Spurious Coin Dealers Arrested-Death of Pioneer Lafayette Williams -Damage Suit Compromised.

Ogden, Jan. 7 .- The Southern Pacific has been having its share of wrecks during the past few weeks again. The last one to be reported occurred Saturnight at Carlin, Nev., when Fast Mail No. 9 ran into a freight car in the Carlin yards, resulting in injuries to five mail clerks.

No. 9 left Ogden Saturday afternoon at 3:25 o'clock, traveling at a rapid speed, being behind time. The main line at Cariln was to be clear so the train could go right through without stopping. A freight train was pulled a switch, as it was supposed, so he main line was open; but instead the switching crew left a freight car baded with glass chimneys projecting over the track, and when the fast mail ame along the engine struck the carpartially demolishing it, and its contents were scattered for a considerable The engine suffered the loss pilot and other damages. Fortunately the engine and cars remained n the track, but the mail clerks, whos a the track, out the main clerks, whose ames could not be learned here, were rown around in the cars with con-derable force, but the effent of their juries was not telegraphed the Og-in office, as Carlin is a division point and the men were cared for there.

TAKEN IN BY HIGHWAYMAN Albert Pott Has Sorry Experience

With Saloon Hanger-on. Ogden, Jan. 7 .- Because Albert Pott, a young German cook, was a jolly good fellow Saturday night and spent his earnings freely, treating a gang at various saloons, he was "taken in" by one of the hangers-on and severely slugged and robbed. His assailant succeeded in escaping before the police could be notified. . Pott claims that he was drinking considerable during the evening, with others but did not become intoxicated. During the evening he met a young man who struck up a friendliness that is unusual. The Ger-man not realizing that his newly made friend was playing him, agreed to go to his room and the two left Ander-son's salion on Grant avenue together. The stranger led Potts down the dark alley near the Central school, where he struck him a heavy blow, knocking him down, then jumped on him and beat him terribly and robbed him of his remaining cash, about $5. Potts made his way to the police and reported his troubles. Officers were detailed on the case, but were unable to locate the rob-

During 1905 there was exported $2,-549,750 pounds of wool, which returned to the grouwers a total of $7,25,295.50 849,100 pounds of wool, which returned to the growers a total of $7,252,225.50. The increase in tonnage of wool over 1905 was 1,049,300 pounds, and an in-crease of $893,225 in value. During the 12 months ending Dec. 31, 1906, there were imported to Wyoming a total of 309,597 sheep and 14,225 bucks, a grand total of 222,829 yahud et $1.

from 12 to 2 o'clock, following which an interesting program was rendered con-sisting of songs, recitations, speeches and instrumental music. A bounteous banquet was spread in the basement, the church was prettily decorated with flags, holly, colored lights and potted flowers. Special ef-fort was made to entertain the old folks. A prize was awarded to the old-est genaleman and lady member of the church presen-oldest in seniority of confirmation. This honor fell to Elder Geo. U. Smith, 56 years a member and Mrs. Mary Ann Beckett, 58 years a member. The former received a gen-tleman's muffer and the latter received a total of 309,597 sheep and 14,225 bucks, a grand total of 323,822, valued at $1,-$76,243,50. The imports of 1906 increased over one-third over those of 1905. The ranges of the state are now in better condition than ever before, and it is expected that, unless severe weather should cause losses, the present year will be the most successful for the sheep interests in the history of Wy-oming. This state is now second only to Montana, which last year produced 35,000,000 pounds of wool. There are at the present time about $00,000 more sheep on the ranges of Montana than Wyoming, but another year this state member.
