

ON THE EVE OF HAYWOOD'S TRIAL

Practically Every Available Room
In Boise Has Been Reserved
For Some One.

INCOMING TRAINS CROWDED.

Little Public Discussion of the Case
But There is a Very Strong Under-current of Interest.

Boise, Idaho, May 5.—Practically every available room in Boise, the capital city of Idaho, has been reserved for lawyers, witnesses or newspaper men in attendance on the court which will try William D. Haywood on the charge of the murder of former Gov. Frank Steunenberg. While there is little or no public discussion of the case the undercurrent of interest runs strong, and every incoming train brings additions to the very large number of people connected with the case who are already on the ground.

DELAY IN CASE.
That there might be some delay has been intimated from time to time, but the fear of this has now been dissipated by statements emanating from both sides. Clarence Darrow, of Chicago, and E. F. Richardson of Denver jointly leading counsel for the defense of Haywood, have both stated that they are ready for trial. Counsel for the prosecution, James H. Hawley, and Senator W. E. Borah, who has been engaged especially, are of the opinion that there will be no further delay. An application for a bill of particulars, filed by the defense, will be argued tomorrow according to Judge Fremont Wood, who will try the Haywood case, but as his decision is not available, it is not thought that this will cause any postponement.

HAS BEEN EXPENSIVE.

The history of the cases of the men charged with the murder of Steunenberg shows much delay, all of which necessarily has been expensive both to the state of Idaho and to the defense. The state has already paid bills to the amount of $52,000, and at the last session of the legislature of Idaho an appropriation of $50,000 additional was unanimously passed, all parties concurring.

When Gov. Steunenberg was assassinated, the Mine Owners' Association offered a reward of $5,000 for the arrest of the murderer. Later this amount was returned to the Mine Owners' Association by Gov. Gooding. The statement that the state of Idaho would defray the cost of the prosecution of the murderers, who ever they might be, the defense fund raised by the laborers throughout the country, and also an emergency fund by the Miners' Federation, is reported to be very large, and the total cost of carrying this case from first to last will be enormous.

James H. Hawley, the leading counsel for the prosecution, was asked today to explain the reasons for the delay in the trial of Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone. Much comment has been caused throughout the country for this delay. It has been absolutely said until the decision of the supreme court of the United States has been actually rendered.

MR. HAWLEY EXPLAINS.

"The revised statutes of the United States, treating of appeals to the United States supreme court in habeas corpus, where a prisoner is held by state courts, makes null and void any appeal of the state court pending an appeal. The great majority of courts of last resort hold any action upon the part of the trial court absolutely void until the decision of the supreme court of the United States has been actually rendered.

"It will be seen, therefore, that if in May, 1906, we had proceeded to trial in the trial court of this state before the decision of the supreme court had been rendered, the defendants would have been discharged, as they could not a second time be put in jeopardy of their lives.

"Senator Borah and myself, acting for the state, shortly before the convening of the district court of Canyon county, in May, 1906, called the attention of the defendants' attorneys to this provision of the United States statutes and stated in a letter to them on the subject that we were ready and anxious for an immediate trial, and if they also were ready, they should arrange matters so that we could proceed to trial without harm being worked to the defendants. We pointed out that all of their rights would be saved if the appeal from the circuit court were dismissed.

"The attorneys for the defendants answered our letter, declining to dismiss the appeal and expressed themselves as fearful that a question of jurisdiction might arise upon the proceedings of the supreme court of this state, which would be injurious to them if the appeal from the United States circuit court were dismissed.

"On the opening day of the last district court in May, 1906, we called the attention of that court to the section of the United States statutes and the court after a consideration held that no proceedings could be had in that court as long as the appeal from the United States circuit court was pending in the United States supreme court. This ruling necessarily continued the cases until the appeal was disposed of.

"Delays in the trial of criminal cases almost invariably work hardship upon the prosecution and operate in favor of the defense. I am not complaining because the defendants did not go on with the trial. May of last year, by the dismissal of the appeal mentioned, they acted within their legal rights in refusing, but the refusal should have precluded themselves or their friends complaining of the delay."

UNIONS TO BE REPRESENTED.

A number of labor unions and federations throughout the country are to be represented during the trials by members especially chosen for the purpose. These representatives will attend the trial and make reports to their organizations. It was proposed to have an unofficial jury of 12 representatives of union labor hear all the testimony and arguments and formally vote on the guilt or innocence of the accused, but it was stated today that this plan had been abandoned. Several of the union representatives have already reached Boise, and others will come in during the week.

WHAT DARROW SAYS.

