The funeral of S. K. Martin was held from O'Donnell's undertaking parlors this afternoon. The interment was in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Southern Idaho Mail: Lyman Sken of Ogden, who is interested in big land and canal propositions in Idaho, arrived in Blackfoot Saturday morning.

Butte Miner: Charles Friedwest, aged 36 years, died yesterday. The remains are at Sherman's undertaking parlors awaiting order from relatives in Utah.

Private Parkhurst of M. company, First Colorado volunteers, re-elected at Fort Douglas as a member of the hospital corps. He anticipates going to the Philippines for active service.

Stephen Keogh, brother of Dr. Keogh is slowly improving at the Keogh-Hosmer hospital, although he is yet in a serious condition. Mr. Keogh came from Idaho, Tuesday of last week and was met by pneumonia, and his life was despaired of at the time, but he is now well high out of danger.

The remains of the late Lucy C. Alexander, who died of old age at Ogden Tuesday last, arrived in this city this afternoon over the Rio Grande Western. They were met at the depot, where a funeral cortege was formed and the procession wended its way slowly to the city cemetery, where the remains were interred.

The citizens of Salt Lake will notice that boxes on the streets, they are contributions boxes placed by the Salvation army, which hopes that the charitable public will occasionally drop a little of their wealth. The funds raised in this way will partly go to India which country is now struggling in the clutches of a famine.

Ezra M. Cornell of this city, who has been appointed computer in the supervising architect's office at Washington, is a nephew of the late Ezra Cornell, founder of the great Cornell university at Ithaca, N. Y. Mr. Cornell has been in Architect Headland's office for some time, he was in the office of Mr. Kletting also for quite a period. He does not know yet whether he will do any work on Utah's Federal buildings or not, but expects to be called to Washington before long.

NOTICE TO BIG HORN COLONISTS.
The company will leave Woodruff, Utah, on Monday, April 16th. All those leaving from south and west of Woodruff will join the company at Woodruff. Those going from Bear Lake Valley will leave Cokeville on Tuesday, April 17th, and join the main company at the Sublet Crossing of Ham's Fork.

The cattle are to be gathered at the following places, viz: David Lewises, West Benfield, to start April 10th; Charles Welsh, Morgan City, to start April 12th; John M. Baxter, Woodruff, Utah, to start April 14th; from Bear Lake Valley, Cokeville, to start April 16th.

All stock should be branded with an perpendicular bar near the top of left shoulder, cattle six inches, horses and horses three inches, (for road brand.)

All cattle should be in good condition and well branded before starting. As the distance from Salt Lake City to the Big Horn Basin is about five hundred miles and the road is rough in many places it will be necessary to have teams well shod, and wagons and harness in good condition, and not over-loaded. Have horses shod about behind so that shoes will not be torn off in landing.

DEMOCRATS HAVE NIGHT OF CHEERS

Hon. C. S. Varian Acts as Chairman—Talks by Senator Rawlins, Judge Powers, Henry W. Lawrence and David C. Dunbar—Democrats are Confident.

The gathering at the Salt Lake theater last night, upon the occasion of the Democratic rally was a lively one, the building being crowded. All the speakers were listened to with much attention and enthusiastic applause greeted their remarks.

Mr. Varian.

Hon. C. S. Varian was chosen as chairman of the meeting. He said Democrats have a platform of principles that they believe in. We are confronted with the Republicans without a platform and without principles, but with a system of double attack; one part of it in the press and on the platform, the other from mouth to ear. So far as I am concerned, I want the enemy to come out in the open. There are now laid before us the Democratic platform, and because of that I am informed the word is going about from mouth to mouth that it is necessary to elect a Republican to Congress in order to prevent a constitutional amendment. This mode of warfare is based on the assumption that the party in power has made a barter or deal. This is a grave question. As for myself, I have never faltered, and I shall never falter in what I consider my duty on the question alluded to. I object to this duplicity and double dealing. It will be found that on that issue restrictions are needed on one side of the political line of demarcation as well as the other. The course of the Republicans is halting and lame in regard to that issue. The Republican party arrogates to itself the idea that it represents the flag and under that assumption they have taken up an issue that threatens the life of the nation—imperialism. It cannot be disposed of with a phrase. To follow the course now laid before us is going back on all the history and traditions of our nation. When our flag was created, a nation was founded that meant equal rights for all men, a free government for all. (Glad applause.) We desire to have this question discussed. What does the flag mean? Does it mean wars of conquest, the killing of men, the ruining of women, the destruction of homes; or does it mean equal rights for all men, not some, but all?

I am for King not because he is King, but because at this time he stands for the true principles of American citizenship, and because he belongs to the Democracy, the only hope of the nation.

Senator Rawlins.

Senator Jos. L. Rawlins said: "I have come a long distance; from where they make laws, where issues are born; where men are afraid of the Constitution of their country; where men turn livid at the mention of the Declaration of Independence; where bargains are made to sell our country."

