

EVENING NEWS. Wednesday July 23, 1886

FRAGMENTS.
 MR. ISAAC CUMMINGS, of Heber City, was in town to-day.

ADA RIVERS was fined $50 in the police court to-day, for residing in a house of ill fame.

THE Theatre Orchestra will take an excursion to Lake Point next Tuesday. A concert will be given in the afternoon.

ABOUT 150 of the G. A. R. people will arrive from the east this evening. The Wisconsin delegation is among the number.

EZRA BAIRD, of Lewiston, Idaho, has been nominated to succeed Fred T. Dubois, United States Marshal of Idaho.

SUIT has been commenced in the justice's court of the Second Precinct by the Herold company against M. Dwyer, for $10.50.

To-day, in the police court, the case of Dr. Potter, charged with assaulting Dr. Standart, was taken up, and the defendant Potter discharged.

To-morrow four trains, of 10 cars each, carrying nearly 1,000 tourists will reach this city over the Utah Pacific and Utah Central Railways.

In the Justice's Court of the Second Precinct, the Co-operative Wagon and Machine Company have obtained judgment against Geo. W. Smith for a horse valued at $80, and costs of suit.

HENRY WAGNER, who was tried in the police court yesterday, for selling beer without a license, was discharged, as it was shown the beverage was disposed of at the saloon and not at the brewery.

HOGG & BURMEISTER obtained a judgment in Justice Burton's court against John H. Gillespie, for $115.00 and costs of suit. In 1885, Gillespie was tried for disturbing a meeting at Tooele and was defended by Hogg & Burmeister, to whom he gave notes for court fees, and failed to redeem them.

BROTHER JOHN HARTER, of the Ninth Ward, has obtained a well-earned reputation for raising choice fruit. To-day he exhibited, with pardonable pride, some large, luscious gooseberries, the best by far we have seen this season. They were produced in his orchard. They are of the silver-smith variety.

In this issue will be found the advertisement of Alfred J. Kemp, late of London, England, who has opened a barber shop next door north of Little & Roundy's establishment, on Main Street. The shop is fitted up with new furniture and utensils, and the young man is anxious to attract patronage. He solicits the patronage of his friends and the public. He is in every way worthy of it.

LOCAL NEWS.
 Fined.—In the police court to-day, J. A. R. Day, for stealing from Barnes & Davis' store, was fined $50.

Tools Stolen.—A quantity of carpenter's tools was stolen from a house near the Utah & Nevada depot last night. The thieves have not been arrested.

Pocket Book Found.—Mr. James Hulse, of Walker Brothers store, found a pocket book this morning, containing a number of orders on the General Trading Office for meat and provisions, and other papers. The owner can obtain his property at this office.

Suicide at Provo.—A special to the News this morning (July 23rd) says that John Howe, aged 33 years, committed suicide yesterday, by taking morphine, and died at 9 o'clock last evening. The cause of the rash act was said to be family difficulties. He leaves a wife and three children.

CITY COUNCIL.
 The City Council met in regular session last evening at 7 o'clock, Mayor Armstrong presiding.

Minnie Howard represented that two years ago she petitioned for relief on account of damages done to her house by the sewage from the Jordan and Salt Lake Canal, but that her petition was denied. She asked attention to the fact that she was suffering greatly from the pollution of the sewage, and asked for relief. Referred to committee on canal.

Samuel George Read stated that he had a small store which was his sole support; he was 39 years of age, and badly crippled, and asked that he be granted a free license. Granted.

T. H. Morrison, peddling license for the coming year. Granted.

Thomas Ball, peddling license for the coming year. Granted.

One liquor license was granted.

Henry M. Wells, who presented his statement of the receipts and disbursements of the city during the quarter ending May 31st, was referred to committee on finances.

The committee to whom had been referred the petition of the Brookside fountain to be placed on the market, reported recommending that a fountain be erected there, providing funds most interested, furnish the necessary capital, as had been done in similar cases.

