

LOCAL NEWS.

FROM SATURDAY'S DAILY, NOV. 7

Riverton Organization.—The annual election of officers for the Young Men's Improvement Association of Riverton has taken place with the following result: Charles M. Noakes, president; N. H. Silcock and Andrew Nielson, counselors; Wm. H. Bowlden, secretary; S. L. Howard, assistant; Wm. H. Silcock, treasurer; A. D. Silcock, librarian.

Obsequies.—The funeral of Brother John Parkin, Sen., who died at his home in South Bountiful, on the 4th, occurred yesterday, upon which occasion nearly the whole of the ward turned out to show honor to his memory. Bishop Brown presided over the services, and consolatory and instructive remarks were made by Elders John Cook, of Mill Creek; James May, of South Cottonwood, and H. W. Naisbitt, of this city. The remains were interred in the Bountiful cemetery.

After a Sheep Thief.—Samuel Forcett, of Centreville, has lost 150 head of sheep, and ascertains, so we learn, that the man who took them is John Gallagher; he is aged 25, height 5 feet 11 inches, is dark complexioned, has a full, rough beard, somewhat dark; on his right arm, pricked in ink, is a figure of a lady holding an American flag in each hand, and on the left arm a sailing vessel flying the same emblem. He is supposed to be in this city, and the officers are on the lookout for him. Citizens generally should also be on the alert.

$50 Reward.—On Monday last, John Riddle, lately from Grass Valley, Utah, hired a horse and buggy from Thomson & Jurgenson, to go to the Warm Springs. Since that time nothing has been seen of man or outfit. The horse is a large chestnut colored one. Riddle is light complexioned, has a light mustache, is about six feet high, weighs about 175 pounds, and is 25 or 26 years of age. He is from Nebraska, where his father now resides. During the past summer he has been employed by his uncle at Grass Valley. A reward of $50 will be paid by Thompson & Jurgenson for the delivery of the whole outfit to them or the officers in this city.

From Virginia.—We had a call today from Elder Andrew W. Spence, of Wellspring, who arrived here last evening from the "Old Dominion," where he has been filling a mission for the past two years and eight months, having left home on the 27th of February, 1883. For the first five months of his absence he labored in East Virginia, and after that up to the time of his release to return home, with the exception of once when he returned there on a brief visit, in West Virginia. Like that of most Elders who go to the South, his experience was varied; at some times he had encouraging success, finding people who were willing to listen to his testimony and investigate the principles of the Gospel, and at other times having the consciousness of the approval of the Almighty alone to support and encourage him, the people among whom he traveled manifesting no interest whatever in the message he was sent to bear to them. He, however, met with kind treatment as a rule, and formed the acquaintance of many persons whose friendship he prizes.

As an instance of how openings are occasionally effected for the Elders, Brother Spence relates that while he and Elder Vickers were laboring in Logan County, W. Va., in June, 1884, they were waited upon by a couple of officers who had a warrant for their arrest on suspicion of their being connected with a band of robbers who infested that part of the country. The Elders readily opened their satchels and displayed their books, etc., and explained the object of their presence so satisfactorily that the officers not only allowed them to pursue their journey but accepted some of their tracts, with a promise to read them, and invited the Elders to preach in the Logan Court House and enjoy their hospitality. Such an invitation was not to be despised, and they accepted it with thanks, and improved their opportunity, the result being that an opening was effected, and a branch of twenty-six Saints now exists there, where before there were none.

Upon one occasion, when Elders Spence and Clapp were laboring in Lincoln Co., they were ordered by a mobocrat named James Murphy, who was instigated by a Methodist preacher and others of equal pretensions to piety, to leave the county within three days on pain of being driven out by 100 armed men. The Elders declined to go, and a friend came to their relief, and on his own volition had Murphy arrested for making the threat. Although no trial resulted, the arrest had the effect of quieting Murphy and his colleagues, and the Elders were not molested.

