credit of the players and their instructor, Miss Babcock, that they were able to make so much of it. The honors of the evening were carried off by Miss Barnum, Miss Boyer and Miss Hol-brook. Miss Barnum is an excellent reader, Miss Boyer is something more than an amateur, and Miss Holbrook has decided comedy talent. Miss Thomas played the daughter very sweetly, and other ladies filled in acceptably. While the gentlemen were hardly up to the standard of the ladies, they acquitted themselves well generally, Mr. Ames comedy creation being the most positive. Mr. Richards played Sil-chester earnestly, and Mr. Best enacted the poet with correct feeling. Mr. Gibbs portraying the swell quite artistically, and the others lending acceptable sup-port in small parts. The play was produced with the new Gillette confects of darkening the stage at the rise and fall of the curtains. While they were novel, they gave an effect of abruptness which was not entirely pleasant. The piece was received with great favor by the audience, and a curtain call was accorded after the strongest scene.

Mr. Mulvey's attraction next week, four nights with matinees on Christmas and Wednesday, will be Miss Clara Thropp in the "Doll's House."

Three lost children were taken to Margetts Bros.' store on East Temple St. last evening. Their anxious mothers were not long in finding them.

Officer Chase arrested a fellow last night named James Gillespl, on the charge of petty larceny. The fellow had in his possession a fine fur-trimmed overcoat which it is believed he stole. . . .

John Williams an express driver was arrested last evening on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. It is alleged that Williams represented to Ernest Gasser, a stranger, that unless he had a ticket to some point it would require ten cents to have his baggage checked at the baggage room. He produced a check which Gosser bought. When Gosser found that he had been fleeced he had Williams arrested.

Showing of Advantages of Public Ownership.

The question of public ownership, of public utilities is fast absorbing attention, says the National Rural, and when untrammeled by partisanship or self-interest the people are rapidly reaching the conclusion that it affords a solution to many problems. In the first instance, it would be one of the most effective means that could be adopted for doing away with much of the prevalent political corruption, by removing the most prolific source of temptation. As long as legislatures have power to grant special privileges in the way of valuable franchises, or have control over corporations holding such franchises with power to extend or curtail their powers, the temptation on the part of corporations seeking such franchises to buy them or extend their priv-lleges by bribing legislators, or the temptation on the part of the irrespon-sible legislators to sandbag corpora-tions, will exist. Also the temptation on the part of such franchise corporations to control elections in their own interesets will be prevalent. The temptation also to corrupt juries and judges to avoid paying damages in damage suits, such as now exists, would be destroyed. Every thinking person will recognize that these are the most fruitful sources of corruption in our political system, affecting all legislative bodies, from the insignificant town boards to Congress itself.

Secondly, the principal basis underlying the success of monopoly-namely, railway rebates and discriminations, without which but very few monopolles could exist-would be destroyed. Standard Oll and the coal combines undoubtediy owe their existence to discrimina-tion in their favor by the railroads and other transportation lines. The same is true of others. The argument advanced by Mr. Paul

Morton, in his testimony before the in-dustrial commission in favor of pools, is really an argument for public owner-ship. He said "that a legalized system of pooling contracts put a premlum on honesty and makes it expensive for rall-roads to make any of the discrimina-tions or rebates which are now the cause of so much complaint before the commission." He stated also that it would protect small shippers and small towns to an extent which is not possible under the present methods. Un-doubtedly this is true. The weakness, however, lies in the fact that the public dare not trust such a formidable power in the hands of a few men, who, experience teaches, would use such a power to benefit the few as against the many. The public is perfectly willing to trust itself, and it is safe only to trust such a formidable power to a peeple's government responsible directly to the people. Under public ownership it would be impossible for a few big firms in Chi-cago to get together every night, as testimony before the industrial commission shows they now do, and fix the price of grain for the next day, which can only be done through co-operation of the railways. It is true the interstate commerce commission and the laws are very pronounced against giving rebates, but the railroads secretly violate these laws.

It also stands to reason that public ownership would greatly reduce the cost of service. The vast sums which every railway and other public corpor-tions now provide for the purpose of influencing elections, maintaining lobbies and bribing legislators, also the salaries of the many high-priced lawyers, many of whom draw salaries equal to that of the President of the United States, the waste of competition,
