INSPECTING SUGAR PLANT

Dr. Samuel Hooker, of American Sugar Trust, Gratified With Local Factory Conditions.

REPAIRING BIG PIPE LINE.

Prof. McClellan Gives Organ Recital Tonight at the Methodist Church—News Notes.

Ogden, Nov. 23.—Dr. Samuel Hooker, the chief chemist for the sugar trust of the United States, was an Ogden visitor yesterday to inspect the local sugar factory in which the trust owns considerable stock. He was shown through the factory by the management and was much pleased with the excellent condition of the machinery and the working order of the factory. The working order of the factory was very satisfactory to Mr. Hooker, who will submit his report to the trust. The usage of bluing for whitening the sugar has been done away with entirely by the local factory, which puts the sugar through another process to whiten it which is proving quite as satisfactory, and the sugar will have, if anything, a better appearance than when bluing was used. All the other factories in the state will be inspected by Mr. Hooker, in which the trust holds an interest, so that the employees may know what the sugar trust industry is doing in Utah. Dr. Hooker is gratified with the good showing made by the farmers throughout the state this year in raising sugar beets, the yield being unusually large in most parts and the beets are high in saccharine.

REPAIRING PIPE LINE.

The report that was given out by one of the local papers that the pipe line in Ogden canyon belonging to the Utah Light & Railway company was dry rotting is denied by local Manager Wade. The pipe burst in several places from the air pressure, Mr. Wade says, and that when the breaks are fully repaired the water will be carried to the frontiers as usual. When the two breaks that had been found near the first bridge were repaired and the water was turned on, another break was discovered near the Oaks, only a short distance below the dam. Lister, a man of men was put to work at that point. They had the repairs made late last night and tonight Mr. Wade expects to have the power plant running again so that the people will not have to put up with such dim lights.

DR. LISTER IN THE TOILS.

Dr. Lister, the local dentist, who is made co-respondent in a divorce suit brought by John McCann, the hair dresser, against his wife, may be in the toils of the police at Pueblo, Colorado, on the charge of adultery, also Mrs. McCann, who was in Ogden several weeks ago with Mrs. McCann, the matter was placed in the hands of the police to look after. One morning McCann's surprise, a letter came to him from his wife, in which she pleaded for forgiveness and begged him to take her back. The police at Pueblo were communicated with and a telegram came yesterday to Chief Browning from the chief of police of Pueblo stating that he had located the couple and asked if he should arrest them. A message was sent back informing him that the couple were runaways and should be punished there if found together.

ORGAN RECITAL.

Prof. J. J. McClellan, the Salt Lake tabernacle organist, gives an organ recital tonight at the Methodist church.

WANTS TO ADOPT BOY.

A petition has been filed in the second district court by Mrs. Annie L. Morsehead, a widow 48 years of age, to adopt Albert M. Hunter, an orphan boy eight years of age, whose parents are both dead. The petition also asks that she be appointed guardian of his estate, which consists of $2,000 coming to the child on a life insurance policy held by his deceased father.

SKATING CONTEST.

There was a lively skating contest on last evening at the auditorium for the floor for the gold watch awarded by J. S. Lewis & Company. The judges selected three skaters from the hundreds present, who were cheered by the immense crowd as they passed by and it was not easy for the lady judges to determine that Charles G. Christian was the most graceful man of the three, although the other two were also excellent skaters.

COALVILLE.

STEEL-SALMON WEDDING.

Mercury Drops to 12 Below Zero—Coal Mines Worked to Limit.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Coalville, Summit Co., Nov. 21.—The mercury went down to 32 degrees below zero Sunday night, the weather has now moderated and it has been snowing today. A wedding took place here last evening the contracting parties were Miss Ellen Steel and Thomas H. Salmon, two prominent young people of this place. The ceremony was performed by Elder C. H. Jones at the home of the bride. Only the immediate relatives were present. The young couple will leave soon for a trip to the coast.

The coal mines here are working to their full capacity and then cannot fill their orders. The November term of court closed very suddenly after a week's session. The cases were continued and the jury discharged Tuesday.

A number of stock buyers have been through the county of late buying up beef cattle and feeders. The snow storm this week has raised the price of hay. It is now held at $10 and $12 per ton in the stack.

President M. W. Taylor's son, who was accidentally burned some time ago, is improving. The doctor is now grafting new skin on the parts that were burned, so as to heal the sores more readily. Stake high council will meet at Coalville on Saturday in regular session.

