TUTT'S PILLS

TORPID BOWELS and DISORDERED LIVER.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Exaggeration of feed, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, a feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Flattering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. PRICKLY ASH BITTERS

The majority of the ills of the human body arise from a derangement of the Liver, affecting both the stomach and bowels. In order to effect a cure, it is necessary to remove the cause. Irregular and sluggish action of the Bowels, Headache, Sickness at the Stomach, Pain in the Back and Loins, etc., indicate that the Liver is at fault, and that nature requires assistance to enable this organ to throw off impurities.

Prickly Ash Bitters are especially compounded for this purpose. They are mild in their action and effective as a cure; are pleasant to the taste and taken easily by both children and adults. Taken according to directions, they are a safe and pleasant remedy for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Habitual Constipation, Diseased Kidneys, etc., etc. And Blood Purifier they are superior to any other medicine cleansing the system thoroughly, and imparting new life and energy to the invalid. It is a medicine and not an intoxicating beverage.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR PRICKLY ASH BITTERS, and take no other. PRICE, $1.00 per Bottle.

A TRIP TO COLORADO.

SCENES BY THE WAY—A METHODIST CHURCH SERVICE.

DURANGO, Colorado, Dec. 21, 1884.

Editors Deseret News:

Thinking that a line or two from your rambling friend would not be altogether without interest to some, at least, of your numerous readers, I seat myself in a congress chair in the grand reception room of the Grand Central Hotel of this grand place, and will proceed as quickly as possible to give you a grand sketch of

A LEAF FROM MY JOURNAL.

Last Tuesday morning, in company with my son Samuel S., I left Salt Lake City on board the D. & R. G. train for Durango, this place, being favored in making the journey by the railway officials and also by my friend W. W. Riter of Salt Lake City, who, by the way, is always interested in all movements looking to the interests and prosperity of the Saints.

We had a very pleasant journey without the slightest accident to mar our pleasure during the trip to Pueblo. Conductors, one and all, treated us with much courtesy and contributed much to our comfort and pleasure by their gentlemanly treatment, always giving ready and intelligent answers to our numerous questions.

We lay over at Pueblo from 4.05 p.m. on Wednesday till 1 a.m. on Thursday, when, after a comfortable rest and sleep, we took the D. & R. G. train for Durango. On this line we still found the same kind treatment from conductors and all employes that we had from Ogden to Pueblo. Fine cars, good speed and first-class lunch houses, situated just far enough apart to bring you to the table in a condition to enjoy a good square meal, which one is always sure to find at these

WELL APPOINTED "WAY HOTELS."

After leaving Pueblo, I arranged myself and blankets as comfortably as possible and took a real good snooze until broad daylight. The train ran so smoothly that I had no trouble in sleeping soundly. For a new road—only about four years old, I consider the road bed first-class. When I awoke at daylight, we were just entering the eastern borders of the great San Luis Valley of Colorado, which opened out like a great sea in all directions. It is said to be 100 miles in length by some 40 to 50 in breadth, and almost with no obstructions like deep ravines, dry washes, or rocks, but one grand prairie, where it looks as if you could run a plough until you wore it out in one furrow.

About 9 a. m. we arrived at Sajara station, where we left the train and footed it about a mile to Richfield, a of some 300 souls, mostly from the Southern States.

We could scarcely see the town or houses, for the enormous straw stacks. We soon found our way to Counselor Bertleson's, who made us very welcome, and gave us much information concerning the valley and its settlement by the Mormons, he having been identified with the movement from the first. This settlement has produced, the last season,

800 BUSHELS OF SMALL GRAIN TO THE MAN,

yielding as high as 100 bushels of oats to the acre. Now I consider this, Mr. Editor, a pretty high yield, but before you ask me to discount this statement, you must consider the "mighty highness" of the valley, for I am told its elevation is some 7,000 feet above sea level; this must have something to do with that high yield of oats.

We were sumptuously entertained by our hostess, Sister Bertleson, and about 2 p.m., Counselor Bertleson hitched up a spanking span of bay geldings and drove us eight miles over to Manassa to President Silas S. Smith's headquarters. He has a nice new, two-story frame house, just ready to move into.

President Smith, I may say, is the right man in the right place, well qualified in every way through his long and varied experience to take hold of a labor like the one he has in hand, and bring it through successfully, even in locating and building up new settlements and forming homes for the Saints. Few Elders are better qualified for this kind of labor, and I think the people he has around him feel a good deal as I do about it.

Manassa is nicely situated on a fine gravelly bench, with the water standing within 12 feet of the surface now, and during the growing season it is within three feet of the surface. Better water I seldom ever tasted. The people here are fast making comfortable homes for themselves, and still there is to come and do likewise. What an opening for many young men in our overcrowded counties of northern Utah to come and make homes now while land is cheap, and grow up with the country. I hope many may soon be led to do so.

The good people of Colorado are kindly-disposed towards the Saints. This is as it should be, for they will find them among her most valuable citizens, eminently qualified to take hold of those industries that go to make up the wealth of a State or nation.

Through the politeness of the very polite and courteous conductor, C. T. Davidson, I was introduced to Judge Hayte, district judge, who is a fine gentleman and fully awake to the best interests of the people of that part of the State, at least—a gentleman of broad views upon all subjects upon which we conversed, such as the general policy to pursue in filling up the valleys of the State with a people who will develop the resources thereof. He seemed to think our people were the kind to do it, and I certainly agreed with him in his conclusions. He spoke in very high terms of Elders John Morgan and Silas S. Smith, and of the people generally, so far as he had made their acquaintance.

