NEWS OF THE DAY.

The military commanders of the Hergezo-Gov. insurgents have convened an assembly, for the purpose of claiming a national government.

The French National Assembly met yesterday.

A commission will shortly be appointed to determine the boundaries of Alaska.

The Russian ambassador to Turkey has threatened the Porte with armed intervention if the persecution of Christians continues in the Turkish empire.

The people dwelling on the White Nile have revolted against the government of the Khedive.

Prussia has ratified a commercial treaty with Costa Rica.

Mr. A. S. Gaylord is the new Assistant Attorney General for the U. S. Interior Department.

Three colored children were burned to death yesterday morning at Washington, D. C.

The eastern division of the St. Joseph and Denver Railway was sold by auction yesterday.

More indictments have been found against crooked whiskey thieves in St. Louis, and the same agents parties in Washington, D. C., for conspiring to defraud the government.

The legislature of Arkansas have memorialized Congress for a territorial government for the Indian country.

The Moody and Sankey revival business was in full blast at the Brooklyn rink last night.

The people of several counties in California are signing a petition to Senator Sargent, to obtain an adjustment of the Temecula Indian question.

A man named Robinson, a resident of Indiana, last night tried to murder the whole of his family; he killed two of his children, wounded three, and shot and missed his wife, but she escaped and gave the alarm. The dead body of the murderer was found some hours after, and it is supposed that he had been killed by a railway train.

A series of daily prayer meetings is to be commenced shortly in Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, under the auspices of Moody and Sankey.

The American public are threatened with a revival of the filthy, infamous Beecher scandal. Last night at a meeting of Beecher's congregation Deacon West and Mrs. Moulton were expelled, on the ground of continued absence from the service. Deacon West was absent, but Mrs. Moulton was present, being there in response to a summons. She was accompanied by her legal adviser, Mr. R. A. Pryor, who read her protest against being severed from Plymouth Church. She said that her absence had been forced by her knowledge that this pastor was an adulterer, and she desired to retain her standing and to be as consistent a member as it was possible for her to be with the knowledge she possessed of the pastor's criminality. It is said that the Association of Congregational ministers of New York and Brooklyn will now commence an investigation with a view to the expulsion of Beecher.

The Pope has sent a note to Spain, which may have an important bearing on the immediate future of that country. The Holy See insists upon the execution of the concordat, and demands compensation for no religion but Catholicism; but King Alfonso's government has promised religious liberty, and a provision to that effect has been incorporated in the new constitution. If the Cortes ratifies this, a rupture with Rome now seems certain, which will revivify Catalan, for the pretender is an orthodox son of holy church, and the formal recognition of his cause by the Holy See would infuse new life and vigor therein, and would postpone the pacification of the country. It is greatly to be desired, however, for the sake of human liberty and enlightenment, that the Spanish Cortes and people will decide in favor of complete religious toleration, for that once secured the end of Romish domination in Spain will be attained, which there is little doubt would be the precursor of radical reforms in the entire administration of the government and of greater prosperity than the nation has enjoyed for generations.

Rev. S. V. McMaster, of St. Paul, Minn., is dead.

The Brooklynites are growing tired of the Moody and Sankey prayer meetings.

The British Admiralty have invited Col. Gowen, of New York, to make proposals for raising the ironclad Vanguard, recently sunk in the English Channel.

There was an incendiary fire at Corvino last night, which destroyed two small buildings and a barn. The incendiary, John Davis, alias "Toto Jonny," was examined this morning, and was committed to the county jail, to await the action of the grand jury.

NEWS NOTES.

Mr. Bright has declared that mental power girls are not inferior to boys.

Nebraska's new constitution has gone into effect by proclamation of the governor.

Fifteen cents a bushel is the price of apples in some parts of Pennsylvania.

The Austrian army will have the new bronze statue, which is noteworthy for the accuracy of its shots.

The old castle at Nottingham, England, is to be converted into an art museum at a cost of $16,000.

The British Museum employs a staff of 325 persons, only eighty-nine of whom are employed in the library.

Congress is going to be asked to appoint a committee to study up the insects breeding in the Rocky Mountains.

The season in London will bring out a perfect flood of new books of travel. Indeed the end of the modern Englishman seems to be to go about over the globe and to write a book about it.

