ENDS AND HALFBACKS FURNISH MOST CAPTAINS

Among that group of football colleges comprising the so-called big four, ends and haltbacks predominate in positions to furnish successful captains. There are seven haltbacks and six ends on four teams since 1890 Arthur Cummock, cap-tain of the champion Harvard eleven of 1890, played end. Another successful end who was captain was Frank Hinkey of the Yale '94 team. Hinkey's team in 1893 was beaten. however, by Princeton. Princeton had the best team that year, and Doggle Trenchard, end was captain. Pennsylvania shared the honors with Yale In 1894, beating Princeton at Trenton, and Arthur Knipe, halfback, was the Quaker captain that year.

Arthur Kulpe, halfback, was the Quaker cantain that year. Dave Campbell, end, captained the champion Harvard team of 1901, and Gar-rett Cochran captained the champion Princeton team of 1896. In 1905 Yala's win-ning aggregation was captained by Tom Shevin. Thomas Lee McClurg was the lender of the winning cleven of 1801, and played halfback. Other successful half-back captains were Knipe of Pennsyl-vania. Thorme of Yale, 1905. Dibliee of Harvard, 1895; Minds of Pennsylvania, 1857. Chadwick of Yale, 1902, and Morse of Yale, 1995.

Tails, 1996. Quarterbacks who piloted their teams to victory were Vance McCormick of the Yale eleven of 1882, this team, like its pre-decessor, not being scored on, and Carl Williams, captain of the Pennsylvania eleven of 1885. Yale, Princeton, and Penn-sylvania have had guards ar winning cap-tains-Edyards at Princeton in 1859. ITALIA2

The president was the guest this even ing of Representative Longworth at a dinner which was attended also by Speaker Cannon. It is not unlikely that the subject of the Civic Federation's bill was discussed.

NUMEROUS CONFERENCES.

Numerous conferences have been held at the capitol between senate and house Republican leaders, at which the prospects for passage of a relief bill have been considered. Senator Cannon and Representatives Dalzell and Sher-man met the senate leaders today at Senator Aldrich's committee room. Al-though none of those present had seen the bill, it was agreed that only such legislation can pass at this session as meets with general approval among Re-publicans. If, as has been stated, the hill is drastic, the chances for its en-actment are small. The views of the leaders seem to in-dicate that a measure might be passed Numerous conferences have been Actment are small. The views of the leaders seem to in-dicate that a measure might be passed to exempt labor unions from the operations of the anti-trust law if or-ganized labor supports sincerely other provisions of the bill; and that the anti-trust law might be modified so as to legalize traffic agreements between the railroads, provided that such agreements can be divorced completely from pooling devices. The expressions heard at the capitol are opposed to a bill at this time which would deal with over-capitalization of corporations or attempt to regulate stock gambling. La-bor leaders, however, are peparing to demand in connection with a general relief bill such as is in mind, provisions to prohibit the issuance of injunctions without due notice of the proceedings to the person to be enjoined, and also prohibiting the imposition of penalities in contempt cases which had not been submitted to juries. Such demands would give rise to complications op-posed to agreement on any of the sub-jects to be embraced in the bill.