On the cause of the delay, Clarence Darrow, of counsel for the defense, has this to say:
"The defendants have not only been ready for trial but have insisted on a trial all the time since the indictments were returned 14 months ago. Every motion for continuance has been made by the state and resisted by us. After the expiration of $50,000 additional has been asked in the state court and the federal court to cover any question of jurisdiction that might arise, the case was brought to the supreme court of the United States, and the cases advanced for as early hearing as we could get. The United States statutes providing that where an appeal is pending to the supreme court of the United States no judgment or execution can be carried out pending that appeal. As applied to this case, this statute means that if the defendants had been convicted and sentenced to death or imprisonment in the penitentiary the sentence could not have been carried out until the supreme court had passed on the appeal, but in the meantime the courts of Idaho had the same right to try the men while the appeal was pending as they had if the appeal had been disposed of. If there could be any doubt under the statutes which there could not, the supreme court of the United States expressly decided the matter in this way in the case of Mrs. Rogers, of Vermont, who was tried and convicted pending such an appeal."

CORRUPTION AND GRAFT IN CHICAGO

Police Department Was Used to Further the Interests of Mayor Dunne.

GRAND JURY INVESTIGATED.

A Number of Officials Indicted—Violation of the Civil Service Law Was a Common Practice.

Chicago, May 5.—That the city of Chicago has for years been violating the civil service law was brought to light by the investigation of the police department, which resulted yesterday in indictments being returned against four city officers and two detectives under former Mayor Dunne's administration. The investigation began 10 days ago, following charges made during the recent mayoralty campaign that former Chief of Police Collins had used his department to further the interests of Dunne by asking and receiving money from members of the police force in support of the Democratic candidate. During the investigation inspectors, captains and patrolmen testified that as far back as they could remember they had been asked to support a certain campaign for campaign purposes at each city election, no matter which party was in power.

According to the inspectors who testified before the civil service commission, it was not compulsory to subscribe to this fund, still the impression always prevailed throughout the department that it was for the best interests of everybody in the department to comply. According to the testimony submitted on which the four indictments were returned, records of the police department had been mutilated and destroyed; police officers had been used for political work while being paid by the city to perform police duty, and that the persons indicted had been guilty of levying assessments on city employees, together with soliciting and receiving bribes from saloonkeepers. The penalty for such offense is the payment of a fine not exceeding $2,000, or imprisonment in the penitentiary.

The grand jury in its report says:
"We find indications of corruption and graft in the part of patrolmen and officers that lead us to suggest that these matters, which we have been unable to investigate thoroughly on account of lack of time, be fully gone into by the next grand jury."

"The flagrant violation of the civil service laws by the police of Chicago shows the necessity for vigilance on the part of civil service boards to prevent similar abuses by other departments of the county and city government under civil service regulations."

Preparations for the trial of the former superintendent of the Chicago police department as soon as possible will be made by State Atty. Healy. The state's attorney said tonight that he believed Collins could be placed on trial by June 1. The other cases will not be taken up until fall.

The grand jury yesterday returned four joint indictments against former Chief of Police John M. Collins, and five other police and city officials in connection with alleged corruption in the city police department. The action follows an allegation that the police force had been used during the recent mayoralty campaign to further the interests of former Mayor Dunne.

Those indicted are: William L. O'Connell, former commissioner of public works and chairman of the Democratic city committee; Edmund H. Roche, city purchasing agent and member of the Democratic city committee; Frank D. Comerford, former police attorney and detective; James McGrath and Patrick McNulty.

In its report the grand jury states that "while the evidence has caused us to hold the former chief of police and his associates in the unlawful transactions, chiefly in relation to the transactions, we consider the inspectors, captains and lieutenants guilty of reprehensible conduct and deserving of censure."

First, against Collins, for mutilation of official records of the police department.
Second, against Collins and Comerford, for conspiracy to do an illegal act by taking from the service a police officer and directing him on special work in behalf of the Democratic party.
Third, against Collins, Roche and O'Connell for conspiracy to do an illegal act in violation of the civil service laws.

Fourth, against McGrath and McNulty, for conspiracy in soliciting and receiving bribes for political work.
The penalty for the "mutilation of official records" is imprisonment for one to five years while the sentence for the offense charged against Collins and Comerford is a fine of not to exceed $2,000, or imprisonment from one to five years, or both.

The bonds of former Chief Collins were placed at $5,000. The bonds of O'Connell, Roche and Comerford, $5,000 each, and that of the two detectives, $2,000 each.

JUDGE FARRAR ON FEDERAL CONTROL OF RAILROADS.

Washington, May 5.—That the United States has full power under the Constitution to govern and control railroad corporations is declared by Judge E. H. Farrar of New Orleans, in a letter addressed to President Roosevelt. The railroads, he says, are creatures of the nation. This fact places them under the rule of an alien and has the dual result both of regulating the roads and protecting them from an unjust exaction by the states. The roads also can be protected, he says, against the prejudice of the local jury by giving them the right to sue and be sued in the federal courts. The national government should provide the manner and extent through which the railroads should be taxed by the states.

