

of Salt Lake City or any place south of this point, to play a match game with a picked eleven of the Ogden club and Cache and Summit Counties. The 15th of June is named as the time and Ogden the place for the proposed match.

More Masons.—Brother Edward Brain informs us that he is still deficient of about half a dozen of the compliment of masons needed to work on the New Tabernacle. He desires us to note this fact, in the hope that the requisite number will be sent along from the Wards of the Stake. If he can get the required help in good time, he anticipates being able to complete the walls by the end of the present month.

Obsequies.—The funeral services of Brother John Kamalo, held in the 19th Ward meeting-house, were conducted by Bishop R. V. Morris. A large assemblage was present.

Elder Joseph F. Smith delivered an instructive and appropriate address, speaking both in the English and Hawaiian language. Elders Mitchell, Richards, Stringham and Lambert also spoke, each bearing witness to the faithfulness and zeal of the deceased to the cause of truth. He leaves a wife and child.

Accident.—The Junction states that the Union Pacific work train, when backing to Wasatch for water, ran against a hand car, with five men on it. The car was thrown violently from the track. Four of the men escaped with little or no injury, but Mr. James King, the section foreman, was instantly killed.

The same paper gives details of an accident to Mrs. Hulda Kimble, while crossing Shanghai Bridge, Ogden Cañon, last Tuesday. She was struck on the head with a plank, inflicting a gash which extended from the upper part of the forehead to midway between the left ear and the corner of the eye.

Brass Band.—The Tenth Ward Brass Band is undergoing a thorough re-organization and its members intend, by diligent study and regular practice, to render themselves thoroughly efficient that the old reputation of this band may be maintained, and that it may be worthy of the pride and support of the city. Every good band should have a distinctive dress, and the Tenth Ward organization is in need of assistance to obtain a suitable uniform. The band will therefore serenade leading citizens and endeavor to raise a subscription for this purpose, in which we hope "the boys" will succeed, as well as in musical progress. They have done much gratuitous public service and we shall be pleased to see them encouraged.

Legal Proceedings.—Yesterday a young couple were united in matrimony. As soon, however, as the nuptial knot was tied a somewhat unusual event transpired, which, under ordinary circumstances, might have thrown a damper upon the subsequent festivities. It appears that the Sheriff had an attachment and not only took possession of the house, goods, chattels, etc., but also of the bride.

The happy bridegroom was Mr. John Sheriff, and the bride Miss Sarah J. L. Sansom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sansom, of the 20th Ward. The ceremony was performed by Counselor D. H. Wells.

The friends of the happy couple spent a pleasant, social time, at the residence of the bride's parents, last night.

Fencing.—Twisted, barbed wire, for fencing, is growing rapidly in favor in this part of the country. The best class of this material has two qualities, which recommend it to farmers—its comparative cheapness and its undoubted efficacy in preventing the encroachments of stock. A cow that once makes an attempt to break through that kind of a barrier, and gets a taste of its qualities of penetration invariably puts a respectful distance between the fence and herself, in future.

It is but justice to the farmers to state that there are several kinds of barbed fencing wire, and some of it is comparatively of but little use. The best we have seen is the Glidden barbed steel wire. It throws all the other qualities that we have seen into the shade, being the most durable and the barbs being most likely to excite the organs of caution in stock that are inclined to trespass.

Death of a Missionary Abroad.—We make the following extract from the Millennial Star, of April 22nd:

"It is with extreme sorrow that we have to record the death of a fellow laborer in the Mission field—Elder E. W. Street, who arrived in England on the 22nd of June last, and traveled since in the London Conference, after a lingering sickness, died at 5.15 p. m. on Friday, April 12th, at Breachwood Green Heath, and was buried at the same place on Monday, April 15th, at 2.30 p. m. Brother Street was but 26 years of age, and seemingly might have had a long life of usefulness before him in connection with the gospel to which he was ardently attached, but his earthly work is done, and while we mourn and sympathize with his parents, who will look in vain for his return, we feel assured that they will take satisfaction in the conclusion, that no death is more glorious, and no reward more sure, than that which comes to those who in the path of duty find alike their cross and crown."

