"In one hundred families I believe the washing would average six dozen each. If we pay thirty cents per dozen, this brings an income of one hundred and eighty dollars per week, leaving a margin of twenty-five dollars. If it were found that the laundry could not be run at these figures, we could increase these prices three or five cents per dozen; for at fifty cents the expense would still be less than it costs to wash and iron in dwelling-houses; as the cost of wood alone to wash and iron six dozen will not be less than two dollars per week in our own houses, and when the soap, sal soda, starch and Yesterday quite a number of young men and boys from Provo turned out on horseback and in sleighs to hunt rabbits on the river bottom. We heard that some of the parties killed as high as sixty and others quite a large number. The snow being so deep the rabbits were unable to get away and they were easily caught or killed. We are not sorry for this attempt at exterminating these pasts, for they nearly ruined all the grain crops on the bench lands last summer.