LOA.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Agricultural College Faculty Hold Interesting Meeting.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Loa, Wayne Co., Nov. 20.—The successful farmers' institute ever held in Wayne county was held here last evening by members of the Agricultural college faculty, who arrived during the day from Richfield, after traveling over the snow covered mountains with the thermometer nearly down to zero. The farmers of Loa, Lyman, Fremont and the surrounding country showed their appreciation of efforts of the institute party by turning out in force with their wives to hear the discussion of subjects of particular interest to the farmers.

The meeting was opened by Bishop Morrell of Loa, who introduced Prof. Jensen as the first speaker, who showed in an interesting address the benefit and importance of farmers' organizations. He urged the organization of institutes in each village with two central institutes, one at Loa, the other in the eastern part of the county. Prof. Stewart was the second speaker. He discussed the principles underlying dry farming, advising those farmers who were thinking of undertaking this form of farming to study the conditions of the contemplated location. Attention was called to the necessity of having a good deep soil and of getting the soil into proper physical condition. He urged upon the farmers the necessity of fall plowing and summer fallowing as being the fundamental conditions underlying successful arid farming.

Dr. Frederick was the third speaker of the evening. In reply to numerous questions, the doctor entered into a thorough and detailed description of the nature and treatment of disease of live stock, to the entire satisfaction of those present, most of whom were stockgrowers. President Seegmiller of the Sevier stake was the final speaker of the evening. He told the farmers of Loa of the practical benefits arising to the farmers of his county due to their interest in farmers' institute work and urged upon the farmers of Loa the necessity of taking hold of the work with interest and vigor.

The institute party left Loa early this morning for Koshare, Sevier county, where a meeting will be held this evening.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Cardston, Alberta, Canada, Nov. 18.—The Alberta stake conference which has just closed was a most profitable one. The singing of the choir was a surprise and showed the careful training that they had received under Conductor Newton. A class has been formed and young people called from the different wards to study their music under Mr. Newton to bring the choir of the wards up to greater perfection. The crops this season have been exceptionally heavy and a great acreage was sown. It has been difficult to obtain harvest help and grain is still standing in the fields, and some are hauling direct to the threshers. One extensive farmer said he put up 40 stacks and then concluded to thrash the rest from the field.

The waterworks system is fast nearing completion and the building is up and awaiting the machinery of the electric plant. With waterworks and electric lights Cardston will be up to date. These things have been greatly retarded by the scarcity of help, yet workmen are paid $2.50 a day.

The United States reclamation service is at work on the other side of the line on a big project over in Montana, which is giving employment to many, and the work will last for at least two years. Chas. Bros. of Cardston have a big contract on the canal and expect to put on a big force of men and teams. They are at present working a force on the Alberta canal at Spring Coulee, widening out that waterway.

The elevator here is handling a great amount of grain, and has already taken in more grain than last season, and yet not more than one-half of the crop is thrashed.

The roller mill is putting in great improvements to bring it up to date. The stores are full of customers and prosperity seems to smile on all.

The first Cardston of the season is on, yet the thermometer has not gone below zero, though the ground is now covered with snow.

WILL NOT JOIN IN WATER SUIT

Accident at B. V. U.—State Board of Insanity Meets.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Provo, Nov. 23.—An adjourned meeting of representatives of Utah county cities and canal companies, interested in the water of Utah lake and the streams flowing into the lake, was held here yesterday to arrive at a final decision on the question of joining as defendants in the injunction suit brought by Salt Lake City and the 8th Lake Canal company to restrain James A. Gardner and Abel J. Evans of Lehi from pumping water from the lake for irrigation purposes. The meeting disclosed that the Wasatch county people, Lehi City and the West Mountain Canal company in Salt Lake county were all who would join as defendants in the suit. It is not known what the effect of this decision will be on the action of the defendants, as they wanted the assistance of cities and canal companies in the lake watershed, which are interested in preserving their right to the use of waters flowing into the lake and the waters of the lake, in defraying the expenses of the suit. The defendants contend that there is more water in the lake than the plaintiffs are entitled to and that this surplus is subject to appropriation. The plaintiffs claim they are entitled to all the waters of the lake. The chief reason for the parties not directly interested failing to join the suit, is that even if the suit should be decided in favor of defendants, that there is a surplus of water in the lake, subject to appropriation—such decision would not give the defendants who come in for the purpose of testing the case, any right, except the right to appropriate and use the surplus water and this they were not prepared to do.
