ATTORNEYS HERE FOR GOVERNMENT

Will Take Hand in Investigation
Which Begins on Tuesday.

E. E. CLARK IS DUE ON MONDAY

Examination to be Devoted to Utah
Fuel Company and Rio Grande
Western Coal Lands.

J. T. Marchand and Elmer E. Thomas, attorneys for the government, are registered at the Wilson, having come to Salt Lake to take a hand in the investigation which will open here on Tuesday before Commissioner E. E. Clark, who is due to arrive here on Monday.

This time the investigation will be devoted to the Utah Fuel company and the Rio Grande Western and their methods of acquiring coal lands and handling the output generally. Those who have some talking of what is coming assert that the recent investigation of the Union Pacific and the Union Pacific Coal company held here last month was a very tame affair and devoid of sensation in comparison to the evidence that will be forthcoming in this hearing.

THIRTY TO FIFTY WITNESSES.

It is understood that there have been between 30 and 50 subpoenas issued and in consequence the United States marshal's office is depleted of deputies who are securing all over the state serving the papers. In most cases the witnesses summoned will be only too glad to testify and tell all they know of the coal situation in Utah. Among the witnesses will be individuals who started to develop coal lands on their own account but were forced to abandon such "foolish" ideas; stenographers who filed on valuable coal lands which they had never seen and which were subsequently transferred to the big coal corporations who put up the necessary fees for filing, and others.

In the other investigation, the question of retail prices in Salt Lake will be brought up to show how to a large extent the railroads are responsible for the exorbitant price of coal in this city. The reasons for the existing coal famine also will be aired. In fact there will be interesting testimony all along the line.

According to the Tillman-Gillespie resolution under which the investigation of the coal situation in Utah is being held, it will be the duty of the commissioner to ascertain whether the relations existing between the railroads and coal companies are such as to foster a monopoly.

CLARK KNOWS UTAH.

Edgar E. Clark, the commissioner, knows Utah like a book, for not many years ago he was a passenger conductor running out of Ogden. Prior to his appointment by President Roosevelt on the commission Mr. Clark was at the head of the Order of Railway Conductors of the United States.

Provision has been made for a four days' session of the commission here in the federal courtroom. On Dec. 3 the commission will resume the hearing in Pueblo, Colo., where the Colorado Fuel & Iron company will come under fire and then there will be a hearing in Denver along the same lines.

OBJECT OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

Interesting Meeting Conducted
Last Evening by Dr.
W. C. Merritt.

ON CHARACTER BUILDING.

Speaker Said That Teachers the Country
Over Are Giving Increased
Attention to Bible Study.

Rev. Dr. W. C. Merritt of Tacoma, international field secretary of the American Sunday School union, conducted a successful meeting last evening in the First Baptist church, before the teachers from the Sunday schools of the west side Evangelical churches and several clergymen. His theme was character building, and he took the position that the object of the Sunday school was to first win souls for Christ; secondly, to build up a Christian character; or build up souls for Christ; and thirdly to send out the souls thus won over and built up to win other souls for the Master's kingdom. Dr. Merritt, in discussing methods of school administration, objected to the common method of the Sunday school room; and to illustrate his point, held up a leaflet he had picked up in a Sunday school room in southern Oregon. It had been made up by some boy into the shape of a boat, showing he took little interest in the leaflet. The lecturer then held up another lesson leaflet with the ends all chewed off. He said this was the work of some careless, inattentive girl who gave but little thought to the leaflet or the lesson it contained. Dr. Merritt held that the lesson of the day should be taught direct from the Bible itself. The pupil would get better attention, more love, more the Bible to be used instead of the leaflet. At the same time he said it would be all right to use the leaflet and such "helps" at home.

STUDY OF THE BIBLE.

The speaker felt much encouraged at the thought that teachers, the country over, were giving increased attention to Bible study, the result being a corresponding increase in influence and effectiveness of work. He called attention to conditions in the countries where the ethnic relations obtain. "Christianity is dying today," with a faint smile, he said, "because Christianity is the English speaking nations and Protestant Germany of today, with the Bible as their foundation, their cornerstone, and they are the pre-eminence of the world's religions, far in the lead of all the others. The speaker drew a striking contrast between the principal nations of the earth 100 years ago, and the same nations today. Then, France was the leading nation, and England was fourth, with Spain and Italy second and third. Now England stands in the lead, and France stands fourth or fifth, a decaying nation in company with Italy and Spain, and Catholic Germany. The nations that accept the Bible as the Word of God are forging ahead as no other nations are, in conformity with the divine utterance that God will forget the nations who know Him not, and remember those who love, honor and obey Him.

DIVES AND LAZARUS.

The speaker illustrated the lesson of Dives and Lazarus by a blackboard diagram, including two diagonal, crossed lines, with their bisection lying within a square. The upper left hand end of the square, the southeasterly pointed line, being marked "D" to represent Dives, and the lower end of the northeasterly directed line being marked "L" for Lazarus. Both of these parties passed each other in the common grave, the common meeting point, but Lazarus passed upward and ended where Dives began, while Dives passed downward and ended where Lazarus began. Dr. Merritt held that such an object lesson as that the pupil would always remember.

There was considerable discussion as to methods of effective teaching, and the interest was quite marked. This was the last evening meeting, and the last meeting of the series will be concluded at 3 p. m. tomorrow at the Y. M. C. A. Dr. Merritt is a graduate of Yale, 1878, and was one of his class deacons. He was afterwards president of a western college, and is an earnest speaker and experienced in his specialty.
