SUDDEN CHANGE IN HARRIMAN'S PLANS

Magnate Leaves Paso Robles Before Daylight on Return Trip to New York.

ACCOMPANIED BY LOUIS HILL.

Farmer Will be in Control of Financial Situation, the Coming Year, Says Railroad King.

San Francisco, March 26,-Cancelling ils arrangements for a more extended stay in California, Edward H. Harri man left Paso Robles before daylight this morning, establishing temporary headquarters in his special train at Burlingame, 20 miles away, and same to San Prancisco with the unexpected announcement that he would depart for New York tomorrow evening or Sunday. His sudden change of plan se attributed to a desire to spend a few ays with his sons before they returned days with his sons before they returned to school, and he conveyed the impression that he was anxious to resume the duties hid down two months ago.

Alt. Harriman's brief sojourn at Paso Robios was in tiself a contradiction of his reported filmess. He brushed solicitous inquiries relating to his health arise and hurried away to join his party after a brief expression of his views upon general matters and g. kindly but unqualified refused to discuss any subject counceted with the inner workings of the railroad world.

LOUIS HILL ALONG.

LOUIS HILL ALONG.

Since yesterday Mr. Harriman has been almost constantly in the company of Louis Hill, president of the Great Northern, whose private car was attached to the Harriman special this morning and who accompanied the Harriman party to this city later in the day, Mr. Hill was communicative when asked why he had cartailed his visit to Pase Robles, explaining that he had come parth in order to discuss matters of general interest with Mr. Harriman. The two railway presidents probably will remain in this close companionship until Mr. Harriman's departure for the east.

"I am just drifting along as I have been doing for the last two months, and I have allowed nothing to engage my attention except the loose ends I have picked up here and there," sald Mr. Harriman, "and I really cannot recall a single one of those minor matters that would be of even local interest, I did not know as much of pending affairs as I am given credit for, and I do not know of the reported connections with the New York Central of fices—not nearly as much as has been published."

"I am feeling quite well," he said in reply to the first question. "I did not go to Pass Robles because I needed the treatment, but because I wanted to look the place over in the event that such a necessity might arise. "My stay here will be brief that it can hardly be termed a visit. I think I am entitled to a few days more of recreation, and have decided to spend them with my boys at Burlingame." "What is your opinion of the industrial outlook in this country?" he was asked. "What will be the condition of the farmer and the small business man next fall?"

FARMER IN CONTROL.

"The farmer will be in control of the situation," said Mr. Harriman. "He has been getting rich and he will be richer. He will furnish a great deal of capital for all legitimate uses, and our prosperity depends upon the purposes for which this money is used. If it goes into legitimate development and the ordinary channels of business, this country will be better off. But if it is tied up in new schemes, in the building of new railroads and other enterprises. of new railroads and other enterprises where it will not be readily accessible, it is going to be hard for those people who need money at the regular and well-known intervals.

"It cannot be denied that many men-have been put to work, many flagging industries have been revived, and the outlook is hopeful. But what I have outlook is hopeful. But what I have said previously of idle men and idle money is true at all times, and never more so than now. Capital must be invested so that men may not be idle. It must not be put into places where it cannot be readily withdrawn for the requirements of legitimate business."
