ATTORNEY LOMAX applied for the admission of the girl Monson, of South Cottonwood, to bail, in the Third District Court this morning, and stated that there was no evidence of violence having been used to effect the death of the child. Mr. Dickson said he understood there was evidence to that effect, but he had not had time to examine the testimony. The application was not granted, pending an inquiry into the case by the prosecutor.

to the true American's heart to give him courage for every duty that is im-posed upon him—the lovely smile of women. We know that frequently when soldiers are drawn up in battle, that the strains of martial music will nerve them to deeds of daring and to feats of valor. But it seems to me that if upon some great occasion when men were desired to do some great deed, they were inspired and encouraged by the smiles of women, it would have more and greater effect than all the martial strains from all the instra-ments that have ever been invented. Now, the speaker that has bidden me welcome has asked for me wisdom that I may do my duty in the official station to which I am called. I, too, look to the Giver of all wisdom to calighten my mind, to strengthen my heart, and to give me nerve to do faithfully, and homesty, my duty as the representative of the method. CHICAGO, 8.—Information was re-ceived at police headquarters late last right to the effect that Herr Most, the anarchist, would arrive in this city this morning. The dispatch stated that he boarded the train at Cincinnati and would reach Chicago at 7:15 this morning. The authorities immediately determined to arrest him as soon as he arrived, and detectives were detailed to make the capture. The officers bo make the capture. The officers boarded the train, and the conductor pointed out the person supposed to be Most, but the detectives failed to re-cognize him from the description they had of him.