Elder Spence considers the prospect for missionary work very good now in Lincoln and Wayne counties. He enjoyed the privilege during his absence of initiating sixteen persons into the fold by baptism, and was present at the baptism of quite a number more. He greatly enjoyed his labors while abroad, gained a good experience, and, with the exception of having contracted sore eyes during an epidemic of that nature in the South, from the effects of which his optics are still weak, he has enjoyed pretty good health. He is glad to get home again, and by no means sorry that he went upon his mission.

GRAND JURY PRODUCTS.

H. GROW, J. W. KEDDINGTON AND A. J. FOULGER ARRAIGNED—THREE INDICTMENTS AGAINST FOULGER.

This morning warrants of arrest were served on Henry Grow, John W. Keddington and Herbert J. Foulger, and when they reached Marshal Ireland's office they were notified that the grand jury had presented indictments against them for cohabiting with their wives—one each against Mr. Grow and Mr. Keddington, and three against Mr. Foulger.

The three defendants repaired to the Third District Court room, and Henry Grow was first called. The indictment was read, charging that from December 1st, 1882, to October 15th, 1885, he lived and cohabited with Julia M. Grow and Emma Sarah Rawlins Grow as his wives, contrary to law. The document was dated Nov. 6th, and signed by Morris R. Evans, foreman of the grand jury.

To the clerk's inquiry, "What is your plea to this indictment, guilty or not guilty?" Mr. Grow responded, "Not guilty." The defendant was then released on the bond of $1,500 furnished before Commissioner McKay.

John W. Keddington, of the Tenth Ward, was next called. The indictment in this case, which was found on the testimony of the defendant himself, states that between December 1, 1883, and May 1, 1885, John W. Keddington unlawfully cohabited with Aquila E. Keddington and Mary Jane Tall Keddington as his wives.

Before the defendant entered his plea, Judge Harkness arose and stated that, to relieve the mind of the District Attorney from doubt, the defendant would enter a plea of guilty to the charge, if the date of sentence could be delayed for about ten days. To this Mr. Varian assented.

Court—What is the plea?
Mr. Keddington—I plead guilty.
Sentence will be pronounced on Saturday, November 21st. The defendant was allowed to go at liberty on the bail given before Commissioner McKay, $1,500.

Herbert J. Foulger then came forward to plead to the indictment against him, one for the offense under the Edmunds law named therein, and two as the result of McKay's "segregating" manipulation of the grand jury to punish Mr. Foulger for having acted in the ecclesiastical position of Counselor to a "Mormon" Bishop. The first indictment read charged the defendant with cohabitation with Eliza Hagell Foulger and Charlotte Maria Foulger as his wives, from Jan. 1, 1884, to Dec. 31, 1884. To this the defendant entered a plea of not guilty.

The next indictment alleges the same offense to have been committed with the same ladies between Jan. 1, 1885, and Oct. 1, 1885. Mr. Foulger also replied to this, "Not guilty."

The third charge limits the offense between Dec. 1st, 1882, and Dec. 31st, 1883, in the same relationship as the others. The defendant's plea to this was not guilty.

The former bond given before the Commissioner was made to serve on one of the indictments, and the defendant was instructed to furnish $1,000 bail on each of the others—$3,500 in all.

As Mr. Foulger was passing assistant district attorney Varian, he remarked, with a touch of sarcasm, "Have you lost any, or haven't you got a few more?" referring to the multiplicity of indictments.

"Any more?" viciously replied Mr. Varian; "you'll have plenty of these before you are through."
Mr. Foulger then went before Commissioner McKay to give the required bail, and asked that functionary whether Mr. W. H. Rowe would be acceptable as a bondsman.

McKay gruffly replied, "Mr. Rowe is now on for about $20,000. I'll take him if you can't get anybody else." The splenetic Commissioner had evidently lost sight of the fact that Mr. Rowe is liberated from the bonds of some who have gone to prison, and that his liabilities do not even approach the sum named.

