

In speaking in layor of the resolu-tion, Councilman Fernstrom said that the "American" members of the coun-cli dare not ask the chief of police to close the stockade. He said that he had heard rumors that several mem-bers of the administration were stock-holders in the concern and that the notorious aroung who manages the notorious woman, who manages the place, had been assured absolute pro-

For the last six months, he said, that the enforcement of the laws had been a farce. The liquor ordinance which was passed several months ago, he de-clared, is being violated every day, and that the police know about it. He and that the police know about it. He referred to the gambling which was be-ing carried on in the back rooms of saloons and in the social liquor clubs. Fernstrom scored the police for not making an arrest in the stockade, al-though the officers walked through the place night after night. In conclu-sion be sold: sion he said:

"You might as well face the problem now," said he, "as to put it off until next week or to another date. We next week or to another date. We passed a liquor law not long ago and won the applause of the public for our action. I have in my hand, however, a record of the juvenile court, which shows that several saloonkeepers have been prosecuted for seiling to minors, one of these hering pleaded suilty. We one of these having pleaded guilty. We have had no knowledge of it. Was the liquor law enacted as a 'political trick' to put the public to sleep?"

"If the American party wants to shoulder the stockade," said he, "let them do it." The speaker said he had never promised his support to the stockade and thought the council should force
