

LIEUT. SUTTON'S BODY EXHUMED

Autopsy Disclosed No Bones Were Broken, Although Was a Contusion Over the Right Eye.

BULLET WOUND CLEAN CUT.

Remains Placed in New Coffin and reinterred After Ground Had Been Consecrated.

Washington, Sept. 13.—After the body of Lieut. James N. Sutton, Jr., the naval officer, who met his death about two years ago at Annapolis, was exhumed at Arlington cemetery today, an autopsy disclosed the fact that no bones were broken, although a contusion was found over the right eye.

Lieut. Sutton had been killed in the fight which preceded his death, and that this being the case, the shot which ended his life could not have been self-inflicted.

Dr. George Tully Vaughan of this city, who represented Mrs. Sutton at the autopsy, said tonight that the bullet wound which caused his death was three inches above the right ear and was clean cut.

There was no indication that the hair on the head had been burned by powder, Vaughan said, who represented the navy department, declined to make a statement, saying he would report directly to the department.

Dr. Van Dyke, associate counsel for Mrs. Sutton, said he was convinced that the shot had been fired at least five feet from the officer's head, and that the wound showed conclusively that it was a physical impossibility for Sutton to have fired the shot.

Dr. Vaughan said tonight: "I found the body in a fair state of preservation, except a softening of the chest, trunk and arms. I found no bones broken. There was a contusion over the right eye, about two and a half inches by one and a half inches. The bullet wound in the scalp was three inches above the right ear. There were two or three cuts in connection with the bullet wound; one on the scalp near the bullet hole, and on the other about the middle of the scalp. The last cut may have been made at the post-mortem, or by a blunt instrument before death."

Present at the grave when the body was interred were Mrs. Sutton, several friends, her attorneys, several surgeons and a number of newspapermen. Mrs. Sutton was the first person to look upon the face of her dead son. After leaving the storeroom where the body lay, she said:

"I was so near my own son to go in there and see for ourselves that the forehead is crushed."

After viewing the body the newspapermen were excluded from the room and the surgeons commenced the autopsy. The examination was made by Drs. George T. Vaughan and H. D. Taylor, representing Mrs. Sutton, and Dr. Raymond Spear, U. S. N., representing the navy department.

The body was placed in a new coffin, provided by the government, and was reinterred in the same grave, after the ground had been consecrated by Rev. Father Abner O'Driscoll, Augustine's Catholic church, this city.

CAPE THOMAS PHELAN DEAD.

Bremerton, Wash., Sept. 14.—Capt. Thomas Phelan of Kansas City, soldier of fortune, died yesterday in Bremerton, Wash. While visiting in his native country, Ireland, many years ago Phelan learned of a plot to blow up the British ship Queen and warned officers of the navy.

Following the exposure of this plot, Phelan was requested to call at the office of O'Donovan Rossa, editor of the Irishman of New York. While in the office Phelan was stabbed 13 times and his arm was broken, but he recovered.

OLD SORES KEPT OPEN BY BAD BLOOD

Whenever a sore refuses to heal it is because of bad blood. The circulation has become contaminated with impure, polluted matter which has not only diseased the blood, but also destroyed its plastic or natural healing properties. The sore or ulcer therefore remains open, while the morbid discharge from the circulation into it, causes the place to inflame and fester.

Impurities in the blood which keep old sores open, come from different causes. A long spell of debilitating sickness, which breeds disease germs in the system, is a common source. These morbid impurities get into the circulation, and the blood becomes a polluted, infectious fluid, which instead of nourishing the fibres and tissues of the flesh, irritates and ulcerates them by continually discharging its impurities into the place. Another cause for bad blood is the retention in the system of the refuse and waste matters of the body. Those members of the body whose duty it is to carry off the useless accumulations become dull and sluggish in their action and leave their work imperfectly done, and this fermenting matter is absorbed into the circulation. The weakening or polluting of this vital fluid may also come as the results of some constitutional disease, especially where mineral medicines are used for a protracted time, while persons who are born with any hereditary blood taint are very apt to be afflicted with old sores.

Local or external applications cannot cure an old sore, because they do not reach the blood. Such treatment may reduce the inflammation, lessen the pain and discharge, and tend to keep the place clean, but can do no real good toward effecting a permanent cure. The sore cannot possibly heal until the impurities have been removed from the circulation and its natural, healing constituents restored.

Since an impure condition of the blood is responsible for old sores, a medicine that can purify the blood is the only hope of a successful cure; and it should be a medicine that not only cleanses the circulation, but one that at the same time restores the blood to its normal, rich, nutritive condition. S. S. S. is just such a remedy. It is made entirely of healing, cleansing, blood-nourishing, roots, herbs and barks. S. S. S. has long been recognized as the greatest of all blood purifiers, possessing the properties that are most necessary in all impure or morbid conditions of the circulation. When S. S. S. has purified the blood, old sores heal readily and surely because they are no longer fed and kept open by a continual discharge into them of disease-laden, irritating matter from the circulation. S. S. S. brings about a healthy condition of the flesh where the sore is located, and makes a lasting cure because it restores the healing properties of the blood.
