NEW HAVEN, Conn., 23.—The fact that bodies washed ashore at West Falmouth, Mass., were dressed in yachting suits, and that on one was a life preserver marked O. Natham, leads to the conclusion that the drowned men were two of the crew of the missing yacht Mystery, as the yacht men borrowed life preservers from the steamer H. Natham.

WEST FALMOUTH, Mass., 23.—Friends of the New Haven party, who sailed in the yacht Mystery, after careful examination, are convinced that the body found on the beach is that of Rupert Sargent, one of the yachting party, and his relatives have been telegraphed to that effect.

LOCKE has made arrangements with Thomas for a tour next summer, similar to the one just completed, which will embrace all the large cities within a line drawn through New Orleans, Kansas City, St. Paul and Montreal. Special festivals will be held in some of the large cities where local choirs and societies will unite with Thomas.

The story that was circulated yesterday of a combination having been made between John W. Mackey, James Gordon Bennett, John W. Garrett and Robert Garrett, who were to furnish $4,000,000, four-fifths of the capital for the laying of the ocean cables in connection with the postal telegraph and Balfour & Co. through telegraph lines, was officially denied to day at the offices of both companies. V. P. Cummings of the Postal Company said there was no truth in the report that Mackey had anything to do with the proposed scheme, even if such a project was in contemplation at all, and an official of the Baltimore & Ohio said that he felt certain that the Messrs. Garrett and Bennett were not engaged in it.

CHICAGO, 23.—Sir Henry Parkes, member of the colonial parliament of Australia, and ex-premier, who arrived from Fresno yesterday, speaking of the duty on Australian wool, said Australians considered it a hardship for the United States to keep up a high rate of duty. "I am a thorough free trader," he said, "I believe in it absolutely; but I don't want to thrust my opinion on the American public." Everything made in America is admitted free of duty into my colony, and New South Wales; when I say everything I mean most manufactured goods, the exception being the duty on tobacco and on spirits which is imposed by the U. S. to secure revenue only. We do not impose a tariff for protection purposes whatever, the tax we levy on American goods we levy on England.

PORTSMOUTH, 23.—Malaria has appeared at several New Hampshire beaches, and many people are ill. Lewis, a wealthy Philadelphian, died at his cottage yesterday of malignant typhoid fever. His servants and family are ill. Defective drainage is supposed to be the cause of the trouble.

Mrs. Ward, a guest at Rye Beach, died yesterday.

FOREIGN.

VIENNA, 21.—Riots caused by the opposition of the people to the use of the Hungarian language in official notices occurred in other towns in Croatia besides Ogram. Troops intervened to quell them.

A number of Socialist pamphlets which attack the Emperor Francis Joseph have been found in the vicinity of the Imperial Summer Palace at Luxembourg, a few miles from the city, where Archduke Rudolph, Prince Imperial of Austria and Hungary and wife, reside. Pamphlets of a similar character have been circulated at several pleasure resorts in Lower Austria.

CONSTANTINOPLE, 21.—Brigands have captured the Governor and several Counsellors of Florina near Salonica. They demand £20,000 for the ransom of the captives.

ROME, 21.—A disastrous conflagration occurred at Berezio, in the Province of Como; forty-four houses were burned.

TRIESTE, 21.—In a riot on Sunday between Italians and Austrians, several of the latter were seriously wounded. An Austrian editor was severely beaten.

ALEXANDRIA, 21.—Forty-three deaths from cholera occurred yesterday.

PARIS, 21.—Rear Admiral Galiber, successor to Admiral Pierru in the command of the French fleet in Madagascar waters will meet Admiral Pierru at a reunion. He will afterwards go to Tamatave and open negotiations with the Hovas. He will insist upon French protectorate over northwest Madagascar, the abolition of the law relating to the seizure of land by Europeans, and the payment to the French of one million francs indemnity. The latter demand may be waived, however, if the others are complied with.

NAPLES, 23.—Mount Vesuvius is in a state of remarkable activity. The continuous trembling of the earth has resulted in considerable injury to buildings and to the railway running up the mountain.

LONDON, 22.—The Times correspondent at Vienna says: The report that Spain will join the Austro-German alliance is all gossip.

ST. PETERSBURG, 20.—There have been anti-Jewish outbreaks in Pankograd and Rostov. The disorders were promptly suppressed at both places and the instigators arrested.

The North German Gazette says Bismarck, again replying to attacks in French journals on Germany and their cry for revenge, declares that France also threatens the peace of Europe. LONDON, 23.—A canister containing a white powder, which can only be ignited when brought in contact with water, has been found at Plymouth. The police believe it to be a contrivance intended for use by Fenians.

LONDON, 23.—The Times commenting on the Berlin North German

Gazette's article, referring to attacks of French journals on Germany and declaring that France alone threatens the peace of Europe, says: An irritation is shown by the latter paper which cannot be explained by the reason assigned, as the French press, upon the whole, has been very moderate in regard to Germany. The article of the North German Gazette startled Paris, alarmed Europe and caused prices on the Bourses of Paris, Vienna and Berlin to fall. The press everywhere expresses surprise at the Gazette's attack on France, and wonder what its object is. French papers repel the charges contained in the article, and intimate that France is better prepared now. They say that Bismarck is seeking a pretext for a quarrel, or for the imposition of a fresh army.

The Austrian press ask if the article means war. The English journals think the warning was overdone. It would not do to attach too much significance to the article.

No. 116.—ANAGRAM.

"O, total are my favorite last,"
Said Jennie R. one day;
"But I don't like to gather them,
For I would rather play!"

"And papa, he likes total, too;
I believe he'd eat them fried."
"Say, papa, do you like them cooked?"
"RAW BEST," SIRE R. replied.

"But, still I hardly care a first
If they are cooked or raw."
"O, dear," said Jen., "to cook them
Ought to be against the law!"
ANIS ANGLE.

No. 117.—NUMERICAL.

Wandering about the country roads one day I passed the house where lived Miss Mablette Jones, a 1, 2, 3, 4 old maid. Fronting her neat cottage was a pretty garden, where the 5, 6, 7, 8 and the 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 were luxuriantly growing. The sight of so much beauty warmed my heart toward the lonely and unloved cultivator.

UNCLE CLAUDE.

No. 120.—ENIGMA.

A templar kneeled at a friar's knee;
He was a comely youth to see,
With curling lock, and forehead high,
And flushing cheek, and flashing eye,
And the monk was as jolly and large a man
As ever laid lip to a convent can
Or called for a contribution,
As ever read at midnight hour
Confessional in lady's bower,
Or dined for a peasant the penance whip,
Or spoke for a noble's venial slip
A venial absolution.

"O Father! in the dim twilight
I have sinned a grievous sin to-night,
And I feel hot pain e'en now begun
For the fearful murder I have done.

"I rent my victim's coat of green,
I pierced his neck with my dagger keen;
The red stream mantled high;
I grasped him, Father, all the while,
With shaking hand and feverish smile,
And said my jest and sang my song,
And laughed my laughter loud and long,
Until his glass was dry!"

"Though he was rich, and very old,
I did not touch a grain of gold;
But the blood I drank from the bubbling vein
Hath left on my lips a purple stain!"

"My son! my son! for this thou hast done
Though the sands of thy life for aye should run,"
The merry monk did say,
"Though thine eye be bright, and thine
heart be light,
Hot spirits shall haunt thee all the night,
Blue devils all the day!"

The thunders of the church were ended;
Back on his way the templar wended;
But the name of him the templar slew
Was more than the Inquisition knew.