"I have come to Utah that is placed in the vanguard of the greatest battle of humanity of our day. I come to say to you 'get in line' by the election of William H. King. 'Get in line' with the next administration. 'Get in line' with the masses of the whole nation, and help crush the Moloch of wealth and greed that now rules in Washington. 'Get in line' and help take out of office a President without a principle and a party without a platform."

A President who the first thing in the morning says to his cabinet, and then prays to Mark Hanna; a president who is not competent to change his own mind, but has it changed for him after the sun goes down. 'Get in line' to help elect a man who has no other man in his mind; because they know his courage; a man who will carry the flag in the path it should follow, the next president of the United States, William H. King."

"Three weeks ago the Republicans of Utah had a platform of two planks. They had not the hardihood to point with pride to Lincoln. They did not dare to say 'we saved the country' by the Constitution; they did not dare favor the gold standard; they did not dare favor protection; they did not dare favor the open door; they did not have a principle; they had no rules in Washington; the great and good; they will stick to him as long as he has a fourth-class post-office to give out."

"The Republican party has bargained with this government. This is a serious charge. They passed the bank bill to change to the gold standard and make all obligations in gold. Not gold and silver, but gold alone. They lost courage when it came to voting on the greenbacks and treasury notes openly, but they put in the power of Lyman Gage to substitute for them bonds payable in gold. They have taken from the people the right to buy in silver, and donated the right to regulate our money to the banks, because the banks held raise the corruption fund that bought McKinley into office."

"To whom else have they sold the country. To the Standard Oil company. This company has a capital of $100,000,000, but its stock is worth $900,000,000. And the thieves in this country have been buying from the Republican party the rights of the American people. The Hanna-Payne ship subsidy bill was ordered reported favorably from the Senate committee, and it was reported by Mr. Gage that the Standard Oil company had a thirty-year contract at $400,000 a year for carrying its own oil in its own ships, to its own agents. These are the monsters of greed that, through the Republican party, are gaining a title to the United States."

"The Republican majority in congress passed a bill authorizing Secretary Gage to sell the old custom house in New York because Rockefeller and the Standard Oil trust wanted the site for a bank. The property was donated to him free, and it is to be free from taxes for years. Still their rapacity was not satisfied. A letter was sent to Gage telling him how much the bankers had contributed to the corruption fund of '96, and demanded that millions of the government money be turned over to the Standard Oil bank, and it was done."

"But Republicans sell the country not alone to Americans, but to aliens as well. The International Navigation company got a contract which Gage, the man at the head, says means a free gift of $1,000,000 on a contract to run twenty to thirty years at $200,000 a year as an opener."

"The Republican party is afraid of the Constitution of our country. They are afraid to have it apply to Puerto Rico. Why? Because it would prevent the Republican party from doing certain things. Senator Rawlins enumerated the rights that would go to the Puerto Ricans, and then said: 'The Republicans must not be restrained by the Constitution. They propose to institute the despotic rule of the czar of the Russia. What objection can there be to the powers of the Constitution going where our free flag is to be permanently established? Because the thirteenth amendment says the slave trade is abolished, but the flag goes with the Constitution slavery must cease. The Republicans dare not point to Abraham Lincoln now—he freed slaves. But under McKinley's flag is today floating over slaves in the islands of Mindanao. President McKinley has violated his oath to uphold the Constitution because today he is violating the thirteenth amendment and should be impeached."

"I am going to talk plainly tonight. I have no apology to make for defending our flag and our constitution."

"When General Miles went to Puerto Rico he told the people if they would come under the authority of this great republic they would have all the blessings that other citizens enjoy. They threw off their allegiance to Spain and welcomed our soldiers with open arms. They were thus cut off from all the rest of the world. As to punish them a hurricane swept over the island and left the people in misery and despair. But a worse blight was to follow—the perdition of the Republican party and the Republican President. While the people were in footstep George H. seems determined to establish the principle of taxation without representation; the party is bent on ruling with despotic sway. But they are hearing from the people. While the people are in the spirit of patriotism in his heart will answer with a vote of condemnation to the issue the Republican party has made."

"Are we fickle with the winds to be blown about? Where did we stand four years ago that we should change in our convictions? Are you going to repudiate them? God forbid that anyone should repudiate the words of the people of Utah."

"Be true to your convictions, my friends; turn always the eye to the right; send men to Congress who will oppose wrong and uphold right. Let the people of Utah act, and you have nothing to fear."

Henry W. Lawrence.

Henry W. Lawrence declared his concurrence in a number of the principles espoused by the Democratic party. As to the Republican cry of prosperity he expressed his fears that too many Democrats are not feeling the beneficent effects of the board of good times. He conceded that times are good with a favored few who are protected by trusts and class legislation, but the masses of the people are in hard line. The silver interests are protected the silver product of the State is unprotected, causing a loss to Utah alone last year of $5,000,000 on its output of $60,000,000. For this discrimination Republican legislation is blamable.