Elder Street was from Springville, Utah County. A letter from Elder John H. Miles, published in the same number of the Star, gives details of the illness that carried him off. He received every attention during his sickness that brotherly and sisterly kindness could suggest.

Probable Suicide.—The relatives and friends of Mrs. George W. Crockwell have been in a state of great anxiety since Wednesday afternoon. At that time she left her home, in the 13th Ward, and, up till this morning, had not been seen nor heard of. At the time she left her husband was absent, and, on his return, he found a note she had left for him, in which she addressed him in endearing terms, and expressed her determination to commit self destruction.

She had been similarly affected on two separate occasions, when she was in the same condition as now, being enclente.

Her husband and relatives were in hopes that she would be found alive without it being necessary to give the matter publicity, but since the time of her disappearance they have searched for her in vain. An anonymous notice was published in yesterday's News, in the hope that it would meet her eye and induce her to return to her home.

She is about 25 years old, rather low built, dark complexioned, and has brown eyes. At the time she left she had on a gray plaid polonaise, trimmed with ball fringe; a light, striped shawl; black straw hat and blue veil.

Any person knowing anything about the missing lady, will confer a favor upon the relatives by leaving word at the City Hall, or with Mr. James Crockwell.

We learned this afternoon that search for Mrs. Crockwell has been constantly kept up to-day, but up to the time of our going to press no tidings had been obtained concerning her.

Hunting a Still.—This morning we received a call from David M. Duncanson. He carried with him a piece of rusty gaspipe. It was straight, with the exception of being bent at each end. He stated that that was a piece of the contrivance that U. S. Inspector Gavitt and U. S. Assessor and Collector Hollister had seized and carried away from his premises as a whiskey still.

This so-called still, he assured us, was an old tin can with a piece of old pipe attached to it, which he bought about three years since, and which he had used for melting grease for soap-making purposes. At the time this formidable machine was seized by those formidable officers it emitted a greasy effluvia that told strongly that it was a soap factory.

Mr. Duncanson called upon Messrs. Gavitt and Hollister for the "old tin can," according to agreement, but Mr. O. H. H. informed him that he was going to smash it up. Yet Mr. Duncanson says, "Mon a never made a drop o' whiskey in ma life."

Now if that soap machine is not a whiskey still, Mr. Hollister has as much right to seize upon and savagely smash a peaceable citizen's wash tub as break that up. On the other hand, if it be admitted that that soap machine is a whiskey producing institution, and that the spirituous article has been made by it, a very unlikely thing, it speaks but illy for the efficiency of Mr. Hollister, for an officer to have to come on here from a distance to make such a discovery in his district.

The seizure of Mr. Duncanson's soap kettle is about on a par, in point of dignity, with the feat of a number of small boys tying a tin pan to the tail of an unfortunate canine and sending it on a run down the street. It raises a similar kind of a breeze.

"Fun is fun, but let the man have his kettle," or put it in the Museum, labelled with the names of the discoverers.

FROM SATURDAY'S DAILY, MAY 11.

Presented.—Mr. E. Brain has presented to the Museum a handsome slab of red sandstone, from St. George, of the same kind as was used in erecting the Temple at that place.

Found.—We are happy to say that just before our going to press, Mr. Crockwell found his wife, safe and sound, at the residence of Bishop L. D. Young, in the 18th Ward.

That Soap Can.—To-day a gentleman handed in the following in reference to the seizure and probable demolition of Mr. Duncanson's saponaceous kettle. How he can thus treat a matter of so manifestly stupendous importance to the great Republic of the United States may, to some people, appear somewhat seditious:

"The seizure of Mr. Duncanson's soap can and its threatened destruction by Mr. Hollister, as described in yesterday's News, is as rich as the celebrated Scottish decision:

"'Prisoner at the bar, you are found not guilty. But remember, the eyes of this court are upon you, the eyes of your country are upon you, and the eyes of your God and Capt. Stewart, of the police. You are fined half-a-crown; and the Lord have mercy on your soul.'"

