

IN THE WORLD OF WOMEN

With the exception of the Macabees and L. D. S. college ball on Thursday and Friday evenings the week has been devoid of public prominent affairs, and the private and quiet ones have been few and far between. There has been a notable list of departures of prominent Salt Lakeers for the coast—the number of home people sojourning in California being larger than at any one time in the record of past seasons. The coming week promises some pleasant home affairs, and there will be the usual quota of dancing parties at Christenings to enliven the septenary.

A week of jollification for the Latter-day Saints College students was completed last night in a ball given by the business department of that institution at Christenings hall. The party was largely attended and every one present enjoyed the affair to the utmost. Special music for two steps and waltzes was rendered by Christenings' full orchestra. The hall was very tastefully decorated by a special committee. All the faculty of the college, with their lieutenants were present to participate in the event. The affair was pronounced to be the most successful ever attempted by the college students, and even at the midnight hour the dancers were loath to depart.

Those in charge of the affair were: General Committee—A. H. Derbyshire, A. Alma Nelson, S. W. Beck, A. W. Steele, Dorothy Dwyer, May Standing, N. R. Ricks, Eva Watrous, Kate Pitt, Zella Seely, David F. Smith. Floor Committee—Bert Merrill, J. C. McMurray, J. C. Blackburn, Joseph H. Tate, Dennis White.

On Friday evening, Feb. 1st, the business class of the L. D. S. college gave a "basket social" in the general assembly room of their handsome new building. It was given for the purpose of raising means to purchase a class banner. The novelty of the entertainment was the auctioning of baskets filled with articles of different values, from the sale of which they realized a fair contribution toward the desired end. The banner has since been purchased, and is certainly an artistic and beautiful ornament, of which the class may well be proud. Those having the social in charge were Miss Zella Seely, Miss Eva Watrous, Ray Nixon, Bert Merrill and A. C. Christenings. The banner is made of red plush with gold fringe and trimmings, hung from a decorated brass rod. Gold and red are the class colors. On the face of the banner appear the class motto, "That which ye sow, that shall ye reap," and the motto of the L. D. S. college commercial class all in heavy gold lettering.

INTERIOR GLIMPSES OF SALT LAKE HOMES.

DRAWING ROOM IN RESIDENCE OF MRS. PRISCILLA JENNINGS.

The residence of Mrs. Priscilla Jennings on east South Temple street is a handsome modern residence of brown stone, with wide porch and flights of stone steps leading to the entrance adding to the effect of its elegant substantiality. The large reception hall on the front is done in handsome wood, the staircase on the west being artistically carved. On the east side is the parlor elaborately finished with rich wainscoting and tapestries and with handsome cabinets filling the corners, the bric-a-brac collected on various European trips adorning these and the elaborately carved mantel. Connected with the parlor on the west with an archway is the library, and opening from this on the west is the dining room, a handsome apartment, whose interior is shown in the above cut. Adjoining the dining room on the north are kitchen and pantries each fitted with all convenient accessories. The sleeping rooms, bath room, etc., are upstairs, and in tasteful arrangement and furnishing are in keeping with those on the first floor.

in Laurel Hall club of California, and there is not the slightest doubt but that it will result in one of the most important steps taken by club women. The members have decided to cope with the question which is vexing the world—dumplings. For the past three meetings there has been most earnest consideration of the matter and just as soon as all the ways and wherefores have been canvassed, the movement will take definite and practical shape.

In a nutshell, it is proposed to have club women stand back of and behind domestic help just as physicians have done with nurses. It is but a few years since the position of a nurse was quite as equivalent as that of the girl who goes out to service. They purpose to enable the work of housewives, so that girls of eminent respectability will take it up as willingly as they now nursing.

The plan as it is being formulated involves the opening of a bureau or an office of rooms where girls desire positions can register. Just how the headquarters will be designated has not been decided. One thing is sure, however, that it will be directly in charge of club women who will give the girls personal help and encouragement. Those who place themselves in the ranks will be investigated, if they are not known and in due time will be given credentials which will be of real value to them.

It is also proposed to make the headquarters cozy—a place where helpful influences of all kinds will be exerted, and beyond this, the plans for the future involve a temporary home for those out of employment, and rooming houses, the domestic science to it a girl for housekeeping in the most intelligent way.

The book about to be published entitled "The Founding and Organization of the Daughters of the American Revolution," is intended by its author, Mrs. Flora Adams Darlington, to be the final chapter in the controversy about these two societies. Mrs. Darlington submits in the book authoritative data including facsimile documents and official papers of the founding of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and subsequently, in protest of the Daughters of the Revolution, the well known dispute over "the matter of a patriot eligibility" clause in the Constitution is set forth in detail. This "lineal descent" item is not a part of the constitution of the Daughters of the Revolution, but it is asserted, endorsed by the D. R.'s who wish the papers and documents of which she is possessed put in the hands of the D. A. R.'s will be glad to have the facts established.

The subject for the midwinter meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which will be held at Brockton, that place, February 15, 1901, is to be "A Symposium on Boys." At the morning session there will be an address by Dr. G. Stanley Hall, president of the organization, followed by a half-hour of questions and answers on the subject under discussion. At the afternoon meeting of "Personal and Social Development of the Boy" will be considered, under the topic, "How to Make Him a Good Citizen," to be presented by Mrs. J. A. Man, of Roxbury, and "How to Make Him a Good Citizen," by Dr. F. Parker of Charlestown. These papers will be followed by open discussion from the floor, when, it is expected, mothers, teachers, and others will give practical suggestions on such topics as "The Boy's Friends," "Literature of Boys," "Discipline," "The Boy's Room," "The Boy's Education," "The Boy's Character," "The Boy's Honor," and other suggestive topics.

The New York City Household Economic association has issued a circular relating to the domestic science department. The cooking classes under the conduct of Miss Helen Lusk, Johnson of the domestic science department of the Brooklyn Institute, at 1773 Broadway, will be held at the association, at the headquarters of the association, at 1773 Broadway, street. This should be done as speedily as possible; many of the days are already taken.
