How Broker Pollock Was Caught for 5,000 Shares of Swansea.

President Pollock of the Mining Exchange was caught for 5,000 shares of Swansea at 47 cents this afternoon by simply telling another broker that he could have all the stock he wanted after a spell of quite spirited bidding. Mr. Follock thought the member across the pit was running a "bluff," consequently he was surprised when the broker informed him he wanted the big block mentioned.

"Oh! No! That don't go," said the president, "I won't give you that much."

There were a number of articles of furniture, tools, a work bench and some harness, all of which were destroyed or badly damaged. and straw in the barn. The fire was discovered by neighbors, and there was a general alarm. A son of Capt, Davis had just taken a horse from the barn when the flames shot up. Manager O. D. Romney of the lumber company said: "Our loss will probably be $200 or $300, insured of course. I don't know how the blaze started, but I do know that we had a most narrow call. One thing in our favor is that we have plenty of room here." Capt. Davis said that he could not state exactly the loss, but thought it would reach at least $300, including the contents of the barn. The blaze was not without its amus-ing features. When the fire fighters ar-rived, the neighbors had three small streams from garden hose playing on a nearby shed and on the fence. While Fireman Jim Paul was at work, two of the volunteers who handled the gar-den hose, kept the streams playing on Paul despite his frantic efforts to es-cape it, and his loud demands that they turn the water the other way. They evidently thought poor Jim was being burned to death, and in their wild ef-forts to save him, nearly drowned him.

Among the other plunder found were three boxes of golf balls, a large amount of jewelry, a box containing oid and rare coins, about a dozen sets of new books, including the works of Victor Hugo, Kipling, Conan Doyle, Henty and Jules Verne. The books are in their original boxes just as they are kept in stock by the book dealers. The bottom of one trunk was filled with bottles of whisky and dozens of boxes of Egyp-tian cigarettes. In another trunk was a large amount of wearing apparel and household linen.

IDENTIFYING PROPERTY

Some of the property was taken by the officers to several dealers to see if it could be identified. As soon as some of it is identified, there will be a num-ber of charges preferred against the men. ment is Questioned. Washington, June 22.—A cablogram was received today by Secy, Hay, through the navy department, and Admirai Chadwick, from Cousul Gummere, at Tanglers, rela-tive to the Perdicaris negotiations. This indicates that satisfactory progress is not being made, and it is inlimated that the good failth of the Moorish government is being called into question by our negotia-tors. In response to their application for further instructions Secy. Hay has told them that they must adhere strictly to their original instructions; that hey must not in any way become involved in guar-antees or otherwise with other nations and that they must not, land marines or antees or otherwise with other hadro and that they must not land marines sallors without specific instructions fro Washington, and finally, that they mu demand from the Moorish governme either Perdicaris alive or Raisulf dead.

In Favor of Fusion, Fremont, Neb., June 2.—The resolution introduced by former Scaator William V. Allen, at the Populist state convention last night, is generally admitted to favor fusion with the Democratic national lick-et should William J. Bryan secure control of the St. Louis convention. It demands a straight Populist ticket, however, in case the anti-Bryan wing is vicerious. The delegates to the national Populist covention believe that Senator Allen will be chosen as the candidate for president. He declines to express an opinion.