Mr. Foulger, however, furnished the necessary sureties.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, NOV. 9

Immigrants on the Way.—By telegram from Elder Anthon H. Lund we learn that the company of European immigrants of whom he has charge—numbering 325 souls—left Council Bluffs for the west at 11.30 a. m. yesterday. If nothing unusual occurs to cause delay they will reach this city to-morrow evening.

"Mikado" Once More.—The managers of "The Mikado" company, in compliance with a very generally expressed desire, have decided to give another performance of the opera in the Theatre, and have selected Friday evening next, Nov. 13, as the date. It is expected that the presentation will be accompanied with more vim than on former occasions, and that the entertainment will be considerably improved.

Burglars Arraigned.—This morning the three men who broke into the Palace Saloon, Wm. S. Martin, Chas. Beardsley and J. W. Brown, were arraigned in the Third District Court on a charge of burglary, a new indictment having been found against them. Judge Hoge was appointed as attorney for the defendants, who, after a few moments' consultation, entered a plea of not guilty. Martin's bail was fixed at $800, and Beardsley and Brown will be tried next Monday.

A Too Smart Chap.—Saturday the police arrested a young man who gave his name as L. B. Mason, on several charges, which will probably secure him board and lodging for a while. The first of these is obtaining meals under false pretenses at the Overland House; the next is getting a pair of gloves from Mullett & Co.'s by making fraudulent representations; then stealing a couple of keys belonging to the Overland; and last, but not least, petit larceny, having stolen from Wilhelmetz, "the Flying Dutchman" of the Sixth Infantry band, a trombone and clarinet. Mason was arraigned before Justice Speers this morning on a petit larceny charge, and entered a plea of not guilty. The trial was set for this afternoon, and bail fixed at $200, which Mason was unable to find.

Sentenced.—By telegram received from Elder Geo. C. Parkinson, dated Blackfoot, Idaho, Nov. 7th, we learn that he and his seven brethren arraigned before Judge Hays for sentence—the seven—convicted of the monstrous crime (?) of cohabiting with their wives, and he on the charge of having aided one of his brethren in eluding the pursuit of certain deputy marshals—were rattled off as follows: J. M. Phelps, Alexander Leatham and Arthur Peck six months' imprisonment, a fine of $300 and costs of suit, amounting to $100, each; Nahum Porter, three months' imprisonment and a fine, $150; Isaac B. Nash, three months' imprisonment; A. L. Blackburn (who pleaded guilty) six months' imprisonment and a fine of $300; George C. Parkin on, one year's imprisonment and a fine of $100.

W. C. Garrison (an apostate), convicted of unlawful cohabitation, made all the promises the court required and was let off with three months' imprisonment.

All the prisoners left Blackfoot on Saturday evening by train for Boise.

Coalville Items.—A correspondent writing from Coalville yesterday sends the following items of news:

The Summit Stake Conference convened yesterday with a small attendance. Besides the officers of this Stake, there were present from Salt Lake City, Bishop John Q. Cannon and Elder S. B. Young.

The coal mines here are being worked to their full capacity, and business is quite lively.

Several new and substantial buildings have been erected during the past season, which are a credit and ornament to the town.

The new hotel is in running order, and open for guests. A large hall is fitted up in the top story for amusements.

The co-operative store does the mercantile business of the town.

The DESERET NEWS is well patronized here, and the agent, Brother William Hodson, is energetic and accommodating to the people.

Better grain and heavier crops have been raised here during the present year than ever before, with prospects for a good market.

Vast numbers of sheep pass through here daily, going west to winter ranges. They appear to be of fine quality, and are in good condition.

The new Stake House is nearing completion and presents an imposing appearance.

JOHN P. BALL

HELD UNDER BONDS ON THE CHARGE OF COHABITATION.

