Ontario is 500 miles away, but Mayor Lackey did not want to rely upon letters, telegrams or long dis-tance telephone communications. He was at the Oregon Short Line's head-quarters yesterday. was at the Oregon Short Line's head-quarters yesterday. "I will lay every freight on the Oregon Short Line on a siding and keep it there, using my engines to haul coal with before I will let the people along the road suffer." says Mr. Bancroft. "The Oregon Short Line has cars and engines enough to haul coal but the mines are running behind in their output." Mayor Lackey will return to his home with the assurance that coal is fortheoming.

J. W. Bird of 2222 south West Temple was wearing a smile that refused to come off, while another man in the rooms wore a countenance of gloom which was just as permanent a fixture. They had been keen rivals for honors among White Rocks, and Bird came off with a bunch of blue, red and green ribbons, which denoted that he had taken first, second, third and fourth honors in about everything. There was one thorn in his side, however, and it was that some outsider—a very rank outsider—who was unknown to all the old professionals, had secured the blue ribbon for the first pen. J. M. ORGANIST SURPRISED.

Murray Choir Invades the Residence Of Miss Magdalena Christensen.

Just Within Contract's Limit. The Bingham low grade line was completed yesterday, just eight hours to the good within the limit named in the contract. The line cost $1,000,000 and covers a distance of 14½ miles from Garfield junction to its upper terminus. There was a gap, 5,100 feet long remaining yesterday morn-ing but as every man was put to work to fill this in the line was com-pleted at 4 o'clock. The contract called for its completion at midnight. An average of 500 men, 200 teams, two dinky engines and a steam shovel have been engaged in building the line for the past nine months. A very pleasant social event transpired at Murray last evening, when the members of the Murray choir-35 strong, drove up in sleighs to the resi-dence of Miss Magdalena Christensen, at East Mill Creek, and gave her a genuine surprise. The choir was ac-companied by the Murray ward bishop-ric, and the object of the excursion and party was to express to Miss Christen-sen the appreciation of the choir of her excellent services as organist ren-dered at the recent concerts given by that organization. A delightful eve-ning was spent, consisting of games and social converse. Refreshments were alco served, and all present voted the occasion as one long to be remembered. pired at Murray last evening, when the Salt Lake Route and Steamship Com-Salt Lake Route, has confirmed the re-port that a traffic agreement has been reached between his roal and a steam-ship company. Ships are to be run be-tween San Pedro and Honolulu, with service to ports of Japan and China. The project's details have not yet been made public, the name of the steamship company, for instance being kep: se-cret. Mr. Clark explains that the affair consists of an agreement, simply and involves no investment upon the par; of the raliway company. The establish-ment of an orient steamship service in connection with the Salt Lake, promises much, not for California alone, but all states pierced by the Clark road. Utah's southern iron fields will be afforded a market in the orient for one thing.

JOHN F. HARDIE PASSES AWAY.

John F. Hardie died this morning at St. Mark's hospital from pneumonia. The de-ceased, who is well known in local busi-ness and Masouic circles, was brother-in-law to Judge Le Grande Young ard broth-er of Mrs. James Ferguson and Mrs. Wil-liam Lynch.

Don Davidson, the elevator boy in the Templeton building, was reward-ed this morning, by the presentation of a check for $25 from the Zion's Savings Bank and Trust company, in token of his bravery during Saturday afternoon's fire. The heat was so in-tense in the elevator shaft that the Babbitt metal in the elevator cage melited, and the smoke was so dense that anything like reliable vision was about an impossibility. Young David-son is in receipt of many compli-ments for his nerve and cool headed work.

work. Cashier Beebe this morning, stated his belief that the loss to the building would not be much over $5,000, but the losses of tenants had not yet been figured up. However, they would be smaller than was at first expected. He criticises the local insurance repre-sentatives for not acting more rapidly in adjusting the losses.