District Court.—Saturday, May 11, morning.

Mary Admire vs. R. T. Burton; plaintiffs allowed 20 days to prepare and file statement on motion for a new trial, and stay of proceedings on execution, in the mean time allowed.

Ogden City vs. W. H. Peterson; plaintiff's motion to strike out affidavit herein, and affirmance of judgement of court below and for proceeding thereon; overruled; also plaintiff's motion to dismiss appeal.

J. C. Hamilton vs. Frank Chambers; order dismissing appeal, with proceedings to issue.

M. T. Gisborn vs. I. S. Watterman et al; summons withdrawn for further service.

Jno. B. Meredith vs. A. L. Case et al; default and judgment against defendants, as prayed for; clerk to compute.

The Circus.—On Saturday the 18th inst. Forepaugh's great show with its interesting menagerie, equestrian troupe, performing elephants, etc., will re-appear in this city with new attractions and old favorites. The following notice of the show we clip from the Alta California:

"The great success that has attended Forepaugh's World's Great Show for the past week is due alone to the merits of the exhibition. The combination is certainly the most complete and popular exhibition that has ever visited our city. Although the tents are larger than ever used here before, they cannot contain the masses that flock to witness the performances, both afternoon and evening. The zoological department receives great attention on account of its very good collection of rare and curiously formed and named animals. Although this department alone is worth the price of admission, there is also a first-class ring performance. The graceful and daring bare-back riding, the gymnastic feats, the leaping over six elephants, the witticisms of the clowns—all combining to make a complete show. The grand Mardi-Gras triumphal street pageant forms one of the grandest sights ever seen in the public streets of San Francisco. Its monster Golden Chariot of the World looming up like a mountain of gold in the sunlight, together with the Roman War Chariots, Helmeted Horsemen clad in the style of the Henrys of England; the lordly herd of Elephants and lovely train of statuary, Golden Image, Cages, Dens, etc., forming a panoramic view of over one mile in length. We commend the great Forepaugh to the public as the best show that has ever visited the Pacific coast.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, MAY 13.

Base Ball.—A couple of match games were played at Sandy on Saturday.

The first, between the Red Stockings, of this city, and the Sandy club, resulted in a score of 16 to 3, the "Reds" being the victors.

The second was between the Red Stockings and the Draperville club, the former being again the winners. The score was 34 to 12.

Amputation—Chickens.—At Ogden, the other day, Dr. P. L. Anderson amputated a couple of fingers of the hand of an eighteen-months old son of Mr. George A. Black, of Morgan City. The operation was rendered necessary by an injury received accidentally from an axe in the hands of the brother of the patient.

Chickens are dying off in large numbers in places adjacent to Ogden, from an affection similar to cholera.

We learn the foregoing from the Junction.

Dedication.—Yesterday morning, dedicatory services were held in the 21st Ward New Meeting House. President John Taylor and Elders D. O. Calder, Jos. E. Taylor, L. W. Hardy and R. T. Burton, were present and took part in the proceedings.

Bishop Andrew Burt stated that the 21st Ward was organized on the 5th of July, 1877; the ground for this meeting house was broken on the 18th of July, 1877, and the first meeting held therein on the 14th of October following. It was then only partially finished and partially paid for, but now it was entirely completed and sufficient means on hand to pay every cent of indebtedness.

The dedicatory prayer was offered by President John Taylor.

Remarks were made by Elders D. O. Calder, L. W. Hardy, Joseph E. Taylor and R. T. Burton, interspersed with singing by Brother W. D. Owen and by the Sunday School children under the direction of Brother T. McIntyre.

