

LOCAL NEWS.

FROM FRIDAY'S DAILY, FEB. 1.

Wedded.—Mr. Fergus Ferguson, son of the late James Ferguson, Esq., and Miss Jeannette Sharp, daughter of Bishop John Sharp, of this city, yesterday entered upon married life, Justice Adam Splers officiating in the ceremony. A reception and supper was given at the residence of Mrs. Annie Sharp, mother of the bride, last evening. The News extends its good wishes.

A Good Deed.—A young man in the employ of the D. & R. G., who is dependent entirely upon his wages for a livelihood, lost his entire month's pay last Tuesday, while going from the bank, where he had been having checks cashed for his associates in the machine shops.

He was agreeably surprised yesterday evening by being tendered more than the amount lost, the said sum being subscribed by his friends in the shops, thus showing themselves to be charitably inclined. These gentlemen can feel assured that this kindness is duly appreciated by the young man and his family. Good deeds are never forgotten.

Giant Powder Accident.—A man named James Treloar, a miner at Tintic, met with a serious and lamentable accident on Wednesday by the explosion of a stick of giant powder which some one, thoughtlessly or with malicious intent, had put inside a stove in which Mr. Treloar kindled a fire, not knowing the proximity of the dangerous combustible.

The powder went off and shattered the unfortunate man's body in a fearful manner. One leg was so badly injured that amputation was found necessary above the knee, and the other may yet have to be treated similarly. The right forearm and some of the fingers were also hurt. He is at the Catholic Hospital in a precarious state. Dr. Benedict attended him.

Dangerous and Unlawful.—A gentleman living in the neighborhood of Prospect Hill, 18th Ward, states that as he was coming down town yesterday afternoon he came upon two men practicing at target shooting. They placed their target at the end of a fence belonging to Mr. Robert R. Anderson, and very near to a path leading around the hill from the Empire Mill, from which direction people were apt to appear at any minute. "Crack!" "Crack!" went the rifle shots, peppering the target and the earth in its vicinity with leaden pellets, each of which carried death to the luckless wight who might the next moment turn the bend of the winding path where the target was fixed.

The gentleman who witnessed the shooting, being aware of the existence of a law against such dangerous sport within the limits of the city, was on the point of speaking to the men and warning them to desist but thinking he was not the proper person to take such an action, he came down to the News office and informed the editor, who now calls the attention of the municipal officers to the dangerous practice and infraction of the law which he complains of. An example should be made of those who persist in such things, before some innocent citizen is "accidentally killed."

Assault and Attempt to Rob.—An assault and unsuccessful attempt at robbery was made last evening by a man named Johnson upon one J. P. Roubert, near the D. & R. G. Railway track, between the Fifth and Sixth Wards. The two men, it seems, were walking into town from the Morgan Smelter, where Roubert had been employed, when, in the course of conversation, Johnson learning that his companion had some money about him, he drew a pistol and hit Roubert over the head with it, the weapon being accidentally discharged.

The two then grappled and fell, and Roubert was getting the best of his opponent, but through loss of blood and consequent weakness, he had to loose his hold and the would be robber escaped, without, however, taking any of the others' money with him.

Roubert was found by some boys and Mr. F. Lewis, who took him into his house, where he was kindly cared for. He had a scalp wound which bled freely, but he was not dangerously hurt. Johnson was last seen on the D. & R. G. track, going south. The police are on the lookout for him.

A SKILFUL SCULPTOR.

A YOUNG UTAH ARTIST OF STRIKING ABILITY WILL OPEN A STUDIO.

This morning, we had the pleasure of meeting Mr. C. E. Dallin, of Springfield, Utah, whose reputation as a sculptor may now be considered national, his progress in the art during the last four years being almost phenomenal. He is now only 22 years old, and went to Boston and entered upon his studies at the age of 18. Among his principal and most notable productions are, a copy of a panther; a little girl, the latter having been mentioned in terms of commendation by the leading Boston papers. It was exhibited in the Art Institute Fair in 1882. He produced the bust of a boy to order. It was favorably noticed for merit at the contemporary Art Exhibition held at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. One of his next conspicuous specimens of artistic skill was a model of The Revere, the matter of the award of the order for the statue being between Mr. Dallin and the well known artist Mr. Thos. Ball, and not yet decided. He also made a statue of William Warren, the actor, who was delighted with it.

