DESERET EVENING NEWS

To-day's Quotations.

SILVER, Dec. 59
LEAD, 3.75

TODAY'S WEATHER REPORT.

Weather report observations at 8 a. m. today:

Salt Lake City—Barometer, 30.03; temperature, 26; minimum, 24; wind, southeast; light; rain, three; cloudy.

General and local forecasts for 36 hours ending Saturday evening:

For Utah—Forecast made at San Francisco:

Occasional snow tonight and Saturday. Stationary temperature.

For Salt Lake City and vicinity—Snowfall tonight. Stationary temperature Saturday.

J. H. SMITH,
Observer, Weather Bureau.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

A civil case was before Justice McMaster this forenoon, but after a lot of consideration it was dismissed.

The Salt Lake Dramatic company are booked for a benefit for the second party of a new baby born in the family of Sadie Pitts' drug store. The company music there tonight.

The boys down at the police court have been trying to find out who left a cigare rette on the clerk's desk. It is of broad and deep dimensions and is the present of a local cigar manufacturer.

Apostle A. H. Lund will leave for Rampete county tomorrow. In addition to looking after the affairs of the county to build a Latter-day academy there, and Elder Lund will discuss the matter with them.

At the meeting of the directors of the Mutual Improvement League, held on Thursday evening, January 19, besides accepting the resignations of the members of the executive board, the directors will discuss the future policy of the league.

Wade Warren Thayer, a Yelkana reporter, has accepted a position on the Herald staff, vice Lewis L. Reed. C. M. Jackson, member-elect to the Legislature, after Mr. Jackson's legislative term shall be ended, it is said he will enter the service of some prominent local mining men.

Dr. A. C. Young states the condition of his father, Apostle Brigham Young, remains about the same, he is not daily growing weaker, as reported by the afternoon newspaper. The doctor is hopeful that his patient will take a turn for the better within the next few days.

George D. Alder was pleasantly surprised last evening at the hands of some of his many kind members of the Second ward Sunday school. A general good time was spent and a present was given him by the members of the institution, general social enjoyment and last, but not least, refreshments.

The announcement at the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. tonight that evening that Arnold Gladson, one of its members, was out of the city, was a mistake. Mr. Gladson suffered a relapse from his grip while a few days ago and was compelled to take to his bed again. He was, however, sufficiently recovered again today, though not to the extent of being able to come up town.

The many friends of John J. Toronto of the Z. C. M. I. will be surprised and pleased to learn that he slipped quietly off to Manti on Wednesday, and that when he returned Mrs. Toronto accompanied him as the happy bride of Miss Clara Seegmiller, daughter of President Seegmiller of Bevier Stake. Mr. and Mrs. Toronto will reside in the Eighteenth ward in this city.

The fire department had a run to Third South and State at 7:55 last evening. A defective flue in a house so far alighted on some hay that was stored away in an old adobe house that used to produce adobe bricks for Harry Pascoe. The firemen had considerable trouble in putting out the blaze owing to the smoke, but succeeded practically no damage done, however.

"When a sucker line me comes to town he deserves to have his head knocked off," remarked the hot owner about the gathering of a small crowd outside the Cullen at 12:45 this afternoon. A man in question was examining a brand new counterfeit dollar he held in his hand. "The trouble is," he continued, "I've been in this town too long myself to be centered." He then proceeded to read the superscription "Liberty" around the edge of the coin and then "In God We Trust" on the reverse side. "Then he faded into the adjacent barroom.

The executive board of the Mutual Improvement League met at the league rooms last evening in an informal session. With smiles of complacency the members of the board passed books and reviewed what they had accomplished since they were appointed, about a year ago. They also made out their resignations, which will be submitted to the general board of directors at a special meeting to be held within a week or two. It is a question whether the directors will say to the executive board "Oh, don't resign, you've been doing splendid service," or "Well done faithful servants; continue in the good work as well as you can."

W. G. Patrick is back at his old desk in the E. C. M. I., and will be found in the ranks of the institution's live reporting corps as before. He says he only went to New York with a view to re-joining there and undertaking a newspaper venture, but that the plan based on the expectation that he would obtain a situation in a warehouse in New York at a salary which would enable him to follow his studies. He found, however, that the situation was not one of the kind he desired, which would not give him time to engage in the study of music, and he therefore returned to Salt Lake City. His friends will be pleased to learn of his determination.

JUSTICE'S JURISDICTION.

Important Ruling by Judge Cherry in a Case on Appeal.

Held that Jurisdictional Authority is Not Conferred on Precinct Justices Sitting Outside Their Territory.

Judge Cherry decided a nice point of law today by ruling that jurisdiction could not be conferred on a justice of the peace by statute or consent where the power by statute or consent where the power is outside of his territorial jurisdiction.

The decision came up on a motion to dismiss an appeal case, the title of which was Albert C. Sewell vs. Jens C. Tuttle.

Sewell sued Tuttle to recover $50 on account of services alleged to have been rendered between January 1 and June 30, 1897.

The case was tried before Justice of the Peace D. S. Whitehouse in September, 1897, and judgment was rendered in favor of Sewell for the amount claimed, together with $15.60. From this judgment defendant appealed.

The case was tried in the city justice's court at the Third district court, the parties proceeding with the trial although Justice Whitehouse had left the room. Subsequently the court, on the motion of plaintiff's attorney, decided that Justice Whitehouse lacked jurisdiction and rendered judgment in favor of plaintiff for the amount sued for, with costs.

Counsel for plaintiff read from a decision rendered by Judge Smith in 1896 in the case of Miller vs. Morton, which held that Whitehouse lacked jurisdiction in trying the case for the reasons stated.

Attorneys Stroup and Lewis, counsel for plaintiff, replied to the motion, contending that a justice elected from one of the precincts in Salt Lake City had jurisdiction throughout the county, and that the municipality in this case also constituted the dividing of the city into precincts by the city council, and that in so doing and carrying out of the governmental functions of the municipality. If a jury could be called from the city at large to constitute a jury, it was also competent, he argued, to call a jury from the county, and to do so would be constitutional. If a precinct was merely a subdivision of the city.

Judge Cherry in his decision practically sustained the motion to dismiss, holding that the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace could not be conferred by statute or consent where the power is outside of his territorial jurisdiction. He also held that the statute giving him the right to prosecute cases his proceedings valid which the law required.

Judge Cherry held that Whitehouse had acquired no jurisdiction of the subject matter and as the district court, in appeal cases, derived its jurisdiction from the lower court his honor felt in duty bound to sustain the motion and dismiss the action.

Counsel for plaintiff took an exception to the court's ruling.
