THOSE ELECTIONS!

A Little More from the Two States.

INDIANA.

INDIANAPOLIS, 13.—Reports from 800 towns give a republican gain of 4,701. With the same rate of gains in the State the republicans would have a plurality for governor of 1,000.

Clark county returns are complete and give a democratic majority of 749; democratic loss, 749.

Latest returns from the first congressional district indicate a very close contest, both parties claiming a victory.

Indications point to the election of Kleiner, democrat, of the Evansville district.

Landers, English & McDonald sent out $1,000 at midnight to bet on Landers' election.

The republicans claim nine out of the 13 Congressmen. Heilmen says he is elected. The democrats are entirely disheartened and weak-kneed. They refuse to claim anything and concede whatever the republicans claim without making any protest. They evidently give up the ship.

The Sentinel, (democrat) says: At 5 o'clock this morning, still over a thousand precincts to hear from, the republicans claim the State by 5,000, but the returns do not show it, and we hope when the remaining precincts are heard from, Landers will be elected by a small majority, as the smaller county precincts are to be heard from at this hour. Few if any of the cities will be heard from before morning. To-day returns show gains which if continued at the same ratio, would give Porter he election by 3,090 majority.

Indianapolis city and county give incomplete returns. The estimated republican majority is 2,500, a gain of 800; 390 Indiana precincts show a democratic gain of 2,471; republican gain, 6,753, net republican gain, 3,282.

A special from Indianapolis says: The present indications are that Porter is sure to carry the State by 3,000, while the majority may reach 7,000. The legislature will be close, owing to the fact that six more democratic Senators hold over than the republican. The chances, however, favor the latter. Republicans gain an average of nine to each precinct. The republicans elect seven and probably eight Congressmen. Voorhees still refuses to give up the State.

Official returns by counties show in 23 counties net republican gains of 2,678. There are 94 counties in the State. Later returns show still more favorably for the republicans. In the first congressional district, Heilman, republican, is probably elected. This is De La Matyr's district, and this makes a republican gain of one Indiana Congressional delegation.

OHIO.

TOLEDO, 13.—Hurd has been defeated by Ritchie.

Columbus, 13.—The chairman of the republican committee telegraphed Marshall Jewell that the republican plurality in the State is not less than 30,000 with thirteen, probably fifteen Congressmen.

The Democratic State Committee refuse all attempts at interviews by newspaper correspondents, saying they know the State has gone republican and that the republicans have swept every doubtful Congressional district, which is quite enough for them to know.

COMMENTS ON THE RESULT.

From Chicago.

CHICAGO, 13.—An Inter-Ocean Washington special says: The Post, democratic, concedes the election to Garfield, if its previous editorial utterances mean anything; for it has distinctly declared for two weeks that if both Ohio and Indiana went republican, they would give up the fight. John G. Thompson, early in the campaign; declared the same thing.

Secretary Schurz expects from six to ten republican majority in the next House. Postmaster-General Maynard concurs.

The magnitude of the victory of yesterday is fully appreciated in Washington, and Schurz sent a telegram to-day congratulating Garfield on his certain election.

Chairman Hubbell now considers Virginia, North Carolina and Florida hopeful and attributes the result to fear of democratic ascendency and its effect on business. Garfield, he said, would get 10,000 more votes in Ohio than the republican majority, this election. He is confident of New York, Maine, Connecticut and New Jersey. He does'nt believe there's a man who understands the political developments of the last two weeks, who does not feel that the certainty is securely republican. The republicans must, however, keep right on gaining Congressmen and rolling up large majorities. Not the least pleasing result of the compilations on the effect of the Indiana election at republican headquarters is the prospective recovery of the control of the United States Senate. That body stands now: Republicans, 33; Democrats, 42; Independent, 1. It is now considered certain that one republican will be gained in each of the States of New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New Jersey and Indiana, and one lost in Mississippi, leaving 38 republicans in the Senate. After March 4th the democrats will lose the foregoing six and gain one, leaving 37 democrats. Should Davis, of Illinois, vote with the democrats making a tie, Arthur as president of the Senate will have the deciding vote.