The cowboy equestrian and Indian equestrian are said to be splendid specimens of art, and in the same line comes a Mexican lassoing a steer. The latter was greatly admired by Prof. Jugglaris, a noted Italian sculptor, who, in viewing it, made the remark that there was no reason why Mr. Dallin should not become one of the foremost sculptors in America.

Mr. Dallin once called upon Oliver Wendell Holmes and asked him to sit for a bust. The Doctor showed great reluctance, stating humorously that he did not think he could live through the ordeal. He sat once before and the production was a ghastly object, the artist dying shortly after its execution.

During the interview Mr. Dallin made good use of his eyes, and aided by a photograph produced a life-like bust. Dr. Holmes happened to call afterwards at the art workshop with a lady friend and saw the bust of somebody he thought appeared familiar to him. He walked around it and at last exclaimed, "Why, it's no other than myself," to the great amusement of his companion. The bust was greatly admired by the friends of Dr. Holmes.

Mr. Dallin purposes remaining in this city till next fall and opening a studio. He will study Western subjects, which is a new field for sculpture. He will also execute orders, and we hope his skilful brain and hands will be kept amply employed. Utah should take some pride in her young artist whose merit is beyond all question. We hope he will have plenty of patrons.

FROM SATURDAY'S DAILY, FEB. 2.

Boy Disappeared.—About 8 months ago a lad named Nicholas J. Thomas, aged about 16 years, a native of Wales, and son of Thomas and Catherine Thomas, left his home in this city with the expressed intention of going to Ogden to work on the railroad. He has never been heard of or from since. Any information concerning his whereabouts will be thankfully received by his anxious parents.

Reduced Rates.—The Union Pacific Railway Company has issued an order, which goes into effect to-day, reducing their passenger classification by doing away entirely with what are designated emigrant passengers and emigrant trains. From this date the second class will be the lowest one, and passengers can reach points on the Missouri River for the same rates emigrants were formerly charged, viz. $40, the second class rate being reduced to that figure, and they will travel on express trains.

Indian Troubles near Ogden.—The Ogden Herald of the 20th says that for some weeks past four or five Indians with their families have been camping on a sagebrush elevation a few hundred yards south of the Wilson schoolhouse, which is about two miles west of Ogden. Yesterday one of the braves came to Ogden and partook of the spirit that maketh the red man howl. Returning to his camp, he continued the pranks which he began on his way from the city—flourishing his weapon, shooting and threatening. He shot five times through the tent of one of his neighbors, and each bullet came near sending his fellow Lo's squaw into eternity.

Her shawl was literally riddled, yet she managed to escape, but her warrior became wrathful, picked up his gun and shot the brave through the body, just above the heart, the bullet passing out at the back. This put a quietus to his war whoops. The shooting Indian escaped and has not since been heard from. The brave that was shot is lying with a repentant spirit asking for medicine. He says he is 25 snows old, and does not yet, we presume, wish to depart to the happy hunting grounds.

Gone to Rest.—Elsewhere appears the death notice of Elder Thomas Rich, of East Porterville, Morgan County, and first cousin to the late Apostle Charles C. Rich. He was with the latter in the battle of Crooked river; assisted in carrying Col. David Patten from the field and afterwards was arrested in company with P. P. Pratt, Geo. D. Grant, Alex. McRae and others, and imprisoned in Richmond jail, Ray County, Mo. He stood firm and true through all the trials from Far West to the expulsion at Nauvoo.

He was well acquainted with the Prophet Joseph and assisted many times in protecting his person. He came to Utah in 1850, was captain in the militia in the Echo Canon War and figured conspicuously as a scout and ranger under Colonels Lot Smith and O. P. Rockwell, doing efficient service.

