

were voted for and unanimously sustained.

In the teachings and instructions which were given the Priesthood were admonished to be united, to love each other, and to magnify their callings, purify their lives and root out iniquity from the midst of Israel. The observance of the Sabbath day to keep it holy, and the Word of Wisdom in our lives were also subjects which were dwelt upon with great power and earnestness. The Spirit of God was richly poured out upon both speakers and hearers, testifying to the truth of the work. The singing also, under the able leadership of Brother Edwin Woolley, was excellent and spirited.

T. MINSON, Stake Clerk.

REVISION OF STATUTES.

The committee on revision and compilation of the Statutes of the Territory of Utah, appointed at the last session of the Territorial Legislature, has entered upon the duties assigned it and divided the labor to its members as follows:

Title I to IX inclusive, viz: "of the statutes and the legislature—elections and electors, and qualifications for holding office"—territorial officers—counties and county officers, and of precinct officers—militia—revenue—highways and bridges—regulation of trade in certain cases—the internal police of the territory, to John T. Caine.

Titles X, XI, XII, XVII and XVIII. Of the encouragement of agriculture—corporations other than municipal—public instruction—courts and judicial officers—imitation of civil actions, to Arthur L. Thomas.

Titles XIII to XVI inclusive, and title XIX. Of real property—settlement of estates of deceased persons—fraudulent conveyances and contracts—domestic relations, actions and proceedings in certain cases, to Samuel R. Thurman.

Titles XX to XXII inclusive. Civil practice act—penal code and procedure in criminal cases, to Philip H. Emerson.

The members of the committee will be pleased to receive suggestions from the legal profession or other persons which may assist them in the work of revision assigned them. All such suggestions, whether in the shape of proposed amendments or substitutes for existing laws, should be addressed to the member of the committee having in charge that branch of the work to which such suggestion or amendment properly belongs.

By order of the committee.

PHILIP H. EMERSON,

Chairman.

JOHN T. CAINE,

Secretary.

Sir Garnet Wolseley's Coolness on the Battle Field.

All accounts are agreed as to Sir Garnet's demeanor both before and after the fight. His coolness and self-reliance were extraordinary. On the morning before the battle, when he took all the generals and their respective staffs to reconnoitre the enemy's lines, he dismounted with in a couple miles of Teitel Kibir, and gathering the others around him, explained exactly what he meant to do. With a short stick he pointed to the intrenchments as he might to a black board in a lecture room, and quietly indicated in turns the position of each part of the attacking force. He had the whole thing by heart, knew and explained in exact detail what every regiment had to do. While they were thus occupied, protected only by a small cavalry escort, the enemy sent out a party to observe them, but made no further demonstration. Wolseley's "lecture" finished, they all remounted and rode back to camp.

After the battle was practically won, Sir Garnet came to the bridge across the canal communicating the right with the left attack, and getting off his horse quietly began to write his telegram announcing the victory on a scrap of paper handed to him by one of his staff. Here, too, he received the reports from the various staff officers of divisions and brigades, a-killing more particularly as to casualties. "Are you quite sure?" he always asked, "Don't give me wrong figures. Don't mention any officer's name unless you are quite positive he is hit." All this time he was giving orders right and left, now to one staff officer, now to another, and through it all, conscious and embarrassing as the situation might well have been, was perfectly quiet and unconcerned.—London World.

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL REMEDY ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. Also excellent for human flesh. Read proof below.

Kendall's Spavin Cure

Is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargements, such as spavins, splints, curbs, ring-bones, callous, swellings and any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or for rheumatism in man or for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mildly and yet certainly in its effects.

Send address for illustrated circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unequalled success to our knowledge, for least as well as man.

Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All Druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.
