THIS YEAR'S CRUSADE.

THE year upon which we have just entered promises to be an important one in the history of the Church of our words of confidence of a year Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. ago, and out of all the changes that The old animosity against it which this year will bring, we look for raged so mightily in the first years added strength and vigor to the of its progress has been once more revived, and the whole country has been aroused to a desire for extreme measures against Utah.

Not only in the United States is this feeling manifested to an inordi- MINERAL PRODUCT OF UTAH nate degree, but in England the same spirit is being exhibited. The telegraph brings word to day of the mobbing of two Elders in London, one of the best governed cities on the globe, and quite recently the eral product of Utah for 1881. It Prime Minister of England was approached on the subject of "Mor- amounts of bullion passing through mon" emigration by some of the the hands of this company, which fanatics who desired to suppress it. is one of the institutions of the Pa-Buch lawless proceedings as report- cific Coast, are as follows, leaving ed will not be sustained in Great out details of the sources: Refined Britain, and Gladstone has the good lead, 2,645,373 lbs; unrefined lead, sense to declare that the matter pre- 42,191,525 lbs; silver,5,400,191 ounces sented to him is beyond his juris. gold, 7,958 ounces. This is taken advantage of by the defamers and slanderers who have an object cluded in these amounts are the rein view in bringing trouble upon this Territory, and the public mind Nevada, usually embodied in the formed persons upon other topics, 3,969,440 pounds of lead; 441,846 gard to the facts in this case, are led ounces of silver; and 976 ounces of gold. Comparing these figures with to join in the general agitation.

"Polygamy" is now the cry, and it is thought that if this could be a little less than that of 1879, difficulty would be removed. But it is not generally remembered that the flercest persecution which this Church had to meet, and the darkest scenes of sorrow through which its people have passed, preceded the adoption of celestial marriage as a tenet of their religion. Insince the acceptance and practice of that system, the violence against them has been chiefly manifested in threatenings and designs, which have not developed into an; thing of a serious nature for the injury of the people, while up on the list of the ore producing the Church has gone on in its work of preaching the Gospel to the nations, and the gathering of Israel, and the blessings of God have attended the labors of His servants, the Lord confirming the word "with THE effects of the ordinance of the City Council and proclamation of Polygamy forms a convenient excuse for the great outcry now raised New Year's Day, (Jan. 2nd.) were against the "Mormons," but we know by past experience that if no that prevalled in contradistinction "Mormon" had more than one wife, to the disgraceful scenes of the Monthe bitter hostility to our faith day preceding. The streets were would not cease. One doctrine or crowded with people, but sobriety, principle of our religion given up, decorum and general good feeling would be followed by demands for olhers. The fanatics who are wag- gloomy over the change except a ing this warfare would never be few persons who do not knew how satisfied until the spirit which gives to enjoy themselves without stimulife to our system was forced out of lating themselves into an unnatural the body it.

But we have no fears about the ment is that restriction, judiciously results or the present outburst. We can see how much good can be made in reference to the liquor question; to accrue from it. This agitation that while no one will claim that brings the subject of "Mormonism" prominently before the world, and strong drink, it is made clear will act like the sun upon the wheat that much can be done by laborers in the vineyard to thrust in their sickles and reap. While the public is interested is the time to place the truth before rities continue their work in this diwill take care of the measures of the wicked and overrule them for good. Our business is to proclaim the gospel, gather Israel and live and luculcate those principles of eternal truth which have been revealed from heaven.

This year opens up with great expectations on the part of our enemles. But we have seen just such times before. Two years ago the us and great pressure was brought to bear to procure inimical legislation. At the close of that year and on the verge of another we penned and published the following words, which we clip from the elitorial of Dec. 31st, 1880:

"At the opening of eighteen hun-dred and eighty, to unaided human vision it looked as though the Saints must be overwhelmed by the influences arrayed against them. From all parts of the land the voice of powerful sects opposed to each other but united against the Baints, clamored for legislative and executive venceance. Petitions were as nuner-cus as the days of the year, and signatures greater in number than and platform the cry was refor stringen! measures, and the press lent its aid in the chrus of melediction. But not a finger has been laid upon the Saints to their hurt. The noise has died away like the rumbling thunder, and not a bolt has fallen, nor a shaft has glanced upon them.

conspirators will pass away to their doom. But the righteous will rejoice in seeing the prosperity of Israel and the fulfilment of the word of the Lerd, and no harm will come to them."

Looking back on the year of which these last words were spoken in advance, we see how they have been literally verified. And they strengthen our faith in reference to the year upon which we have entered, and teach us to still trust in Hisp who to the year upon which we have entered, and teach us to still trust in Him who have entered, and teach us to still trust in Him who has promised to fight the battles of His people while they serve and trust in Him. Our duty then is plain. It is to stand unflimshingly by the right, have no concern for the threatenings of the wicked, and do our part in warning the world of judgments to come and in placing before them as far as possible the His were dead. Milton was before them as far as possible the His were dead. Milton was

The first scene was a triumph for Mr. Lambourne and was a surprise to the large assembly. The N.Y. Academy of Design, with a number of apparently splendid oil paintings was opened to the view with the rising of the curtain, and was a splendid exhibition of the stage painter's art. There was but little applause in comparison with what might have been expected. Perhaps the BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY audience were too surprised and pleased to manifest the gratification which the scene could not fail to produce in the mind of every lover of art. It was a grand and pleasing sight. Every character in the play was well performed, and though the dialogue was immense and the piece lengthy, there was no drag in it except a little towards the close.
