

MUCH INTEREST IN SUGAR CASES
Inquiry Into Them May Outrank in Importance Great Insurance Upheaval of 1905.
AFTER THE MEN "HIGHER UP."

Many Rumors but No Certainty—Ex-Ast. Secy. of the Treasury Makes a Statement.

New York, Nov. 15.—While the legal machinery of the government moves slowly, the air of uncertainty surrounding the so-called sugar fraud cases is interpreted to foreshadow an inquiry which may rank the insurance upheaval of 1905.

Boston and Philadelphia were held within the scope of the investigation today with the report that the government would attempt to obtain back duties on sugar in those cities, while the investigation went on in New York with repeated rumors of reaching "men higher up."

Henry L. Reynolds, former assistant secretary of the treasury, who had been seized in the cases, declared that he had no part in the matter with the government. He said that he had been seized in the matter with the government, but that he had no part in the matter.

William Loebl, Jr., collector of the port, who was named in the cases, said that he had no part in the matter. He said that he had been seized in the matter, but that he had no part in the matter.

James B. Reynolds, former assistant secretary of the treasury, who had been seized in the cases, declared that he had no part in the matter. He said that he had been seized in the matter, but that he had no part in the matter.

of the sugar trial he was sent on a trip to the west, thus preventing him from carrying on the investigation, and this was done to hinder the investigation. On the contrary, it was to help this trip that he was ordered to make this trip. It was at the direct request of Dist. Atty. Stinson.

"Mr. Parr has something to say in regard to the releasing of the vessel Straithere in November, 1907, after he had seized it. There is no information in any of the reports of the department tending to show violation of the customs law by said vessel or master or owner."

"Mr. Parr makes the statement that in the summer of 1908 Mr. Bates, the regular examiner and expert of the department, was allowed to take part in the investigation in opposition to his (Parr's) wishes. Whether this is true I do not know, as I was in Europe at the time, and had no connection with the alleged incident."

"This disposes of the specific charges of Mr. Parr. As to any general implication that the office of the assistant secretary in charge of customs was somehow in league with or under the influence of the sugar trust, I can only assert most positively that in the four years and a half of my tenure of this office I saw no indication that the said trust attempted to exercise such influence."

tion of the "open door" or the "equal opportunities" principles, to the observation of which all leading powers are pledged.

This is the conclusion reached by the state department after a long and careful investigation of the questions involved. The department today issued the following statement:

"In view of the widespread publicity of the statement that the recent Chinese-Japanese agreement relating to Manchuria created for Chinese and Japanese subjects a monopoly to carry on mining operations along the South Manchurian railway, which would exclude Americans from an extensive field of industrial enterprise, inquiry has been made of the two signatory powers, and official assurance has been received from each to the effect that no such exclusive claim to mining rights was intended by the agreement; and that, if minerals are found by Americans and others within the designated territories, no objection will be made to their working mines under concessions granted by China—the whole scope and purpose of the agreement being that any operation by Chinese and Japanese subjects of the mines within the territory mentioned should be joint as between themselves."

The above assurance confirms the conclusion already reached by the department as a result of its careful study of the agreement in the light of related and contextual evidence.

TO FORTIFY PANAMA CANAL.
New York, Nov. 16.—Maj. H. T. Barry, U. S. A., has returned here from a trip to Panama, where it is understood he was sent to locate fortifications. After making his reports at Washington he will proceed to California, which department he has been assigned to.

"I can see no reason why the canal should not be finished by 1915," he declared. "There has been an amount of discussion on the question of lock and sea-level canal, but I think we are on the right track."

Foley's Kidney Remedy will cure any case of bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. Cures backache and irregularities that if neglected might result in Bright's disease or diabetes. F. J. Hill Drug Co., "The never substitutes," Salt Lake City.

CAPT AMUNDSEN MAY RECOVER COOK'S RECORDS

New York, Nov. 16.—Capt. Rindolf Amundsen, discoverer of the north-west passage and firm supporter of Dr. Cook in the north pole controversy, is a passenger on the Scandinavian-American liner United States, now due here. Just before he sailed from Europe, Capt. Amundsen announced that he was going to Chicago to purchase supplies for an extended trip into the arctic regions and the friends of Dr. Cook believe that he will seek the records and instruments left by Dr. Cook with Harry Whitney and which are reported to be buried at Anaktuvuk, Greenland. These instruments and records are valuable in substantiating the claim of Dr. Cook. While here Dr. Cook will have an interview with Capt. Amundsen.

POLITICAL CONDITIONS IN MEXICO STABLE

New York, Nov. 16.—Arnold Shanklin, American consul general at Mexico City, has passed through here en route to Washington to make reports. "Political conditions in Mexico are stable and there is no likelihood of serious trouble from those opposed to the government of Diaz," he said. "It is my opinion that Mexico is in no greater danger of internal insurrection or revolution than the United States. When one considers that there is something like $500,000,000 of American capital invested in Mexico, it may be seen that Americans are vitally interested in the political stability and welfare of their neighbors."
