LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES

EASTERN.

GREEN BAY, Wis., 26.—The forest fires in northern Michigan have been extinguished by soaking showers Upwards of forty persons were burned and many drowned in the lake at Michigan while trying to escape from the flames. The sufferers are well cared for and supplies are pouring in from all quarters.

PORTLAND, 26.—Wagner, the Isle of Shoals murderer, and two others escaped from the Alfred jail last night.

NEW YORK, 26.—Specie shipments to-day seven hundred thousand, of which half a million was in gold coin. Five hundred thousand in gold is packing for shipment on Saturday. Government sold a million and a half of gold at 115.67.

Twenty-four bids for gold to-day, amounting to $15,963,000, at from 115.10 to 115.67; amount to be sold, a million and a half.

Gen. Wilson, who was a short time ago appointed minister to Central America, having received his final instructions from the State department, left here last week to call on the President at Long Branch, prior to departing for his post of duty.

After mature deliberation it was decided to establish a U. S. legation at San Jose, Costa Rica, that being deemed in point of diplomatic relations and for other reasons the most important of the Central American States. As regards commercial relations with the U. S., Nicaragua is undoubtedly the most important of the Central American States and for the survey of the routes for the Isthmus canals, in which this government has already spent large sums of money, but as General Wilson has letters of credence to all the other States, it was considered most advisable, as before mentioned, to locate the legation in Costa Rica. Gen. Wilson is represented as having a pretty extensive knowledge of affairs in Central America, which was probably mainly attained by him after the close of the war, when it is said he thought seriously of renouncing his native country to seek fortune and renown in another.

CHICAGO, 26.—Senator Matt Carpenter, of Wisconsin, made his promised speech in explanation and defence of the increase of salary bill, with the back pay attachment, to a considerable audience at Janesville to-night. The speech makes about five columns of nonpareil and about one-third of it is devoted to an explanation and defence of the Credit Mobilier, to the excitement about which he attributes what he called the uproar about what is courteously stated as the back pay steal. The Credit Mobilier he declared carried terror into the hearts of unsophisticated people mainly by its name, which, not understanding, they thought must mean something dreadful. The press added to the panic and frightened those who had owned Mobilier stock into the belief that they had committed a wrong in holding it. He said the Credit Mobilier investigation of last winter has left a stain upon the nation and cast a gloom over those who believe in man's capacity for self-government. Freedom of the press is indispensable to free institutions, and yet it seems as though the freedom of the press was the only freedom left in this country. It seems as though the freedom of the press was absolute despotism as against everybody but the press. The press frightened Colfax and Patterson into the idea that to own Mobelier stock was criminal, and they appear to have rushed into the effort to disprove their ownership. The proof convinces all men that they were mistaken and uncharitable; that they intended to prevaricate; and so these men who had before the investigation, done nothing worthy of censure, are whistled down the wind, wrecked and ruined forever, and forty millions of people are stamped with apprehension and alarm. The Credit Mobilier, he declared, owed government nothing; government paid only what it agreed to for the Union Pacific road, and had and has no interest in the matter as between the two companies—the Union Pacific company and the Credit Mobilier. The suit instituted against the Mobilier company, or, to use the speaker's language, "against mankind in general," he said was the result of the panic into which Congress was thrown last winter by the outcry of the press against the Credit Mobilier, and, said he, the attorney general has entered upon this holy crusade, with what result we shall see when the courts pass upon the case. The suit has no parallel in the judicial annals of any civilized country and the real question to be determined is whether the courts are as weak in a popular storm as Congress has shown itself to be.