The committee on public grounds, to whom had been referred the petition of Spencer Johnson asking for a deed to a certain lot, reported that the lot had been returned to Salt Lake City; but that, considering the circumstances, they recommended that the lot be sold to Johnson on the payment of $50. Report adopted.

The Mayor reported that sometime ago he had been authorized to purchase 300 copies of Tullidge's History of Salt Lake City, for the purpose of distributing them among the public libraries of the country. The books had been received and it was necessary that an appropriation be made therefor. On motion, $1,000 was appropriated.

Alderman Riser said it was a notorious fact that second-hand goods were sold as the real goods. Some of the dealers might be honest, but he was sure some of them were in the habit of standing between the thief and justice. He moved that the committee on municipal laws be instructed to inquire into the matter and see if there was any law that would reach them; if not, that one be made, requiring them to keep a record of all goods purchased and from whom purchased, with the idea that stolen property could be more readily identified.

Mr. Cope seconded the motion. He had noticed that no matter how much stolen property had been recovered from second-hand dealers, not one of them had ever been punished. In other words, that the law was not being enforced, and he thought the motion of Alderman Riser a good one. The motion was adopted.

The Council then adjourned until Tuesday next.

ICE CREAM.
 If you want to get the tastiest ice cream, get it from the old-fashioned ice cream parlor, at 102 Main Street, between 1st and 2nd South Street. They manufacture it by the wholesale, and are prepared to furnish it in bulk to parties and restaurants. They are wholesale and retail dealers in all kinds of fancy confectionery. Call and see the cool places and get a treat of delicious ice cream.

THE MODERN HAMAN.

Dickson's Mendacious Wall.—He tries to throw the responsibility of his inhuman course on the "Mormons."

The Proceedings at the alleged G. A. R. Camp-fire last night.

Shortly before 8 o'clock last night a fair-sized audience had assembled at the skating rink. The majority were visitors to the city, who were attracted to the place from its being made the G. A. R. headquarters. Col. Henry Page was in charge, and on the platform were Governor West, Marshal Dyer, District Attorney Dickson, Prof. L. H. Hatten, and a number of others.

The first speaker introduced was Professor L. H. Holden, who described the wonderful wealth and productive power of the Territory. In the older States the channels of business were closed up, and men were gray-haired before the passions of influence were open to them. In the west, however, it was different, and those who came with a strong arm and a will to work had all nature to help them. There were some things which Utah needed, if the people of the east could not come here, it was necessary for Utah to have the education of the people, and the schools and other institutions of learning; their help when they returned home; and their voices in behalf of the people. Two things were needed above all else in the Territory. These were, progress and order, and the most important still, the right kind of schools. What is wanted is a thorough-going New England New York and Pennsylvania school system, where there would be no social distinction, and where the young could be molded into ideal American citizens. The hope of the Territory was the young. The ideas of those advanced in years could not be changed; but with the influence of schools, the press, the pulpit, the milliner and dressmaker, the man of business and thought, Utah could be made one of the grandest States of the Union. The visiting soldiers and their wives here and wishes for joy and gladness were extended toward them.

General Locke, of New York, was next introduced, and made a short and appropriate speech. This was the first time he had been west of Colorado, and he was well pleased at the prospect before him. At the commencement of the war he had enlisted himself with the army of the Potomac, and remained with it to the close of the struggle. He was at Appomattox, and his own corps, the Fifth had received the surrender. It was a great sight. When the war ended there was a revolution of feeling; there were no picketers, but it was the meeting of brave men with brave men. All hostility had ceased. He was now on his way to California, where a reunion of old soldiers such as would not be again witnessed would be held. He was pleased to see so many ladies present, the memory of whose good labor during the war would ever be cherished by the soldiers.

Col. Page then introduced "Judge" Dickson, United States Prosecuting Attorney, Territory of Utah.