His record as a minister of the gospel is none the less bright. He was ordained early to the office of Seventy, and wherever his voice was heard it was for truth. And perhaps no one left his testimony in more positive and earnest terms. In the organization of the Morgan Stake of Zion he was chosen a member of the High Council, a position he honorably filled, being at the time of his death a much respected and honored member of that body. He was a good father and husband and Saint. Peace to his ashes.

Missionary Experience.—Elder Jesse J. Fuller, writing from Venus, Lawrence County, Tennessee, to President Joseph F. Smith, gives a concise account of his experience while laboring in that and adjacent regions as a missionary. His first appointment was on Duck River, Hickman County, in a branch of the Church first organized by Apostle David W. Patten, where Elder Fuller spent nearly two months. He was then appointed to travel in Landerdale County, Alabama, where he remained five months, and was then sent to open up a new field in Lawrence County, Tenn., where he has been located since last April.

Part of the time he had had as a companion Elder James A. Taylor, who had since been appointed to an adjoining field on the north. Elder George J. Woodbury, of St. George, was his fellow-laborer at time of writing, January 20th. Brother W. preached his first sermon about two months before, and could now give as good a discourse on the first principles, for an hour and a half, as anyone need to hear. Two or three meetings a week were being held in private houses, as the schoolhouses were too open and often without stove or fireplace.

They had baptized fifteen within the last two months, and several other people were deeply interested. The prospect was good for several additions within a month or so. A number of those baptized were afflicted and had received benefit from the ordinances of baptism and confirmation. One brother was healed of a fever sore through the healing ordinance administered by five Elders. One woman desired to be administered to for a fever, and was healed, but had not joined the Church. Elder Fuller had seen the power of God manifested many times in healing and in the preaching of young Elders.

THE CAPTURE OF JOHNSON.

A full account of the assault and attempt to rob one J. P. Roeber by Geo. W. Johnson, was given in last evening's News. It has since been learned that Johnson, immediately after the assault, started for Ogden on foot, arrived there yesterday morning. Marshal Fife of that city having been notified of the assault, was on the lookout for Johnson, and captured him directly after his appearance there and sent him back to this city in the custody of a deputy. Johnson claims to have struck Roeber in self defense. He was to have had a hearing to-day at 10 a.m., but the examination was continued until Tuesday next, that the defense may have sufficient time to procure witnesses.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, FEB. 4.

B. Y. Academy.—S. S. Jones' new store, Provo, has been fitted up for the accommodation of the academic department of the Brigham Young Academy. School opened there to-day. It will occupy both ground and upper floors. The building is very suitable. The debris of the burnt building is being cleared away. A liberal subscription is being circulated for the sufferers adjacent to the Academy.

Sandy Notes.—No more cases of diphtheria are reported in Sandy. Day and Sunday Schools are yet closed. If sickness keeps away they will soon open. Mr. Joseph Astill has buried his fourth and last child. It died of Bright's disease, making four deaths in his family in 11 days. Mr. and Mrs. Astill are nearly distracted. They have the sympathy of all.

Pleasant Grove Points.—Bishop John Brown, of Pleasant Grove, who has been sojourning in St. George since last fall, was expected home to-day.

Brother Henson Walker, Jr., returned from Arizona last Thursday. During his four weeks' absence, his wife buried three children, all sweet little girls. The family came up from Arizona to send their children to school.

Brother Parley P. and Sister Elizabeth Driggs have lost two boys by diphtheria and have another little son, Burton by name, down with the same disease. We deeply sympathize with the sorrowing family and trust their hearts will soon be comforted and their remaining anxiety relieved.