Thomas Turner, a prisoner, travelling handcuffed in charge of a warder and a policeman, jumped from an express train going at full speed near Chelmsford in England, October 8.

Henry Stewart, whose employment was feeding animals in French's Circus, had his hands torn to shreds by a lion in Chicago, and died from the injury. The animal caught him as he reached into the cage for a trough of water.

The most appalling news which has been received from the Old World for a long time is the effect that the matrimonial newspapers in London are to be suppressed. Old maids and spinster bachelors, whose modesty forbids their courting, except through proxy, strongly protest against the contemplated outrage. — St. Louis G. Democrat.

THE ELECTION HUBBUB.

The election business is nearly over for a time, thank Heaven. It will be a good time when it is quite, for it is an unmitigated nuisance, distracting the attention of so many people from their regular business, business which is productive, and profitable to the country. Among the expenses of the American system of government may fairly be set down the losses in time and money and material incidental to the many elections throughout the country. Not that these outgoes need be a hundredth part of what they are, but custom has made them enormously consumptive of time and means, without anything like an adequate compensating return. Look at the time spent in attending caucuses and primaries and meetings of one kind or another during a political campaign, in which two or more parties and two or more candidates and many stump orators glorify themselves and their adherents and attempt to belittle their opponents to an extent beyond the conception of others than partisan politicians. The whole affair has a supremely ridiculous look to steady going, sensible people, who do not think that those of their fellow citizens who may happen to differ with them in politics, or to belong to another party, are necessarily the smallest, meanest, most contemptible and most despicable of human kind.

In election times the newspapers of the day come loaded to the guards with political matter, much of it local, most of it extremely partisan and abusive, scarcely any of it worth reading. As a whole, this election matter is the veriest bosh, not worth the white paper on which it is printed, and it is an insult to offer it to an intelligent person who is seeking to cultivate his mind and expand his ideas by gathering useful knowledge. Perhaps inveterate politicians read all the inflated stuff that is published in the papers concerning politics in election times, but to the general reader, who is anxious to have the worth of his money in the paper which he purchases, the endless columns of political bombast and abuse with which the newspapers are filled are an abomination, a continual vexation, because they occupy room which could be used to infinitely better purpose.

If all the newspapers, or parts of newspapers, occupied with this political election trash were to cease to exist, and only those papers, or parts of papers, which publish news or other useful information were to be left, the journalists' business and the number of papers in the country might perhaps be reduced by a half or two-thirds, but the country at large would be vastly the gainer.

NOT FIGHTING RELIGIOUS OPINIONS.

REFERRING to the recent dispatch concerning the removal of the Ogden postmaster, and Senator Sargent's opposition to it for religion's sake, the Oakland (Cal.) Transcript says:—

"It is as clear as daylight that Sargent is right. The nation is not fighting opinions, but illegal practices. It matters not whether a man calls himself a Mormon or a Unitarian, so long as he obeys the laws of the land."

TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES.

EASTERN.

CHICAGO, 5.—A Loganpost, Ind., special says that last night David Robinson, six miles from Kokomo, Ind., deliberately attempted the murder of his entire family, first by shooting and killing one of his children, then firing at his wife, but missing her, and then making her escape and gave the alarm. He then shot and killed a second child and wounded a third in the face, who made his escape. Robinson nearly severed one of the dead children's heads from its body, and then left the house. The neighbors aroused by the wife's screams on the spot, and an immediate pursuit was made in all directions, and the body of Robinson was found in the track of the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago railroad, a few miles from Kokomo, he having evidently met his death in attempting to get on or off a moving train. He has been known as a quiet, peaceable citizen heretofore, and the cause of his sudden frenzy is a mystery.

PHILADELPHIA, 5.—John Carless has been arrested in this city, charged with negotiating forged Erie City water works bonds; he is said to have been a participant in the wholesale scheme to flood the country with spurious bonds of the New York Central, Western Union, and Buffalo and Erie railroads.

ST. PAUL, Minn., 5.—The Rev. S. G. McMaster, D. D., LL. D., rector of Christ Church here, and well known in the Protestant Episcopal church, died last night after a long and painful sickness.

More Camps Thrown into the Beecher or Camp—Provisions and Ammunition for Cuba.