President Taylor complimented the members of the 21st Ward on their united efforts in so promptly erecting such a beautiful meeting house. He made some very interesting remarks on the great work performed by the united action of this people, and contrasted our position to-day with that of the children of Israel, when they were driven from the land of Egypt. He reminded the Saints of their continual dependence upon God under all circumstances, and said if the Saints could thoroughly learn this lesson and practice it, it would be more valuable to them than all the riches they could possess.

The house was crowded, and all present appeared deeply impressed with the exercises. The benediction was pronounced by Elder R. T. Burton.

Seventeenth Ward Hall.—Last Thursday evening the ladies of the Seventeenth Ward gave a grand ball in their new Assembly Rooms, for the purpose of raising means to finish the interior of the building. The affair was successful, about $100 being the proceeds of the party, including the sale of refreshments. The ball was given in the upper room, and was a very enjoyable affair, and a kitchen being improvised in the lower hall, the ladies provided refreshments in good style and of ample quantity. The committee of arrangements are deserving of great credit for their labors. The party concluded at a little after one o'clock in the morning.

The building is a very fine brick edifice of two stories, 36 x 80 feet, and 35 feet high. The upper room is finished, the lower story yet incomplete. The stairways lead from each side of the entrance to a hall or landing above, and folding doors open into a handsome room the full length and width of the building, and with a clear height of 17 feet. On either side of the doorway is a small neat room, one used for a Ward library, and the other for the Sunday School library. At the south end of the room is a neat and handsome stand. The walls are pure white and smoothly finished, and a wainscoting six feet high surrounds the whole room. The ceiling has three splendid centre pieces, from each of which a twelve-lamp-ed ornamental chandelier depends. The cornice is the best piece of work of the kind in the city; it is massive, of tasteful design and most excellent execution. There are five windows on each side of the room, each containing eight 15 x 25 inch lights, and ornamented with an elegant chocolate and gilt lambrequin. Between the windows and at the ends of the hall are neatly framed fancy mottoes. The woodwork is all grained with a light oak pattern, and varnished. The carpenter work was done by Mr. George Romney, the plastering by Mr. A. J. Taysum, and the painting by Mr. Joseph Pitt; the window ornaments were furnished by Mr. H. Dinwoodey, the chandeliers by Mr. David James, and the illuminated mottoes by Mr. James Dwyer.

The trustees—Messrs. James Dwyer and Amos Howe, are deserving of great credit for the manner in which they have completed this part of the building, and they intend to push the work until the lower hall is finished. When the work is concluded the building will be the finest of the kind in the city and will be used, the lower hall for primary and intermediate departments, and the upper room for a high school. We understand that Prof. O. H. Riggs will take charge of the institution; he will have one of the handsomest school edifices in the Territory.

A grand concert will be given in the upper room on Thursday evening, which is expected to be a very fine affair. The proceeds will be devoted to assisting in the completion of the lower part of the building.

Correspondence.

A Watch Swindle.

TOOELE CITY, Utah.

Editors Deseret News:

If you deem it wisdom, will you please insert in your paper the following in regard to a swindler we had in our midst the past few months, by the name of Christensen, a pretended watch fixer, who came here professing to be a good Latter-day Saint. He won the confidence of some of the people and got a good many watches and clocks to clean and all went well with him till a short time since, when he put off to some part known only to himself and wife, and took with him some good watches and other things that did not belong to him.

I have just learned that he has started traveling south, and as he may have his wife along with him he will be most likely to stop at some of the settlements and impose too much on their good nature.

Your brother,
JOHN DUNN.

Never Taken in Vain.

There is no variety of disease affecting the throat or lungs in which HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR will not afford immediate relief, or which it will not eventually conquer. From simple hoarseness up to the hard ringing cough, oppression on the chest, and expectoration of mucus, which denote the near approach or actual presence of consumption, it is the one unerring remedy. It does not merely mitigate or allay, it cures. There is no stage of pulmonary disease in which it is not eminently useful.