Methodist, not "Mormon."—The Idaho Democrat, in referring to a fire which recently destroyed a schoolhouse at Wood River, and which, at the time, was laid at the door of a "Mormon" by certain unprincipled parties, has the following:

"The 'old Mormon' who burned Black's school' on Wood River, turns out to be Silas R. Fowler, a former old and highly respected citizen of this valley, and a howling Methodist. Of course, he didn't fire the schoolhouse; of course, it resulted from carelessness of children, and, of course, the Halley Times took it all back. That was an awful strain, though, to help work up the prejudice for use in the next election. But something has to be done to make up for the absence of those 2,000 illegal railroad voters."

Found Guilty and Fined.—R. S. Hines, the Provo "druggist," was fined $75 last Thursday and sentenced to 25 days imprisonment, by Justice Holdaway, for keeping a gambling resort on his premises. He appealed to the District Court. The affidavit was made by Sterling D. Colton, of Ashley's Fork, who claimed to have visited Hines' place on or about the 21st of last October, for the purpose of finding out something about his money $500, of which he says he was robbed there on a previous occasion. He did not get his money, but he testified to the gambling that was carried on there at the time of his last visit, and on his evidence and that of other witnesses, Hines was brought in guilty with the above result.

Accident on the D. & R. G.—Yesterday the engine of one of the passenger trains running over the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad from Ogden to this city was thrown from the track in Weber County, three miles south of Ogden.

The engineer, Mr. Shea, and the fireman received some bruises and cuts of a slight nature. J. E. Hall, a mail agent, who was on the engine at the time of the accident, was thrown to the ground, receiving severe injuries, from the effects of which he died this morning at the Holy Cross hospital, where he was taken yesterday.

Mr. Hall was a resident of Pueblo, Colorado, and has been in the employ of this road for some time. He was on the engine, it is said, against the wishes of the engineer, who, a short time before the accident, insisted that he get off. While stepping from the engine to the mail car he was suddenly thrown to the ground.

Bishop Moody Dead.—Bishop John M. Moody, of Thatcher, five miles from Smithville, Graham County, Arizona, died on the 27th instant. He was taken ill on Friday the 25th, with a severe pain in his head and back, accompanied by a chill, and on the following Sunday at 9 o'clock a.m. breathed his last.

Brother Moody was a God-fearing man and devoted his life to the salvation of mankind. He was beloved and respected by all who knew him, and it can be said that he kept the whole law of God. His works in the Church are well known by its older members.

The funeral took place at Smithville, in the large hall, at 1 o'clock p.m. on Monday the 28th ult. The people for miles along the river turned out en masse to pay their last respects to their beloved friend. One prominent feature of the procession was the Sunday school of Smithville. The funeral services were conducted by Bishop Joseph Rodgers, of that place. Brother Moody was 62 years of age and spent half of his life in the Church. He leaves a large family to mourn his loss.

Utah Eastern Railway.—At a meeting of the shareholders of the pooled stock in this road, held in the County Courthouse on Saturday afternoon, according to published notice, the stock was well represented. R. T. Burton was called to the chair and John C. Cutler elected secretary.

The chairman briefly stated the object of the meeting, outlining the design of the enterprise, which was intended for the benefit of the people, and not for speculative purposes. Speeches were made by a number of gentlemen present, among whom were Messrs. Winder, Gilchrist, Raleigh, Armstrong, Dinwoodey and others. The matter having been thoroughly discussed it was decided that the chair appoint a committee to investigate the condition of the Utah Eastern Railroad as to how far it has been operated in the interest of the minority stockholders, and report their conclusions after a thorough investigation at an adjourned meeting to be held at the Fireman's Hall on Saturday, February 9th, at 2 p.m. The chair appointed as said committee the following gentlemen: Messrs. Winder, Gilchrist, Raleigh, Groesbeck, Armstrong and Cutler. It is requested that all the shareholders will be present at the adjourned meeting.

Assembly Hall Fire.—A few minutes before 5 o'clock on Saturday evening, an alarm of fire was given and a crowd gathered at the Assembly Hall, following in the wake of the firemen who hastened to the scene, where it was discovered that one of the chimneys of the edifice, or rather the soot inside of it, was on fire. The water was soon upon the roof, and in a short time the flames, which were not very fierce, were extinguished.