NEW YORK, 5.—At a business meeting at Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, last evening, the names of Deacon West and Mrs. Moulton were dropped from the roll of membership, on the ground of continued absence from the service of the church. Deacon West was not present, but Mrs. Moulton was, and was accompanied by her counsel, Reges A. Pryor, who read a plan by which a national disgrace may be blotting out—*Oakland (Cal.) the pastor, and his false swearing in regard to it.

The New York and Brooklyn Association of Congregational Ministers has taken action, it is alleged, which will certainly result in the exclusion of Beecher from membership. Its members have been appointed and instructed to report, and a careful examination of the charges, it was said, last evening, that Beecher would withdraw from the association rather than submit to the investigation. Plymouth Church has adopted a resolution, providing that Beecher and his adherents shall not be authorized, if the Evangelist has no objection, to announce the first of a series of prayer meetings, daily, from next Monday morning, in the discussion of this subject one member said:—"Let us show enough of our Christian spirit to give the Christian spirit to the meetings in the Tabernacle; let us show no desire to stand aloof from our sister churches, even though they may not be cordial towards us."

The Spanish government has sent orders to their agents in this city to buy up and ship at once provisions and other necessities to the amount of five hundred thousand; the money for this purpose was contributed in Havana on the 25th ult., and the effect that American intervention was feared, and that all that could be done to deter it was advisable.

Don't Cape Meeting for Prayer.

There is a perceptible falling off in the attendance at Moody and Sankey's prayer meetings, held in the Talmadge Tabernacle every night; the decreased attendance was accounted for on Tuesday by the election, on Wednesday by the anxiety to know the result of Thursday by rain, and there is no rain, and yet there is the smallest attendance of the week.

Not Yet Indicted.

WASHINGTON, 5.—The Attorney General not having been informed officially that General Babcock and Orville Grant had been indicted by the St. Louis grand jury, it is the belief of the cabinet officers and others here that no such indictments have been found. General Babcock, being spoken to on the subject, said that he did not know of the report unless it should be verified.

Interview with the Sultan.

CONSTANTINOPLE, 5.—General Ignatieff, the Russian ambassador, had a long interview with the Sultan yesterday. He represented to him the maladministration of the country, the discontent of the population, the dilapidation of the financial affairs, and the consequent reform.

SPAIN.

Reply from the Pope.

MADRID, 5.—The Diario Espanol says that the Vatican has sent a note to Madrid, which expresses approval of Cardinal Simoni's conduct regarding the circular. The note insists upon the execution of the concordat, and recognizes the royal placet, attributing the civil war to religious intolerance, and demands that the bishop of Urgel be tried by a secular judge, and not by an ordinary tribunal.

Fancy Alimony Illegal.

A great many good people assume that it is right for Brigham to pay fancy alimony to the woman who is traveling about the country, lecturing about him. In spite of all the reasoning to the contrary, we know how a court can legally divorce a woman from a man to whom she was never married. If in our own State, for instance, a woman goes through the marriage ceremony with a man who already has a wife, the proceeding could have no possible effect, except to make a man to the penitentiary for bigamy. The second wife, so to speak, would not be a wife in the eyes of the law, nor would she obtain alimony by suing for a divorce. Anna Eliza has no peculiar equity on her side, for when Briggs joined Brigham, she knew that he already had a dozen and a half of wives. The kind of law they are using in Utah would not be regarded as sound anywhere else, and we do not believe in twisting an unnatural meaning out of a law, in order to fit some particular case. The polygamists in Utah should be punished as they deserve, but there should not be one kind of law for them and another for the rest of the nation. The last decision merely allows a woman to practice extortion. The criminal practice of polygamy can be broken up by Congress, not by the courts. Why there has never been any adequate legislation, is one of the things the people cannot understand. The President is supposed to be well posted on this subject, and we presume that in his message he will suggest some common-sense plan by which a national disgrace may be blotting out—Oakland (Cal.) Transcript, Nov. 5.

A Richmond journal furnishes facts and figures to show that the negroes, obeying a law of their nature, are gradually drifting to the tropical or semi-tropical regions of the country. The editor says the black man's "passage towards the isthmus of Darien is a matter of philosophical certainty."

London Bridge is to be widened by the addition on each side, of wrought iron arches, carried on piers built over the present stanchions or cutwaters. By this means twenty-two feet will be added to the width, giving fifty-four feet of roadway for carriage traffic, and footways on each side eleven feet one inch wide.

