A GREAT SCHEME.

Herbert Heavey, weighing 25 pounds, decided to retire electrically. He strapped a coil of copper wire around his waist, connected it with the telephone apparatus and, sure enough, began at once to glow lighter at the rate of several pounds a minute.

"This is a grand scheme," chuckled Heavey, pulling out the waistband of his trousers, which was already a foot too big for his waist.

Then suddenly the telephone bell rang.

"Is that Herbert Heavey?" a gruff voice asked.

"Yes," was the reply.

"Well, this is the exchange," snapped the voice. "Will you please stop trying to screw up with the telephone wires? Our office is all full of nasty fat."—Exchange.

WINTER.

In winter nature ceases from her labors and prepares for the great change. The wind sweeps through the great forest with a howl like the blast of a trumpet. The dry leaves whirl in eddies through the air. A network of hoary frost covers the plain. The stagnant water in the pools and ditches is frozen into fantastic figures. In the low hanging clouds the sharp air, like a busy shuttle, weaves her shroud of snow. There is a melancholy and continual roar in the tops of the tall pines like the roar of a cataract. It is the funeral anthem of the dying year.—Longfellow.

BLOOZES AND BLOUSES.

"Where will I find the bloozes?" asked the woman who had just returned from London.

"De bloozes?" exclaimed the elevator man, staring for a moment and then, "Blouses—v-y, dey mus' be on de—sense me, madam, you'd better ask the door-walker."

"Certainly, madam!" second floor, James, take the lady to the second floor—bloozes—lavender, waltz, y' know!—New York Press.

SALT LAKERS IN GOTHAM.

Special Correspondence.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Two subjects are impressing the public mind at the present time of writing. Both affect all classes of New York and both are productive of argument. Those who are of all things artistic and go in for art, with a capital A, are deeply engaged in agitating the national Academy after the young and rising generation, however, is righteously stirred over the announcement that April Fool's day is to be henceforth and evermore reserved for quips.

Of the first named serious matter there was said for the civic pride of Gotham many have been planning a Rhine Strasse for upper New York, patterned after Vienna. Naturally the National Academy of Design would be included in its circle, as the idea of Central park as the site of this fine building is discouraged on every side. Cathedral parkway and Amsterdam avenue, One Hundred and Tenth street, are the desirable places in the public eye, for these sites for the proposed "Rhine Strasse" are located near the river.

In the second cause for public agitation the Optimists club, of which Carnegie is honorary president, has decided to claim April 1st as its own, to remove the stigma from that date and to christen it "Optimists day." A dinner will be held by the club at the Waldorf on the eve of All Fools day and at midnight, with due and impressive ceremony the birth of "Optimists day" will be announced. Everyone is expected to do some kind act and say some kind words to those less fortunate.

The change of name for this well known day is meeting with general public satisfaction and the hope is universally expressed that the young and rising generation will take kindly to the innovation and forever wear the practical joke in favor of deeds of kindness and a sunny smile.

From the Emerald Isle of Bermuda, that winter paradise, comes word from Mrs. C. F. Fisher and party, who are there, of the perfect weather and the great time all are having. Mrs. Fisher accompanied her uncle and aunt on their trip to Cuba, taking in Bermuda also on the journey. Miss Sallie Fisher, her daughter, has been a little indisposed, and was out of the case of the "Stilborn Cinderella" for three nights, but is entirely recovered now and at her usual post at the Broadway.

In a private letter from Cologne it is learned that Dr. Rich and wife of Ogden, who have been in Vienna all winter, are making their way slowly through Germany, visiting the principal cities, meeting with the Utah people wherever they can find them, and dispensing their hospitality to the Utah boys having over there. Dr. and Mrs. Rich have read a host of friends on their European pilgrimage.

Also from Italy come letters from H. G. Whitney and family. Their trip abroad is filled with interesting matter, and routine of parents and some after so long a separation was a joy to all. Through Italy into Germany, the party is now traveling. France, Upper Prussia and the British Isles will be visited in turn before home is reached, which will be some time in June.