The people here need help to enable them to hold the land they already have and purchase another tract of some 8,000 acres near their present location, situated in part on a nice bench—a choice location for a large city; quality of soil first class, and excellent water privileges. This has just fallen back into the hands of the State for sale, through the failure of a canal company to make good their contract with the State. It can now be purchased for $2.50 to $3 per acre, a fine opportunity for some of our Utah capitalists to make some money and at the same time do good to the cause, in enabling our people to get a foothold in

ONE OF THE FINEST VALLEYS OF THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS.

This valley is capable of sustaining a very dense population; the timber is good, and all the materials requisite for building up towns and villages are here.

Friday, 19th inst., we spent at Manassa in making calls at the school, co-operative store and other places. The school is well taught by Brother Christiansen, one of the first settlers in the valley. The school-house was built by the State school fund, and the school is free. About 100 scholars are in attendance, mostly in the primary department. At 5 p. m. Brother Christiansen took us in a nice buggy back to Richfield, where we put up for the night with Brother Bertleson. My son, Samuel S., attended a social party in consequence of a grand rabbit hunt, which came off a few days previous, participated in by the old men and the young men, the latter of whom were denominated the "slick faces," or not yet being able to support a beard. The old men were in the rabbit hunt, having killed or dug out 400 rabbits, but the boys redeemed themselves nicely in the dance, by beating the old gents in all the quadrilles, jigs, reels, cotillions and waltzes. One young lady was dressed in a fine black dress, trimmed and ornamented from top to bottom with rabbit tails.

On Saturday, the 20th, we took leave of our kind friends in Richfield and recorded the train for Durango. After leaving the valley, we commenced a heavy grade over rough and rolling foot hills in a zig-zag course towards the celebrated Toltec Pass, which is said to be

11,000 FEET ABOVE SEA LEVEL.

In our descent we passed a lonely house three times, the road coils back almost upon itself a number of times, often traveling several miles to make one in ascent. Near the summit there are some very curious formations in conglomerate rock, running up into monuments. One is called Lot's wife, and represents her with a kind of hood on her head.

Here the line passes a narrow perpendicular gulch 11,000 feet deep, making one's head dizzy to look down it. There are thirteen heavy, well built snow sheds passed under in approaching and leaving the summit, that I have seen put up on any of the roads passing over these high summits, averaging from 300 feet to 2,000 feet in length.

THE BEST AND STRONGEST BUILT SHEDS

Near here last March, C. T. Davidson, conductor, was blockaded for 20 days, with 21 passengers on board, one lady with four small children. They had 60 dozen of eggs on board, which greatly helped to keep them from suffering with hunger.

The country from here down to Durango is of little worth—some good patches of saw timber, but generally of small growth and scrubby. The company have a coal mine on the line, which fully supplies the necessary fuel for a long distance each way from this point. Arrived at Durango at 8.40 p.m. and took up our quarters at the Grand Central Hotel.

On Sunday, Dec. 21, we attended meeting at the Methodist church. Congregation rather small, four men, seven women, eight small children and one little darkey boy. A young gent. led the choir, consisting of himself and a lady playing on an organ—music good. Minister, a large robust man about 40 years of age, with right arm off at the elbow, which made him a little lame when his elocution required

BOTH HANDS UP.

A very fine sermon for a Methodist one, consisting of very poor metaphors and striking attitudes, which to the audience had a telling effect, especially upon the little "darkey." The speaker gave his hearers to understand that he preached just as good on a stormy day as on a fair day, for his sermon was made up and it had to be delivered, rain or shine, hence they ought not let a little storm keep them from the house of God. He placed Jesus before the minds of his hearers as the proper person to direct their petitions to, and tell all their troubles to. When the sermon was ended the Parson called upon a lay male member to stand up and pray. Lay member responded, and immediately commenced telling the Lord what a great work He had done in the creation, and winding up by creating man and putting him at the head; but poor sinful man had betrayed the high trust committed to him. He blessed the name of the Lord that in due time he had sent his dearly beloved Son to die for poor sinful man, in fact, the prayer had more sense and truth in it than the sermon, and as the lay member warmed up to the subject, some of the congregation commenced to applaud by crying "Amen! Amen! Bless the Lord!" Others gave vent to some unearthly groans, which only tended to brace up and encourage lay member, who was doing his best to justify this encoring; but by and by the applauding commenced to weaken and so did lay member, who was mouth in prayer. Had not the applauding ceased I don't know but lay member would still have been engaged in that prayer; but as most things have an end, so did the prayer finally come to an end, greatly to the relief of two of the congregation at least. On the whole we felt amply paid for our visit to

to hear the one-armed parson preach and the lay member pray, the congregation groan and see the little darkey boy grin and show the whites of his eyes.

This town has a few quite fine buildings, a large free school house, nice city hall, fine butcher shops, well supplied with as good a display of choice meats and poultry as I ever saw out West, and oysters, fresh, sold by the quart. They have water works, but no gas or electric lights for the town at night.

The city is situated on the Animas River, in a kind of an oblong valley, the sides of which are lined with pines, firs and cedars. Business chiefly mining and stock raising.

My health is good, and I have enjoyed the trip thus far very much. From here on to Bluff City, distant about 100 miles, we will have to rough it. I design being back by the 15th or 20th prox., providence and the weather permitting.

Your brother in the Gospel of Peace,
F. A. HAMMOND.