The city of Ahmedabad, the oldest and at one time one of the most beautiful cities in India, is declared by the Sanitary Commissioner to have had no sanitary arrangements for nearly a century past, and the earth has become so impregnated with abominations that not a drop of pure water can be obtained within the city walls; even garden plants die if watered with it.

Experiments have been made at Bordeaux for the employment of city gas for lighting. The results were so favorable, and so economical that it has been decided to fit up works for lighting the town of Nemo in that system. The gas obtained from the works is distilled in retorts, and the flame thus obtained is said to be brighter and whiter than that from coal gas.

The Los Angeles (Cal.) Herold says that at the present rate of increase it is estimated there will be in four years 1,000,000 stands of bees in Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, and San Bernardino counties, which will produce annually 500,000,000 pounds of honey, worth $20,000,000, which is more than the value of the sugar and molasses crop of Louisiana, Texas and Florida combined.

Two merchants at Nashua, N. H., were recently running each other on stockings. The first trader marked down the specimens at his store, and after a time the rival had noted the change, resumed the former prices. The trick was repeated every morning for a week or more, until the second trader was selling stockings which cost at wholesale twenty-five cents for five cents. This was the first trader's opportunity. He engaged the services of several girls and boys, and before the second trader was aware of the fact, his whole stock of stockings had been transferred to the counter of his rival at five cents per pair, and he was left sold by him as a "bankrupt lot—at a great sacrifice"—and yet at a splendid profit.

As well the legal nomenclature as the legal practice of England will suffer serious change on the 1st November. "Attorneys" and "proctors" will no longer busy themselves in "writing" the "sitting" in each court will be attended only by "solicitors." Punters cannot but regret that there are no more "units," but, in their lieu, the "solicitors" become a "statement of complaint." "Relief" is simplified to "reply," which is more judicious. The place substituted "defense." The place in legal cap that knew "bills of exceptions," "proceedings in error," "pleas in abatement," and "new accounts," will now know them no more forever, though "demurrers" and "motions for new trials" are not naturally retained. The "motion for judgment" replaced the "motion for decree" in equity. All the changes, it will be seen, are in the direction of simplicity, and more of them have now been adopted in the colonies. — Ex.

Homicidal Crime.

The frequency of homicide in this city is one of the alarming signs of the times. Within a fortnight there have been nearly half a score of convictions for murder or manslaughter, and five of these were the first degree. The last of the capital convictions was the sentence of Charles Weston yesterday for participation in the murder of William Wagoner, the pedlar. In every case the result of the culprit was clearly established, and the doom of the criminals followed quickly upon their crimes, and the effect of these speedy trials and convictions cannot fail to be most wholesome. A stern enforcement of the law is essential at this time, for there seems just now to be a mania for homicidal crime. A few days ago we referred to the many murders and attempts at murder growing out of jealousy and disappointments in love; but if these dangerous, and that the relation of father and son, and even mother and son, is not sufficient to preserve society from the terrible tendency to only a week since a young man in the third degree for brutally kicking his mother and leaving her on the floor of her wretched apartment to die. Drunkenness was the cause of this horrible offense; but later still we had the story of a drunken father shooting his son in a scuffle at a dance, and as to be apparently unconscious of the crime he had committed. The latter case is one of the most lamentable that has come under notice in a long time, and while the cause is plain enough the remedy is not so apparent. The advocates of prohibition will find their case made in a condition at this time, and they will find in their theory, but experience has shown that crime cannot be prevented by this mode of repression. Some of the most heinous murders of this kind and of every kind must be found, and the only method likely to prove effective is the stern punishment of the guilty. Murderers must be taught that drunkenness is no excuse for crime and that the full penalty of the law is certain to follow the offense. In no other way is it possible to eradicate the disease, especially at a time when there is a strange mania for homicide. If so many murderers were not allowed to go unpunished so many murders would not be committed. Until within a few days hanging seemed in the expressive language of a criminal who expiated his offence on the gallows, to be almost "played out," and juries were in a great degree responsible for this state of things. There was a tendency to convict of the lower instead of the higher grades of murder where only the full penalty of the law is equal to the emergency, but we are glad to see that a change has been wrought in this respect. In the future we must repress homicide by hanging all murderers, and though the remedy is a terrible one its application may be necessary with its necessity in the future by the operation of a wholesome fear growing out of the certainty of the full enforcement of the law. — New York Herald.