The only damage inflicted was in the removal of the cap of the chimney, to admit the freer passage of water into the interior, and some of the waste fluid penetrating under the shingles of the roof, and leaving a slight stain on the ceiling of the Hall.

It has been said that the fire was caused by a defective flue. This is a mistake. The flues of the building are perfect and entirely safe. A galvanized iron pipe runs the whole length of the stone column in which the chimney is located, and is securely lined the whole distance with granite, brick and solid masonry. There is no contact with wood in any way. The fire was simply caused by the soot catching from the furnace below, and a very little water was needed to put it out. Still the labors of the firemen were very timely, for if it had continued unchecked, the fire might have been communicated to the roof by falling sparks and great damage have been the result.

Centennial Birthday Party.—On the 22d of January, 1884, by invitation from the sons, the posterity of Father James Allred, met in the Meeting house, at Spring City, to celebrate the day on which he would have been one hundred years old. At 10 a.m. the meeting was called to order by Patriarch Wm. H. Allred, the oldest son. Singing by the choir preceded and followed prayer by R. W. Allred, Sr.

A brief historic account of their father's life, prepared by his sons, was read by J. F. Allred, followed by five-minute speeches from four of the sons and eight of the grandsons. Appropriate remarks were made by Sister M. A. P. Hyde, Counselors John Frantzen and Lauretz Larsen, and Bishop R. N. and J. A. Allred.

At 1.30 p.m., two tables running the entire length of the Meeting house and another half the length, were spread with earthly bounties, and around them were seated at two different times about 225 persons. It was one of the most pleasant affairs ever witnessed in the place. Peace, love, union and the spirit of the Gospel prevailed. A number of sleighs were busy for hours gathering and feasting the poor and aged.

At 6 p.m. the relatives and friends joined in the dance, the old at the hall and the children at W. P. Allred's. The centennial birthday of Father Allred, like himself, will long be remembered. His posterity is as follows: 12 children, 105 grandchildren, 464 great-grandchildren and 101 of the fourth generation, in all 682 souls.

Educational Association.—The Salt Lake Educational Association met in the Thirteenth District schoolhouse on Saturday at 11 a.m., with President Morgan in the chair. After the usual introductory exercises, Mr. A. S. Geddes favored the association with a song, which was rendered in an impressive and lively manner and was well worthy of applause.

Mr. Geddes continued his subject of how reading should be taught, saying that pupils should be taught to breathe properly; would teach them the different qualities of voice, and show by example how pieces should be read.

Mr. Thos. F. Howells explained in a few words how he thought notation and numeration, addition and subtraction should be taught; commenced by instructing pupils first in the concrete and gradually proceeding to the abstract.

In language lessons in primary schools, Miss Stevenson taught the little pupils to use new words by giving object lessons and thus getting them to talk and express their ideas.

On physical geography, Mr. D. R. Allen taught the pupils the way wind was produced and how the air currents were formed; also how rain, snow and hail are produced.

The critic, Mr. Orson Howard, then reviewed at some length the proceedings of the meetings, carefully criticizing the members and bestowing praise where needed.

Supt. Morgan stated that arrangements had been made at half fare rates for the teachers to go to Ogden and visit the schools there, and next Thursday was the day appointed to go to the Junction City.

Association then adjourned for two weeks, same time and place.

Yes we have a heavy fog every morning—in a horn.

SIMPLY WONDERFUL.

The cures that are being made in nearly all chronic diseases, by a new vitalizing treatment which is taken by inhalation and which acts directly on the weakened nerve centres and vital organs, restoring them to the normal activities which had been lost are simply wonderful. If you are in need of such a treatment, write to Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 Girard Street, Philadelphia, for such documents and reports of cases as will enable you to judge for yourself whether it will be of any use in your particular case.

All orders for the Compound Oxygen Home Treatment directed to H. E. Matthews, 606 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, will be filled on the same terms as if sent directly to us in Philadelphia.