The "Judge" then stepped forward and made a statement with the remark that, wherever the G. A. R. halted they received a kind welcome, not nowhere else more hearty than with the loyal citizens of Utah. They were more earnest in their welcome because they understood the war, and they daily felt the want of their presence. They felt assured that the required and would be forthcoming when the mighty evil that cursed the Territory were understood, and the need of redress would be granted. "Judge" Dickson then stepped forward and delivered a speech without saying anything of the war or the soldiers, and then he said that the high carnival here could not be told in a day or a month. The most that could be done was to touch the salient features of it, that the people in the east might bring about the proper redress. The Mormon Church was steeped in authority. "One of its prime purposes was the overthrow of the American home. The people who are the antagonists of the church were steeped in disloyalty. Every Sunday since the settlement of this Territory it had been preached from every pulpit throughout the land that the Mormon Church was the enemy of the United States. This doctrine of the youth for thirty years and no other results could be expected than that which we are now seeing. The church would be hostile to the United States. He had it from good authority that when Lincoln was assassinated, the news reached here that Brigham Young, then governor, in 1865, when the 50th anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg was passed, it was met by a challenge from the church to the United States. An order went forth from the First Presidency calling upon the people to live their religion, and to show to the world that every man who held office in the church who had not more wives than God, should be ready to die in violation of the laws of his country; and ever since that time the general members of the church had been more or less in a state of rebellion. They break the laws of the land. Every man who had dared to say he would obey the law had been stigmatized by the church, ostracized by society and lashed by the "Mormon" press. A few months ago a man who was under indictment and was being tried for an unlawful combination, sought an injunction to prevent his trial, and as a result he was able to stay in the territory and he had the law for the last year and a half, and I propose to obey it to the letter. It is a worthy man, it is true, but I dare not stand up and make that promise in court. If I did I should be a traitor to my country. To promise obedience to the laws is apostasy, and the punishment is social ostracism. While that is in force, he is outcast, and if a laboring man, cannot remain here and earn a livelihood for his family. He is a worthy man, as the woodyard said, his business is ruined. The teaching here has been that the government is the enemy of the Church. In consequence the young who have been taught that doctrine are rebels to the laws of the United States. The County Court House, the City Hall, over that stand the Z. C. M. I. the Garden of Evesham, the Deseret News Office, the Temple, the Tabernacle, and that slunk into the knowledge of the House, the flagging at half mast, and yet the "Mormons" say they are the loyal citizens of the United States and took this means of expressing their loyalty on the birthday of the nation." The civil disobedience of the church was that of the Priesthood. "There was never an election held here but what the tickets were voted for solely by all the "Mormons"—there never was one dissenting voice. Such a thing could not be in any country. The "Mormons" dare not disobey. I can point you out a place in Utah where a man lives under one roof with three sisters; raising children by each, and each the child of a husband. Can you point you to another, almost within a stone's throw, where a man has married a woman, her daughter, and her granddaughter and has begotten children by each. The tendency of polygamy is to make the public morals of this community are becoming debauched. The power that reigns here is that of the Priesthood, of hypocrites and perjurers. How long, oh, how long must this thing be endured? There is no law here when this people will say it must stop? I want you when you go home not to forget the law of the land, and when you have redress of our wrongs. In the courts here I have seen a woman who said her daughter was married and a mother, but she could not get her husband away from her. To save her soul from perdition, she was a young woman, comely and modest, who had been married two years, yet to rescue her from damnation, she could not say that she had ever borne the relation of wife to her husband. Those in authority in the church encourage perjury. I have seen a man who had been indicted to show in any of their doctrines any thing condoning perjury. Of course I could not say for they do not print. They know perjury is committed but never speak against it. They rather apologize, defend and praise those who commit it. The authorities of the church are disloyal, and why should the nation hesitate to wrest from these disloyal citizens the ballot? There is nothing un-American in it. The people here do not really exercise that franchise. They do as they are told. Would it be any wrong to strike from the hands of these people a privilege which they do not exercise—the ballot? Would it be any wrong to deprive them of that right? I do not ask for any offices; we only ask that City Hall, see as appears in my office.

