Information Wanted.—Attention is requested to the following:—
"You would confer a great favor upon me if you could send me the address of a young Mormon proselyter that was in England last summer; he sailed from London to New York on the steamer Holland. I left him in New York."

Beaver Enterprise, of January, tells the story of the enterprise. One G. W. George, Washington, course, McCloughlin, who Beaver the beginning of last ember, from Wahoo, Nebraska, announced his purpose of publishing a weekly paper at Beaver. He devoted to railroad interests, was instrumental in getting up a meeting there, went recommended it, said by a Methodist minister of this city, published one of the Beaver. Continued, got a modification from type dealer and west, at the University.

A Hard Boy.—This morning a young man, Joseph Rasmussen, was before Justice Pyper, on a charge of disturbing, annoying, harassing, assaulting and abusing a family living on the bench east of the 11th Ward. Several weeks ago he visited the house alluded to and violently broke in the door, and yesterday afternoon he went there and threatened the life of a young woman, abused and threatened her father and brother, flourishing occasionally, in a menacing manner, Rasmussen's last conduct towards the family alluded to arose from his chagrin at a young lady member of it, to whom he had been paying addresses, informing him that she did not want to have anything more to do with him.

Justice E. Pyper fined the accused $40, and also decided that he be bound over, in the sum of $100, to keep the peace towards all of the members of the family whose quiet he had so violently disturbed, for the period of six

The electoral commission is expected to announce its findings.

Judge Clifford said that until the third rule the council can present the evidence they propose to offer in a class, confirmed classified form, of course based on the condition that the evidence would be received, has not been disclosed, but the council would not be able to present the evidence until the commission decided.

Some discussion as to the nature of the procedure took place.

On a second address the commission, urging that, evidence should be presented in the form of affidavits of the relevancy and effect of the evidence, which would be considered with the whole

Fifth—That the Hayes election rejected certain returns from counties named, and that Humphreys was an officer under the United States.

Judge Black was about to argue in support of the admissibility of the evidence, when Justice Clifford remarked that unless the other side objected, there was no need to suggest that he yield to Everts to prevent misunderstanding. Black said there was a misunderstanding now. He did not understand the law.

Everts then began his address to the commission, but he was soon stopped, on the ground that he was opposed to the admissibility of evidence from the other side.

Another discussion as to mode of Thurman suggested that the scope should be enlarged, else if the commission should decide to admit evidence there would be no time to hear it. He proposed that the discussion should include what evidence might be admitted, and also what evidence was now before the commission.

Miller modified his motion as suggested, and it was adopted.

At the request of Evans an additional hour was given to either side to make a final statement or to arrange for their argument.

On reassembling it was arranged that one counsel on each side should be heard on Monday and Tuesday. On Monday, it was finally agreed that three of the counsel of each side be heard, but not

The Louisiana Returning Board.—Sergeant-at-arms Thompson, who presided over the hearing, proposed to be sworn on the members of the Louisiana returning board by the sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, who had been previously brought before the Senate committee on privileges and elections for examination. Thompson says the witnesses are in his custody and that he is not responsible for their safe keeping nor permit the Senate to lection, but did not think they heard the conversation. He called attention to the fact that the electoral polls took place on the floor of the Vernon Hotel, said, "Littlefield, I want you to transpose the returns for the candidates." Witness made no answer and the returns were left with him. Set at the same desk and transcribed the votes, but did not complete work that night, but got up at 11 o'clock, and returned to the St. Paul and the Parochial returns. Left the returns under some paper, for him to take up in the morning. Told Eaton and Davis of his work. Eaton was drunk on Sunday evening, as they all were, and promised to assist him, but to be absent on Monday morning. He is John Woodward of the before being killed in turn. Eighty-seven houses in the centre of the city were plundered, churches robbed, and murders to the number of several hundred. Foreigners fled from $150,000 to $200,000 in Calcutta alone. In the suburbs the houses were looted up for several miles, and the country nearly ruined. Palmyra escaped the fate of Calcutta, paying $20,000 ransom. The houses of the Italian Consul, and an American merchant, named MacDonnell, were spared. The latter explained that civil war will degenerate into a war of races. Foreigners are flying.