The greater part of the country's silver product, said Mr. Lawrence, is sent to Europe to be coined into money worth there at $1.32 to $1.37 per ounce, whereas the producers of silver are obliged to sell it at 60 cents an ounce.

The passage of the financial bill by the Republican Congress should consign the party to political oblivion. For patting the financial policy of this nation after England's vicious policy and for giving over to the bankers the privilege of fixing the volume of the currency and the kind of money, Mr. Lawrence scored the administration. He made the point that the people, through Congress, should hold the right of issuing the money of the country, but has been guilty of handing people in industrial and financial bondage and had placed the debtor class in the tender grasp of the creditor.

Only in the success of the Democratic party did Mr. Lawrence see the fulfillment of the pledge to return to the constitutional money of the nation, the free and unlimited coinage of silver. Financial liberty and political freedom and the kind of money, Mr. Lawrence declared he would support the nominee as against the nominee of the gold standard party and the party which is waging the war of conquest and aggression in the Philippines for the sole purpose of placing additional burdens on the poor people and further aggrandizing the rich.

D. C. Dunbar.

David C. Dunbar remarked at the opening of his speech that the prospect of electing William H. King next Monday is most encouraging. In his travels he had found the Republicans constructing all sorts of platforms to buy the votes of the important issues before the people. One plank improvised by the Hannaites for special use in the country south of Salt Lake, he said, is the talk of prosperity. He said that the people's reflection they know that the feigned prosperity is not real, they detect that it is not uniform and that the expense of living is higher while wages and from products command the same old figures.

By the way of replying to Candidate Hammond, Mr. Dunbar showed conclusively that the issuing of government bonds to carry on the war had increased the volume of money, so this gain in the circulating medium is but a shadow of what genuine prosperity would be if the coin of the country—silver—were in circulation. The speaker also demonstrated that stringent times, lockouts, business stagnation and misery must as surely follow Republican rule as the night of day.

Mr. Dunbar's contention is true that the balance of trade was in favor of this country last year by $200,000,000, it is but little more than that the balance has amounted to year after year for a number of years. But let Great Britain discredit our silver and continue to buy it at half price, thereby retarding this country's prosperity. Why waste the opportunity of retelling every year the trade balance in favor of the United States? Vote for William H. King and help to work the financial reform so much desired.

Judge Powers.

Judge Powers said: "I want to point out to you the status taken by the Republican party in this campaign, which seems to be based on the editorials of the Provo Enquirer, whose editor ceased his official functions yesterday, and declares the fact that he has returned to his ears and parts pot. Those people who vote for Hammond because of his views on the money question remind me of the man who had his fever and married a grass widow to get rid of it. I have been uncertain as to where the Republican party stood. It requires a man to find out what their platform really is. I am not longer in doubt as to the Republican standing on national issues when I read here in his card that he stands for the Republican party. He says he believes in bi-metalism. Yes, so do the people of Utah, and they will give the silver money power of Wall street the satisfaction they would receive, by voting down that sterling advocate of our dearest principle, William H. King."

"When the stars and stripes are raised they never will be torn down, but the Stars and Stripes never should be raised in this or any other country over the ashes of the Constitution of the United States."

"There is one thing we do not deplore," he exclaimed, "whatever may have been the sentiment of a majority of a minority of the Democratic convention, I am not a Republican. The Republican candidate in 1896 and presented another vote for that iniquitous financial bill. I have said to you before that I would rather have Mr. Roosevelt's administration than a golden rule representing Utah in the national legislature."

D. O. Wiley, Jr., of Salt Lake and Eugene W. F. Knox of Beaver, had a large audience at the latter place last evening.

HIS WIFE SWOONED AWAY

Peculiar Actions on the Part of Sidney C. Crismon.

Mrs. Crismon in a Suit for Divorce. Says He Appeared Before Her Covered with Blood.

Sidney C. Crismon was made defendant in the Third district court today, by his wife, Louise M. Crismon, who prays for a decree of divorce on the grounds of drunkenness and extreme cruelty.

The complaint recites that the couple were married in Mant on May 11, 1894, and have three children, girls, aged six, four and two years. For the past seven years, it is alleged, the defendant has been guilty of habitual drunkenness. Two years after he had taken to drink, Mrs. Crismon says, he developed a quarrelsome and petulant disposition. Without just cause or provocation, it is alleged, he frequently cursed and abused his wife until, as she says, life became a burden to her. Knowing his wife's weak physical condition he sought it, it is alleged, to continue his relations by the use of force, and to do some harm to her relatives. Because of these acts on the part of the defendant Mrs. Crismon in October, 1897, it is alleged, gave birth to a premature child.

One evening in June, 1899, defendant is said to have appeared before his wife with his face and clothes covered with blood. He told her, Mrs. Crismon says, he had been "slaughtered" by his brother and the woman immediately fell into a swoon.

Plaintiff prays that she be given a decree of divorce and awarded the custody of the children.