We can never reach the root of the evil here until the civil power is taken from them. If we are true "Mormons" who desire to put down the "Mormons." All we ask is for Congress to take the government. The Gentiles are willing to have the ballot taken from them. They are willing for Congress or a commission appointed by the President to rule. This would not give the Gentiles the power. The only successful method to take the power from the "Mormons" is to give them the power. They say they are persecuted for conscience sake, and willing to believe and do believe that the "Mormon" people sincerely believe what they are taught by the head of the church, but I do not believe that those in authority are sincere in what they claim to believe. It is simply just. These criminals could not go free by simply promising to obey the law, yet they will not do it. Such opportunities are given to criminals nowhere else. Yet they call this persecution. Governor West offered to fifty confined in the penitentiary that if they would keep the law he would use his influence with the President for their liberation. But not one dared to accept the offer. Mr. Dickson then launched forth a stream of bitter invective and glaring falsehoods concerning President George D. Cannon, whom he denominated as the real head of the Church. He wanted the members of the G. A. R. to believe that they were in a position to see that the public mind was wrought up on this question until the members of Congress did their duty towards Utah.

Conrad Smith, of Missouri, next came forward. He knew a wet blanket on the revivings of the District Attorney, by calling the "monstrous evil" which he had said should be done against a small boy on the arm as committed to the ulcer which had afflicted the whole side of the nation in the days of the civil war. The bill might be ready to have the core taken out, and it should be done. The boys of the G. A. R. had used heroic treatment to the ulcer, the knife was used and it was cut out. They were now on their way to California to rejoice in the result. They should be worried about the magnificent question in Utah, but should teach the people that citizenship should be, the law should be supreme, and Church and State should be separate. The interests here would be looked after carefully and vigilantly. When the G. A. R. returned, enlightened by what they had heard of the ulcer, they would give what aid they could, until Utah was fitted to become one of the sisterhood of States.

Gen. Geo. H. Maxwell next appeared on the stand, and said it was time to quit, but on another occasion he would speak. He warned the visitors that if they kept their promise to put "Mormonism" down, the assemblage there dispersed to fight the Wisconsin delegation will arrive.

THE ANARCHISTS.
 Another Session in the Court Room.

CHICAGO, 28.—In the anarchist trial this morning, H. L. Clegg, a paleontologist, testified to arriving at the Haymarket at 9:45. At the corner of Des Plaines and Randolph streets he saw a wagon occupied by speakers. Fielden was speaking. Witnesses saw some one leave the wagon and go to the alley where four or five persons were covering. Witness was at the mouth of the alley. At that moment he saw some one enter the wagon and join the speakers. He saw a man who had left the wagon and joined the parties in the alley. He saw a man who had left the wagon and joined the parties in the alley. He saw a man who had left the wagon and joined the parties in the alley.

Witness was shown a picture of Schnaubelt and recognized it as the man who threw the bomb.

"How many men were there?" "Four or five."

"You say the man came from a wagon and joined this group?" "Yes, that is the man," pointing at the picture.

"Do you recognize any of the remaining defendants as being in the group?" "Yes, that was one of the group," pointing to Fischer.

This testimony following that of Thompson yesterday, the most profound sensation in the court room. Cross-examination failed to shake the testimony.

The French Steamer "Labrador" on Fire.

NEW YORK, 28.—When the French steamer Labrador, from Havre, came to anchor at quarantine at 3:30 A. M. to-day, an officer rushed excitedly to the bridge and notified the captain that the steamer was a mass of flames with a low.

On consultation with pilot Wilson, it was deemed best to run the ship ashore, where she was done. Long Island Sound, below Bay Ridge. No cause was given for the fire. Passengers were promptly ashore, and the passengers transferred to tugboats. The tugboats Tugs, which alongside and poured streams of water down into the hold. At 7:30 the fire was under control, and soon after the steamer will have to discharge her cargo before getting off, as she is well up, having run ashore by the falling tide. At about 6 A. M. the passengers left for the city at 8 o'clock. Wm. Fletcher. It is supposed the fire originated in the drying room.