Chicago, 13.—A Tribune special from Indianapolis says: The effect of the returns was nowhere more marked than in the committee rooms. The republicans were jubilant and the democrats were correspondingly blue. Senator Dorsey estimated that the State would give Porter 5,000 majority, and Ben Harrison was equally confident. The correspondent of the Louisville Courier-Journal put the republican majority at 2,000, unless the river counties shall go the democratic way. At midnight the democratic committee shut up the rooms and stopped reading the returns.

The Tribune says: Yesterday settled the presidential campaign. Nothing but overwhelming and impossible negligence can now prevent the election of Garfield. The October tide thus sets strongly in the republican channel, and henceforth the whole drift will be with us to the end. Ohio is peculiarly gratifying. Four years ago, with another and very popular Ohioan at the head of the ticket, the October majority was only 6,636. Ohio now responds to the virulent assaults on Garfield, which have formed the whole staple of the democratic canvass, by rolling up a majority of three to five times as much as she gave to the popular Hayes. There is a lesson for believers in a campaign of slaughter, that ought to last them a life-time. The rising Garfield tide has swept several Ohio Congressmen out of sight. The vote of Indiana for Garfield in November is assured. The country wants no change. Least of all does she want the change proposed. Forty millions are not going to lay their power and invite 15,000,000 to rule over them. The solid South is met by the solid North, and the party that saved the Nation will continue to rule it.

Chicago, 13.—All the editorials so far as received, agree that the democrats have sustained a great and irreparable shock in the Indiana defeat. It is now generally conceded that the defeat there is certain. The democrats still feebly assert that with a solid South, New York and New Jersey and Connecticut, and possibly some of the Coast States, they may pull through yet, and that they have odds in their favor still. The Republicans, however, consider this talk as cheap buncomb, and say that if they can carry Indiana, which is a democratic State, and can make gains of from 10,000 to 15,000 in it, they can with ease carry New York and its satellite States, all of which are only doubtful and have recently shown the republican sentiment to be strong and growing. They say that the rush to get in on the winning side will now tell in their favor and that New York may give as high as 50,000 majority, while it is not at all impossible that several of the Southern States may wheel into line. As to the fidelity of the Pacific Coast States to republican principles, no doubt is entertained here.

From New York.

NEW YORK, 13.—The Times says: It is tolerably obvious there is no democratic "tidal wave" this year. The careful reader of to-day's dispatches will be able to satisfy himself whether there is any tidal wave at all, and if so, in what direction is it setting. An abnormally large majority in Ohio and probable republican plurality in Indiana are calculated to give the republicans in this State new confidence in victory. The republican party propose to carry New York, whether the majority against them in this city and in Brooklyn be 65,000 or 75,000, and the elections of yesterday certainly give them the assurance that the party vote in these cities will be 20 per cent. greater than any vote which has ever been cast in a presidential year. Yesterday's election makes it more certain that the two democratic factions in this city, both of which have been waiting for a chance to assert their independence, will find a new reason to fight over the municipal spoils which are obtainable, rather than agree on the expectation of federal patronage, which is more than ever beyond their reach.

The Sun says: It is probable that the Garfield party has carried Garfield's own State. The figures from Indiana, up to this moment, are not such as to enable us to give an assured or detailed result of the election in that State, but the first of the returns to reach us are from the larger republican cities, while the vote of the counties in which the heaviest democratic majorities were expected, is not yet in.

The Sun asks: Can Hancock carry New York?

The World says: There seems to be no reason to doubt that the republicans have carried the republican State of Ohio, although upon the candidate who heads the ticket the democrats have made very considerable gains upon the vote of 1874. Indiana, however, is a doubtful State, and the contest there is always close. The total vote this year, if we can infer anything whatever from the returns thus far received, has been more than 450,000. The result will not apparently vary much from that of 1876. It is to be noted, however, that the straight democratic counties of the interior are still to be heard from, and it is entirely within the possibilities that these counties may not only neutralize, but so far overcome the reported republican gains as to swell Lander's majority to figures much greater than those reached by Williams in 1876, although Landers has unquestionably run his ticket, since he is enough of a greenbacker to disaffect many hard money democrats without being enough of a greenbacker to attract any considerable following from among soft money men.