Judge Farrar says:
"These corporations being creatures of the United States are entitled to the privileges provided by it for the proper and convenient performance of its governmental functions, the United States can regulate them as follows:
"First—Their mode of organization and management.
"Second—Their capital stock and their creation of debt and the issuance of securities.
"Third—Their operation down to the remotest particulars.
"Fourth—The qualifications of those employees, such as engineers, firemen, conductors, inspectors, brakemen, telegraph operators, on whose capacity depends the safety of life and property.
"Fifth—The misconduct of officials and employees in the performance of their duties can be restrained by criminal statutes.
"Sixth—These corporations can be shielded from all state interference and control.
"Seventh—They can be protected from the prejudice of the local jury by giving them the right to sue and be sued in the United States courts alone.
"Eighth—They can be protected from all state, county and municipal taxation by provision, fixing how far and in what manner and to what extent they may be taxed by the states and their subdivisions.
"Ninth—The relations of their employes to each other, as fellow servants, can be definitely settled on scientific principles of the graduation of authority.

"Tenth—Their duties in regard to settling claims against them for loss of damaged freight can be regulated to the reasonable satisfaction of the public.

"Eleventh—The rates which they charge for passenger and freight service can be regulated and all discriminations abolished.
"Twelfth—Their interchange of cars, freights and passengers with each other can be regulated.
"Thirteenth—All agreements they make with each other in regard to joint rates and pooling agreements, can be controlled."

According to report tonight, the largest individual legatee in Mr. Smith's will will be George Hason of Aberdeen, S. D., a son of Mr. Smith's sister, who, it is said, will receive $10,000,000. Mrs. Smith, the widow, according to the same report, will receive $3,000,000; Lady Cooper, $2,000,000, and the Chicago hospital $1,000,000. CAMPAIGN FUNDS.

Perry Belmont Sends Out Questions to National Committee.

Washington, May 5.—Perry Belmont, president of the national movement for legislation compelling the publication of all campaign funds, acting in behalf of the organization, today sent letters to members of the Republican and Democratic national committees, designed to ascertain the committee's attitude toward the proposed legislation. The questions follow:
"Are you in favor of the enactment by Congress of a law requiring national and congressional campaign committees to make public all contributions and expenditures by those committees?
"Should such a proposed law require publication of campaign funds before or after elections?
"Will you use your influence in securing the enactment of a national publicity law at the coming session of Congress?"

WASHINGTON SOCIALISTS.

Take as Their Characterization President's Phrase "Undesirable Citizens."

Seattle, May 5.—President Roosevelt's designation of Moyer and Haywood as "undesirable citizens" was adopted by Washington Socialists as their own characterization by the state convention of the Socialist party here today. The convention almost unanimously passed a resolution declaring that if Moyer and Haywood and the other accused officials are "undesirable citizens," they can be removed from the state.

President Roosevelt did not escape criticism. The same resolution demanded that he show proof for his statement that the officials indicted were "undesirable citizens." A resolution declaring that the president himself is the "most undesirable citizen in the United States" was also defeated, and then only because the convention went on record as refusing to bandy epithets used by capitalists.

The Socialist convention has been called by the ousting of Walter Thomas Mills, author of "The Struggle for Existence," and a very prominent man in the party. He was refused a seat on the convention floor. He is now leading the minority faction in an attempt to gain control of the party in his state.

THE REASON FOR IT.

This Contest is only made possible through the active assistance and great liberality of the Vose & Sons, Boston, W. V. Kimball Co., Chicago, and Schaeffer Piano Co., Chicago, three of the largest and wealthiest piano factories in the world, and whose sole representative we are for the State of Utah. It is simply an advertising campaign of these companies, conducted through our office. In order to thoroughly advertise their pianos in this section, they have deemed it better to spend this amount in prizes, given free to successful winners, rather than pay it out in expensive advertising in magazines, etc. It is a new departure in advertising, and one, we are sure, will be appreciated by the people of this section. In return for this large expenditure, these companies naturally expect to be repaid in part through a largely increased demand for their pianos from this section.

THE CERTIFICATE OF CREDIT.

The Certificate of Credit to be awarded as prizes to the winners in the contest are good only at our store, and will be accepted at face value towards payment of any new piano made by these companies. This is by special arrangement with us alone. Any certificate we redeem is returned by us to the factory making that particular piano from whom we receive due credit for same.

OUR ONE PRICE SYSTEM.

Our well known plan of marking every piano in plain figures at the lowest possible price and selling it at that price to one and all alike, the only fair and genuine reduction to the full amount the certificates may call for.
