DEATH OF SILAS E. COREY.
Silas E. Corey died at 9:30 last night, at his home, 1935 Twenty-fourth street, after a illness of nearly nine months, from Bright's disease. Mr. Corey had been an employe of the Ogden Postoffice for about twelve years, having been steadily promoted through all the grades of the service until he occupied the position of chief clerk at the time of his death.

He was born in Utah, Weber county, July 6, 1836, and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Corey. He was married last June to Miss Laura Patrick of Salt Lake City.

Although naturally of robust health the young man has for a considerable time been afflicted with Bright's disease and the malady, it is claimed, is directly traceable to an accident sustained a few years ago while at the baseball park. Mr. Corey, who a young lady was in a buggy, when a ball dropped immediately in front of his spirited horse, which started to plunging. While rescuing his companion he himself was caught between the wheel and the box of the buggy and squeezed to the back and chest. Although he appeared to recover, the recovery, it seems, was not complete. About two years ago he suffered from an acute attack of Bright's disease, had to take a trip to California, he refused to recover, and was in poor health for a time. Last fall the malady returned and he has been gradually losing ground since that time. His father and brothers at Independence, Ida, have been notified; also his sister, Mrs. Cavanaugh, at Denver. Mr. William Patrick, Sr., and Mr. Patrick, Jr., were notified and came to Ogden at midnight last night. The mother has been in Ogden for the past six weeks, and with the devoted wife was at the bedside when the end came. Deceased was a member of the Knights of Pythias.

The Last Heard Of It.
"My little boy took the croup one night and soon grew so bad you could hear him breathe all over the house," says F. D. Reynolds, Mansfield, O. "We feared he would die, but a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure quickly relieved him and he went to sleep. That's the last we heard of the croup. Now his little boy is like that valuable One Minute Cough Cure. It is absolutely safe and acts immediately. For coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis and all other throat and lung troubles it is a certain cure. Very pleasant to take. The cures are like it. Goddard and Druggists, corner First South and Main streets."

JUNCTION.

OUTRAGE BY SALOONMEN.

Stirring Up Wrath—Judge McCarty Appealed to—Sad Death.

Special Correspondence.
Junction, Plute Co., Feb. 5.—Judge McCarty opened the February term of the district court here today and found upon the calendar more cases than Plute county has ever heretofore presented for his honor's attention and consideration at this term. The cases are nearly all mining suits and will be taken up for trial beginning next Monday. She came here from Missouri and is now left alone without blood relatives in the state. The sympathy of the populace is extended to her and to the other mourners.

SALOONMEN STIR UP WRATH.

Load murmurings of complaint at some of the local officers around Marysville are just now beginning to be heard again and the people feel greatly outraged over the conduct of said officers that took place some weeks ago and that has been until now by them kept secret. It will be remembered that the populace of this county last year was aroused in wrath because of the demoralization of the youth of the county caused by the "vice" and methods of the saloonkeepers in that place, and that the result was that his honor, Judge McCarty, was appealed to for help and a grand jury was called, the saloonkeepers indicted, and fined $50 each for selling whiskey on Sundays, selling to minors and permitting minors to be in and around their places of business. It will also be remembered the judge gave said saloonkeepers severe scoring that it would ever be by them forgotten, and which wrung from the vendors the promise that violations of the law in this respect would never again occur. This relief, it now transpires, however, that the promise was not sincere, and the public are asking for the calling of another grand jury, feeling that they have no protection against the sale of the beer.

The Y. L. M. L. Stake conference will convene here Sunday, Feb. 9, at 2 and 7:30 p. m.

GARLAND, WYOMING.

BIG HORN CONFERENCE.

Commodious and Well Constructed Meeting House at Cowley.

Special Correspondence.
Garfield, Big Horn Co., Jan. 31.—On Sunday and Monday, the 1st and 2nd, the best and largest attended conference yet held in this part of the country by the Latter-day Saints was held at Cowley in the fine new meeting house they have recently erected.

Apollio A. and Monday, the founder of the colonies, was present. It is not yet two years since the people of the colony pitched their tents on the bank of the Shoshone, and the long strides taken towards the rapid development of the country are marvelous. There were scattered at the conference about six hundred people. This is probably the largest number of persons that ever assembled together in the whole northern part of Wyoming.

THE COWLEY MEETING HOUSE.

The residents of Cowley and those owning property there have recently finished a fine large meeting house and hall which is a credit to the Basin, and which would be a credit to a town with five times the number of people in as Cowley has.

The church is built of sawed logs on a stone foundation and is octagonal in shape. Six of the sides are twenty feet long and the other two are thirty feet long, thus making the room 50 by 60 feet to the extreme ends. The ceiling, which is sixteen feet high, is made of the regular beaded ceiling lumber and the floor is of the best hard pine and is very smooth. Six windows light the building from as many sides, each containing a pane of glass. The logs were placed in position in an even and true manner not to be found better in a brick building, and covered as it is by the eight-sided hip roof it presents a very attractive and neat appearance.

When all the seats are finished 500 people can be comfortably seated within its walls. It is therefore large enough for all purposes at present and is the largest and best meeting house yet built in the Basin. As an amusement hall it is unequalled in the county or in the whole northern part of the state. It was built entirely by donation, from the cutting of the first pine tree in the timber, to the driving of the last nail. The people of Cowley are to be complimented for their fine work.—Garland Guard.
