By reason of such injuries to her health plaintiff asks damages as stated above.

DEAD BEATS ON THE RAILROADS.

How Two Actresses Swindled General Passenger Agent S. K. Hooper of D. & R. G.

TRUNKS WERE FULL OF JUNK.

They Shed Tears When H. M. Cushing Started to Investigate—Hop Friend Gets a Ticket Home.

"There are more ways of beating a railroad than riding on a brakebeam," affirmed a local man this morning. This assertion was provoked at a discussion between traveling passenger agents who had gathered at the Rock Island office and were talking business. It appears that there are three actors in Salt Lake who are anxious to get to St. Louis, the only drawback being that they have no funds. In lieu of coin of the republic these thespians are seeking to put up their baggage which they value at $1,500. H. M. Cushing says they are on the square and it was he who was asking one of the boys to come in and share up on the business. Then it was that the remark was made, and somebody proceeded to relate a conversation overheard across the street between General Passenger Agent S. K. Hooper of the Rio Grande and Harry Cushing. "You want to be careful with those actors," declared the veteran major, "just remember how those girls swindled us a couple of years ago."

"That" meant years ago. The explanation followed. It appeared that there were a couple of fascinating actresses who were stranded and desired to go east to fill a purported engagement at $100 a week. They told their tale of woe to the Rio Grande, and the outcome was that their valuable baggage containing "Worth dresses from Paris" was put up in collateral.

As a guarantee of good faith the trunks were brought up to the ticket office. The girls unlocked them and threw back the lids. Then it was that the vandals, Harry Cushing, started to investigate. The girls who worked it were a couple of fascinating actresses who were stranded and desired to go east to fill a purported engagement at $100 a week. They told their tale of woe to the Rio Grande, and the outcome was that their valuable baggage containing "Worth dresses from Paris" was put up in collateral.

That is why the Rio Grande looks sideways at these girls who want to pawn their trunks for transportation. There is another graft which is worked. This one was pulled off on Saturday in the Oregon Short Line ticket office. The man who worked it was a thoroughbred hobo who bore all the outward evidences of being a "hop head." He shambled up to the counter and addressed Chester Nason, "Say, mister, I wish you to do me a favor (giving the name of lawyers in Detroit, Mich.), and asked them to deposit enough for a ticket home and also wire some money to my wife."

After asking the man up and waiting for the inevitable loan in advance Mr. Nason took his name and address and ran chances on the wire. Sure enough the answer came in the form of an order for tickets and expense money. Just before the train time the hobo was given his ticket and he went down to the depot. That is as far as he went. He wanted to go home to the old folks, but he wanted some morphine now.

Today he has the morphine and the ticket scrip has the ticket. Both apparently are satisfied.

J. D. Buckalew Here.
J. D. Buckalew, third vice president of the International Association of Machinists and two years ago resident of this city, was in Salt Lake yesterday for a few hours on his way through to San Francisco. He spends his time traveling around the country in the interests of the union and during the past 11 months he claims to have traveled 55,000 miles in this manner. Up to a few weeks ago he was temporarily located in New Mexico, where he was in charge of the Santa Fe machinists' strike. It is this business which is now taking him to the coast.

SPIKE AND RAIL.
Steel has been laid into Tonopah and work on surfacing the track has commenced.

Tracklaying on the Salt Lake Route will again be resumed tomorrow. Nothing but 75-pound steel is being laid.

The Rio Grande operating department has under consideration the running of a double train service daily between Salt Lake and Bingham Junction.

The semi-annual conference of the western freight classification committee representing all railroads west of St. Louis and Chicago, is in session at Manitou, Colo.

General Manager W. H. Bancroft means Transport Director Julius Kruttschnitt will be in the city tomorrow morning on an inspection trip.

It is wonderful how often official cars contract hot boxes in the vicinity of Idaho trout streams. So chronic has become this co-incidence that wanders, road and tackle part of the railroad officials handy on the cars.

Division Engineer Jones' office car is to be located at Moapa. The Western Union will have wires into this point within 30 days. At present the force is at work below Vero, a point some 46 miles south of Caliente.

FRUIT TREE PESTS.
How to Handle Them, Discussed by a California Man.

J. Isaac, secretary of the California State Horticultural commission, spoke on "How to get rid of fruit tree pests by cultivating their natural enemies," at Saturday's meeting of the Salt Lake County Horticultural society. He showed that in California this had been carried to such an extent that about every pest except the codling moth had been exterminated, and a parasite for the codling moth is being diligently sought for. Mr. Isaac held that the same successful system could with profit be pursued in this state. The visitor also explained that too much irrigation detracts from the favor of the fruit, particularly apples. Prof. Taylor of the Agricultural college asked the society to help support an agricultural paper about to be published by the college, and a favorable resolution was adopted.

The society received an invitation from the Commercial club to hold meetings in the parlor of the club.