On Saturday afternoon John P. Ball, of the Third Ward, was brought before Commissioner McKay, for preliminary examination, having been arrested by Deputy Collin. The complaint alleges that Mr. Ball cohabited with Emma Ball and Phebe Birkenhead as his wives, contrary to the provisions of the United States statute. A plea of not guilty was entered, and the examination of witnesses commenced. Isabella Ball, the 13-year old daughter of the alleged plural wife, testified to the defendant living with both wives, one of whom, Emma, had no children.

James and Isaac Birkenhead, brothers of Phebe, testified that their sister was reputed to be the wife of the defendant.

Mr. Ball was held in $1,000 bail to await the action of the grand jury, Jas. W. Eardley and D. L. Davis being sureties.

The witnesses in the case appeared before the grand jury this morning.

A MODEL JUROR.

A BEAUTIFUL ANTI-"MORMON" SPECIMEN, AND MORE OF HIS WORK.

C. J. Smith, to fortune but not to fame unknown in this part of the United States, has turned up as the chief actor in another swindling transaction perpetrated some time before his departure from here, some weeks ago. It appears that Smith, who was engaged in the real estate business, about a year ago, effected a loan on a mortgage for W. A. Dunbar, from A. C. Brixen, proprietor of the Valley House, turning over the mortgage and accompanying note at the same time, and paying six months' interest in advance. A few weeks ago Brixen called at Dunbar's house for the other half-year's interest, but the latter not being at home at the time called on Brixen later and asked to see the papers, when he immediately pronounced them worthless. The hotel man then hunted up the check given White, of which Dunbar was made the payee, his name being forged (as Brixen has learned from cashier Hills, of the Deseret National Bank, where it was paid) on the back of it as an endorsement. Smith had, however, cashed it at Walker Brothers' bank, and somebody is "out" of course.

Smith was a "loyal American gentleman," having, as a trial juror, assisted in the conviction of several "Mormons" for the blood-curdling crime of cohabiting with their wives.

PRIESTHOOD MEETING.

At the Priesthood meeting held in the Assembly Hall on Saturday, the 7th inst., Apostle John W. Taylor was present; also William Eddington, of the High Council; President Elias Smith of the High Priests Quorum; as well as a large representation of Seventies.

All the Wards of the Stake were represented by their presiding officers except the 5th, 8th and 14th of this (Salt Lake) City, and Draperville of the country.

Eight Quorums of Elders were not represented. Sixteen young men who had been recommended by their respective Bishops for ordination as Elders were endorsed by unanimous vote of the meeting.

Apostle John W. Taylor discoursed upon a variety of subjects, and instructed Presidents of quorums and Bishops of Wards to watch carefully the tendency there was to wrong-doing among the people. He said that purifying and cleansing were necessary to make the people acceptable to God. He advised the Bishops and all those who held the higher Priesthood to have a special watchcare over their little boys, and bring them to fast day and all other meetings when and where it was practicable for them to be present. These labors rested upon the shoulders of the Priesthood, and their duties pertaining thereto must be discharged, or God would hold them responsible.

Unworthy persons must not be recommended to the House of the Lord. He realized there were a great many persons who were guilty of wrongdoing and some were guilty of the grosser crimes, yet he rejoiced that there were in the Church a large majority who loved to keep the laws of God, and were trying with all their might to do so.

When the Almighty had sufficiently purified His people, then the powers of the heavens would be made manifest as they had never been in this dispensation, and Zion be delivered from her enemies.

Bishop Orson F. Whitney spoke for a short time on the integrity of some of our brethren who were suffering imprisonment for their religious convictions, which he said had been the fate of God's people in every dispensation. He realized the necessity of keeping all the commandments of the Lord, among which was the Word of Wisdom, and testified that God would verify His promises to those who observed it faithfully.

High Councilor Eddington bore a strong testimony to the truth of the remarks of the speakers, and the good Spirit that had inspired their utterances, after which the meeting adjourned with benediction.
