New York, June 28.—Treasures of the orient, contained in 47 cases, have been found secreted on the British steamship Indrawadi by treasury agents. The seizure is valued at more than $10,000, and is the largest of the kind ever made in this port. For some time past special treasury agents who watch the invoices of all vessels, have noticed that at certain Japanese and Chinese shops there were articles for sale that were out of the ordinary run of goods found at such places, and they began to watch the ships which might bring such goods. After the Indrawadi's manifest had been checked off and the cargo unload-ed, the treasury agents visited the crew's quarters, where they found sev-eral men making attempts to sleep in the bunks that looked overloaded. The men were routed out and from beneath matresses the officers took box after box of the finest silk handkerchiefs, hand embroidered in exquisite designs. In the carpenter's room they found a huge box all tied up and ready for shipment, which, when opened, revealed a remarkable collection of curios. There were pieces of finely carved lyory,small idols in gold and silver and pieces of dainty chinaware were tucked neatly away throughout the box. The espects
