A FORTUNATE CAPTURE.

HOW THE POLICE CAUGHT A BURG-LAR AND GOT THE TOOLS OF THE GANG.

At the time Tremaine, the notorious burglar, was captured at Ogden, a man believed to be his accomplice in the Kaysville and other robberies was with him. This party, whose name is Johnson, alias Loveland, escaped at the time, taking with him a satchel, believed to contain a full complement of burglarious implements.

Johnson was arrested but the connection between him and the burglaries could not be proved. He was, however, sentenced to imprisonment for the theft of a coat. The satchel he carried away with him at Ogden never was, till quite lately, discovered, although the police have been on the lookout for it.

It appears the satchel and contents were carried to Kelton, on the Central Pacific Railroad, as it arrived here yesterday by express, addressed to this same Loveland or Editor Deseret News: Johnson. The police became acquainted with this fact, and acted learn a few facts on both sides con- of his labors for two years. We accordingly. This lucky capture by the police, who are entitled to credit, is exceedingly fortunate at this particular time, as it will doubtfrustrate plans of the burglarious gang now state of considerable excitement by Angus M. The Draper Assault Case.-Mr. T. V. Williams, who came up from Draper this morning, reports the condition of Henry Pearson as precarious. He says that one of his ribs is fractured and his head badly bruised and cut. Statements from the other side are made to the effect that Pearson invited the attack by using threats and tantalizing language. Also that there are several inaccuracies in the statements alleged to be in the deposition made by the injured man. However, an exact truth can be elucidated.

It is unnecessary to say that Bishop Stewart was in no way connected with the assault. No one on the "bottoms," besides affording regrets the affair more than he.