The main points of the Senator's argument in support of the increased salary bill and the back pay were, first, that the sum fixed, $7,500 per annum, is none too much for the service of intelligent senators or representatives, inasmuch as it is as little as they can live on. If the compensation of congressmen were fixed at a lower rate than they could afford to give their services for, the government would fall into the hands of the rich and lose its distinctive character as a government in which the poor have equal rights in making laws with the rich. Enlarging upon this point he contended that under the constitution it is actually incumbent upon a senator or representative to accept the pay fixed by law, and that he cannot refuse it without violating the constitution, which expressly says he shall receive such compensation, etc. In regard to the back pay feature of the bill he argued that as the constitution made it the duty or right of Congress to fix the compensation of its members, it was as competent for them to fix the amount on the last day of the session as on the first, that there was no contract, express or implied, between the people and congressmen that the latter should serve for a certain amount of pay. If a man or agent had agreed that he should pay himself, out of any funds of his employer in his hands, such compensation as he thought his service worth, the employer had no right to complain. Finally, he cited former instances where Congress had increased their own pay, as in 1856 and in 1866, giving a list of senators who received their back pay then and asking if there was any man willing to brand these men as thieves, he argued that if it is larceny or a lesser wrong to receive back pay now, it was a similar offence to receive it in 1856 or in 1866. The Senator concluded in the following characteristic strain—

"Washington left the impress of his character upon his own and succeeding generations. Jefferson, Madison, Hamilton, and others gave an impulse to public thought and fixed a standard of public virtue, under which we have grown to be a great and happy people. But it was left for Oakes Ames to lift the standard of public virtue clean out of mortal reach and clean out of human sight. Things which, viewed in the light of our Savior's teachings, and estimated by the standard of Christian morality, are as harmless as the cooings of a dove, are larcenies, mortal sins, in the light of 1873 and estimated by the standard of alarm and fright created by Oakes Ames and the Credit Mobilier investigation. Earthquakes sometimes come and storms sometimes rage, but the earth will not always rock, nor the rains always fall, and we may hope that the present sore, fidgety, sickly morality will sometime give place to the manly and healthy virtue taught by the Master of Nazareth."

EUROPEAN.

PARIS, 26.—The conservative Republican journal, The Siecle, has been seized.

The municipality of Paris to-day reconsidered its vote refusing to appropriate money for the reception of the Shah and adopted a resolution providing for a night fete and an illumination in honor of the visit of His Majesty.

CORK, 26.—A large number of guns, taken from the militia barracks, on Tuesday, have been recovered, well known fenians giving information to the authorities.

ROME, 26.—Ex-Queen Isabella has left this city, highly gratified with her reception at the Vatican, where she made lavish presents and contributions.

King Victor Emanuel arrived at Florence to night from Turin, and immediately summoned Signor Mingbetta to undertake the task of forming a new ministry.

In the chamber of deputies to-day, Signor Lanza, president of the council, announced that all the ministers had tendered their resignations to the King, but would remain in office till the formation of a new cabinet.

MADRID, 26.—Senor Rubia has been appointed Minister to London in place of Morell Y. Presndergast. In his credentials Rubia is styled a representative of Spain to England, instead of to Her Majesty the Queen of England. All representatives of Spain to the powers which have not recognized the republic are similarly accredited.

The Carlist leader, Seballs, lately had three of his officers shot and has condemned several others to death. Cause not made known.

There were serious disturbances in Malaga yesterday. The populace rose against the authorities and killed the Mayor of the city. Order was restored in the evening.

The government this evening publishes a denial of the report of a Carlist defeat of Nouvellas.

The extreme radicals have risen in Seville and erected a barricade in the streets. The latest dispatches from that city state that it was expected the outbreak would be suppressed before the night was over.

The municipal elections are ordered for the 12th of July, and for provincial deputies for the 6th of September.

EAST INDIES.

PENANG, 26.—It is reported here that the government of Holland is willing to enter into negotiations with the King of Acheen for a peaceful settlement of the differences between the two countries. It is also rumored that twelve Turkish vessels are on the way to Acheen to support the King's forces in their war against the Dutch troops.

— The Savannah News is authority for the information that 400 families, mainly white, in one county on the Atlantic and Gulf Railroad, could not produce a Bible, when visited by a minister. And yet red flannel shirts must be built for the heathen.—Ex.