Victor Wells, whose office is 1 West Thirty-fourth street, is a busy man these days, with Mr. Waterman, who is largely interested in the land business, he is kept close to his desk early and late.

The "Down Town Ethical club" of the

New York Ethical Culture club, extended an invitation to Frost a Rhine Strasse to deliver a lecture on "Landscape one evening last week. Mr. Rhine responded and a few days later received a letter from the secretary saying he was elected an honorary member of the society. He is now scheduled for three more speaking and is very popular with all classes who belong and frequent this special club. At Mr. Rhine's had the time at his disposal he would be in demand for lectures at many of these clubs throughout the city and in Brooklyn.

"Through the State of Jersey the 'Man of the Hour' is having a most successful run and Hal Russell's readings his triumph in the part of Phelan. Last Sunday Mr. Russell made a visit to the city for a few hours. Mrs. Russell, who is living with Eleanor Robeson on West Seventy-seventh street, was surprised to see her husband who joined the family party quite unexpectedly. Mr. Russell will continue in the city until June, when he will probably go west for the summer. Mrs. Russell is also thinking of going to Salt Lake for her summer vacation as the play "Down of a Thousand" closes in June. Mrs. Russell spent Sunday evening with her friends Mr. and Mrs. Easton at their home on West One Hundred and Twenty-third street and the beauties and advantages of dear Salt Lake were freely discussed.

Yesterday evening at the shadow of Prof. and Mrs. Leaven on West Fifty-sixth street, a large delegation of Utah people assembled to hear one of the "Evening" delightful recitals. Mr. Frank Duffy was the principal soloist; Miss Duffy was Miss Grace Fitzgerald of Ogden, and is the possessor of a fine dramatic soprano voice; she sang the aria from "Lohengrin" and "The Song of the Sea" and "The Song of the Sea" and was warmly applauded by all present. Mr. and Mrs. Duffy live in South Orange, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Prosser, Mrs. Prosser was formerly Miss W. W. Prosser, Walker—singer, who came from Europe, have taken a house and come to housekeeping. Mr. Prosser has many relatives in Brooklyn, among these known to Chicago is the Blackburn family of Brooklyn. Mrs. Blackburn and her son Charles and grandson William, with his wife and two babies, live at the old home on Sand street, which has always been open house to the others of the Brooklyn conference. Mrs. Blackburn and family are staunch members of the Church. Another inmate of the house is Peter French, who has so long been associated with the Church and its many changes in the east he is regarded by the people of Utah as their greatest friend and companion in times of peace and war. The Blackburn home is certainly a delightful one to visit.

"Paid in Full," which comes to the Grand, Eighth avenue and Twenty-third street, next week, is headed by Jolly Tom, in the leading female role, Miss Dean has succeeded after Mr. Bertson, who created the part when it was produced at the Astor, over a year ago, and seems to be gaining ground in the profession, as next year she will be seen in a new play as joint star with a favorite actor well known.

The Belter society holds its spiritual meeting this evening at mission headquarters, 23 West One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Annie Carroll presiding. On the 15th of March an anniversary meeting was held in the same place. A paper on the organization of the society was read by Mrs. Easton, which was followed by a testimony meeting.

you may be sure of having one or more plants in the border in bloom at all times during the summer. The shrubs that blossom the same time should not be placed together if the colors clash in the summer study your shrubbery border and make notes as to new plants needed, their color, size and flowering season, and also what old plants you probably be moved. These notes will enable you to work intelligently in the fall after the blooming season or in the spring, care in selecting and arranging the plants to suit your own taste will never be overrated.

When Woman Goes to Bed Mad
When a man comes home at night his wife pours forth a recital in a full stream of all that has happened all day. Then she gets a book, puts on her hat and begins to fish to find out what he has done all day, and she never catches a thing. Then she goes off to bed and because she told so much—Archibald Glad.
